Higher Income Would Hike Tax Cut Under Bill

Might Run As Much As $6,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—The staff of tax specialists employed by Congress estimated today that the 1948 tax cut under the Republican - backed Knutson bill might run as high as $6,500,000,000 instead of the $5,600,000,000 previously estimated.

Colin F. Stam, head of the staff, laid this estimate before the House Ways and Means Committee. He explained that the revision is due to a steady increase in the personal incomes of the 50,000,000-plus income tax payers.

GOP leaders set a goal for a slash of "at least $3,000,000,000" in President Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget for fiscal 1949, to make room for the Republican tax reduction and a sizable payment on the nation's debt.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, announced after a meeting of the Senate - House Republican high command that the leaders have decided to call upon the Joint Budget Committee "as promptly as possible" to trim down the budget and clap a ceiling on federal spending.

House Republicans have abandoned their January deadline for House passage of the Knutson tax bill, Martin announced. Although debate will begin next week, the vote probably will occur Monday, February 2.

Martin said he hopes that the ceiling on federal spending, required each year under the Congressional Reorganization Act, can be fixed before the House votes on the tax bill, but he added that House action on the tax bill will not be conditioned on a prior report of the budget group.

Stam estimated for the Ways and Means Committee that personal incomes may reach $209,000,000,000 this year and presented figures tending to show that Mr. Truman in his budget message to Congress underestimated government revenues for the next two years by about $4,000,000,000.

He emphasized that while increased incomes would mean larger potential tax reductions, they also would add up to larger revenues.

On the budget-cutting question, Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee, went beyond Martin's figure. Taber said that when he gets through with the President's budget there will be money in the Treasury to reduce the debt by $5,000,000,000 after cutting taxes under the Knutson bill.

Death Toll In Palestine Warfare Reaches 931

JERUSALEM, Jan 21. (AP)—Arab snipers wounded two Jews in a renewal of attacks today on the Jewish settlement of Yehiam near the Lebanese frontier, military sources said, but there was little major activity elsewhere in Palestine's Jewish-Arab warfare.

Three Jews and five Arabs, including two women, were killed during the day in scattered incidents over the country. The unofficial death count rose to 931 since the November 29 United Nations decision on partition of Palestine.

Citrus Prices Rise

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Florida orange and grapefruit prices rose as much as $1 a box today in the wholesale market here in anticipation of a possible shortage during the proposed seven-day embargo on citrus fruit shipments from that state.

The Florida Citrus Commission Monday announced that all shipments of fresh citrus would be banned for seven days beginning at midnight Thursday, to keep frost damaged fruit from reaching northern markets.

Won't Open Port To Jewish Immigration

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 21—(AP)—Britain tonight rejected the recommendation of the United Nations Assembly for opening a major port in Palestine by February 1 to permit the beginning of large-scale Jewish immigration.

Britain's refusal to comply with this key provision of the Palestine partition plan was placed before a secret meeting of the United Nations Palestine Partition Commission by Sir Alexander Cadogan.

The British Declaration thus made it clear that the commission would be unable to implement the first step in the partitioning of the Holy Land and would be compelled to report its failure to the Security Council.

Won't Increase Quota

Cadogan, replying to four specific questions submitted by the five-member commission, also declared Britain had no intention of increasing the present immigration quota of 1,500 a month between now and termination of the British mandate now scheduled for May 15 "or earlier."

Cadogan declared the British would continue their efforts to intercept uncertified immigrants as long as the Palestine mandate was in effect. At the same time he said the question of admitting such immigrants now detained on Cyprus was one which the British wished to negotiate with the Palestine commission.

In explaining Britain's refusal to comply with the United Nations recommendation to evacuate a major port by February 7, Cadogan said that if there was an uncontrolled influx of immigrants into the Holy Land it would jeopardize an already delicate situation, would create further difficulties and endanger general security in Palestine.

No Obligation Imposed

Cadogan pointed out and the commission agreed that the terms of the Assembly's resolution imposed no obligation on either Britain or the commission. He said it asked Britain to use her best endeavors to open a port by February 1 and added that Britain had done this.

Cadogan, after giving his answers on the immigration question, gave the commission a brief resume of the Security situation in Palestine. He gave the following casualty figures up to January 18 in total killed and wounded: Arabs 1,222, Jews 966, British 153 and others 27.

Agreed To Shut U.S. And Britain Out Of Europe

Disclosure Is Major Diplomatic Stroke

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall threw the book at Soviet Russia tonight—a massive array of captured Nazi documents baring details of the partnership between Russia's present leaders and Hitler's Reich for the division of Eastern Europe.

With Marshall's sanction, the State Department published the entire record of 260 formerly secret records disclosing that Russia:

1—Backed Germany heavily in her war against the West, furnishing supplies by the hundred thousand tons, striving to the last for "friendship" with Germany and aiding the Nazi campaign to keep Turkey neutral.

2—Agreed with Adolf Hitler that the United States, as well as Britain, should be shut out of Europe, Asia and Africa.

3—Lost Hitler as an ally, and paved the way for Germany's invasion of Russia, by demanding among other things a military base "within range of the Bosporus and the Dardanelles" and assurance that the oil-rich area "south of Batum and Baku in the general direction of the Persian Gulf be recognized as the center of the aspirations of the Soviet Union."

Reds Blocked Release At Trials

Starting with an official report of the first Soviet bid for closer ties with the Nazis, months before World War Two, the book embodied evidence whose release Russia blocked at the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

Included in the 362-page volume were secret agreements, signed by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, to partition Poland and slice Eastern Europe into Russian and Nazi spheres of control. The final entry dealt with Hitler's invasion of Russia.

The State Department said the documents were all from the official archives of the Nazi Foreign Office, were captured by American and British troops and were published now "to complete the record."

While there was no reference to the present state of United States-Russian relations, the circumstances nevertheless gave the sudden release the effect of a major diplomatic stroke.

Copies of the special compilation, dealing entirely with Nazi-Soviet relations between 1939 and 1941, were made public on such short notice that Moscow had scant opportunity for a quick counter-stroke of propaganda.

The first volumes of a formal history of Nazi diplomacy, in preparation by American, British and French scholars, are not due for publication for months.

Signed By Von Ribbentrop

The first document records a proposal for "better and better" relations between Moscow and Berlin—advanced April 17, 1939, by the Russian ambassador to the Reich. This was at a time when Britain and France were seeking to enlist Russia in a collective security pact to head off Nazi aggression.

Self-Supporting Japan As Soon As Possible U.S. Aim

Funds For Purpose Will Be Asked Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States government today pointed its Japanese occupation policy toward making Japan self-supporting "at the earliest possible time" and disclosed to other Allied powers that funds for that purpose will shortly be asked of Congress.

The burden of maintaining Japan's civilian economy at a cost of around $350,000,000 a year, a policy statement declared, must be removed from the American taxpayers. And Japan must be enabled "to make its proper contribution to the economic rehabilitation" of the world, the United States informed the Far Eastern Commission.

The pronouncement appeared generally to bring American policy toward Japan into line with United States aims for Western Germany where also the announced objectives are to make the people self-supporting and able to contribute to the economic recovery of other nations.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, American member of the Far Eastern Commission, presented the policy statement at today's commission meeting to provide basic understanding on the part of the other powers of the Army's request to Congress for funds to finance restoration of "peaceful" industries in Japan.

Thus far United States policy has been to spend minimum funds in Japan to prevent "disease and unrest." The objective which McCoy described, however, also would entail money "for the procurement of such imports as industrial raw materials and spare parts."

McCoy said Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration has made "exceptional progress x x x in establishing political and economic institutions which will permit the development of a democratic and peaceful Japan capable of assuming the responsibilities of a member of the community of nations."

"However," he told the 11-nation FEC, "the establishment of a self-supporting economy in Japan, without which the achievements of the occupation cannot be consolidated, has not yet been accomplished."

Girl Piano Prodigy Blames Home Life For Running Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Jacqueline Horner, piano prodigy who broke away from her home ties in rebellion against what she described as an inhibited, unnatural life in which she was exhibited "like an animal" was found here today after an eight-day search and promptly declared she would run away again if returned to her mother.

A painstaking hunt, which encompassed various tawdry sidestreet bars and transient hotels, finally led the police to a hotel room where the girl, who admittedly has been seeing life as she never saw it before — and enjoying her experience—was found with Wallace Wells, a 19-year-old sailor off the Navy tanker Cimarron. Jacqueline and the sailor emphatically told police and newsmen they had done nothing wrong or improper.

District Attrney Edmund B. Brown didn't see things quite in that light, however. He charged Wells with contributing to the deliquency of a minor. And a similar charge was filed against Mrs. Gloria Jean Costello Miles, a casual acquaintance of Jacqueline's, who, police say, taught the girl "bar girl" tricks, such as how to make sailor pickups.

Brown said he would investigate five hotels in which Jacqueline had stayed here since her arrival. He said she stayed with Wells at two and with Mrs. Miles at three.

Meat Rationing Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Special Senate hearings on a "get ready" meat rationing bill today were scheduled to open January 29, but chances of congressional action appeared remote since no similar sessions are planned in the House "for a long, long time."

After hearing an official of a housewives organization declare that "the people are angry and bitter" over high meat prices, Chairman Tobey (R-N.H.), of the Senate Banking Committee, named a group to conduct the three-day hearings.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) was made chairman of the subcommittee. He is the author of legislation which would authorize the Agriculture Department to prepare for meat rationing, even to printing ration books, but subject to congressional veto action.

In the House where a companion measure has been introduced by Rep. Javits (R-N.Y.), there was little inclination to grant the administration such powers, even on a stand-by basis.

Congressional advocates of the voluntary method of combatting the rising cost of living meanwhile received support from former President Herbert Hoover.

In a statement sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Hoover declared "it is an illusion that scarcity, and thus increasing inflation, can be more than temporarily retarded by compulsory fixing of wages, prices and rationing. x x x Any such course sets up chain reactions which ultimately decrease production and defeat their very purpose."

Cold Air Mass Fanning Out Over Eastern Area

[By The Associated Press]

A new cold air mass started fanning out over much of the eastern half of the country Wednesday as California fruit growers burned smudge pots for the second successive day to protect their crops.

Widespread snow flurries pelted much of the Midwest in advance of the change to colder weather.

Lewis Has No Political Aspirations, Jones Says

AKRON, O., Jan. 21. (AP)—A United Mine Workers official represented John L. Lewis today as having no desire to run for Vice President on a ticket with Henry Wallace and called the third party a "monumental blunder."

These views were contained in a letter written by John T. Jones, director of labor's Non-Partisan League, a political arm of the UMW.

It was sent in answer to a query by Burr McCloskey, head of the United Labor Party, a small political group here, asking whether Lewis would consider such a move.

"This is to advise you that Mr. Lewis has no political aspirations or ambitions," Jones wrote.

"The creation of this ticket for 1948, led by Mr. Wallace, is a monumental blunder and in my considered opinion can only result in the election of more reactionary members of Congress."

Admits Strangling Baby

ST. CHARLES, Mo., Jan. 21. (AP)—Miss Mabel Becker, 30-year-old waitress employed in the dining hall of Lindenwood College here, was charged with first degree murder today after she admitted in an oral statement, Sheriff Lester Blackmeyer said, that she strangled her new-born baby.

Illinois Munitions Blast Rocks Wide Area; 4 Die In Calif. Quarry Explosion

Detonation Wipes Out Blasting Crew

COLTON, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—An entire blasting crew of four men perished instantly today in a powder explosion in the California Portland Cement Company's quarry near here.

The blast, which shattered windows in the Colton Union High School several blocks away and many in the business and residential sections, was heard in surrounding communities up to 10 miles distant and broke a bank's huge plate glass window in downtown San Bernardino, five miles away.

The dead, all of Riverside, were Omar Smith, 37; Charles Martinez, 33; Pascual Martinez, 20, and Jerry Joseph Hairston, 23.

This was Hairston's first day on the job and the explosion occurred only a short time before the four were due off duty.

The quartet was alone at the time. Foreman Frank Wilson had left them only a short time before to make out their pay time cards. The company's main plant, located 200 yards down a hillside from the blast, which occurred on the ground's surface, suffered only a few broken windows.

"The explosion is completely unaccounted for," John B. Lonergan, attorney for the company, said after an inspection of the scene, where the men were filling drilled holes with explosives for blasting.

"It was a blast of powder in a standard and time-tested loading device constructed of non-sparking metals."

Numerous ambulances were dispatched to the scene but no injuries were reported.

Telephone trunk lines connecting this railroad and industrial city of about 10,000 population, located 55 miles east of Los Angeles, were jammed for hours with calls.

Worthless Jap $5 Bill Is Used To Catch Thief

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 21 (AP)—A worthless Japanese $5 bill was used today in a clever ruse to apprehend an alleged robber of a March of Dimes box in a downtown tavern, police reported.

Judge Frank P. Anzellotti sentenced Roy Rapine, 51, to 30 days in county jail after he was apprehended by means of a trap set by Mrs. Peter Sirbu.

Mrs. Sirbu said she put the worthless Jap money in the polio fund box and then attached a thread to the box and to a bell. When the box was snatched, the bell rang and Mrs. Sirbu obtained a description of the fugitive as he fled the cafe.

Blowup Apparently Causes No Casualties

SAVANNA, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP) — An ammunition magazine blew up tonight at the Savanna ordnance plant sending an earthquake-like roar through three states in a 100-mile radius, but apparently caused no casualties.

Army officials said the blast was confined to an isolated dump at the plant, which is located 10 miles north of here on the Mississippi River.

They added that the explosion resulted when a 105-millimeter shell exploded and fired other ammunition stored in the dump.

The impact blew out most of the windows in Savanna, but there were no other reports of damage in the area. Traveling down the river, it shattered at least one plate glass window in downtown Moline, 50 miles to the south. At Peoria, 100 miles southeastward, windows were rattled.

"Ball Of Fire" Seen

However, at Sabula, Iowa, just across the river from Savanna, the blast did little, if any, damage.

One eyewitness there said he saw "a huge ball of fire" followed by a "thunderous" blast.

The blast was felt throughout Southern Wisconsin, Northwest Illinois and Eastern Iowa causing widespread reports of earth tremors.

In Chicago, Rev. Alphonse Schmidt, S. J., Loyola University seismologist, said his seismograph recorded a "slight disturbance" at 8:55:30 P. M. (CST).

The blast was felt at approximately the same time in Rockford, Kewanne, Neponset, Mt. Caroll, Sterling, Peoria, Moline, Rock Island in Illinois, and Davenport, Clinton and Iowa City, in Iowa.

It also was felt in western and northwestern suburbs of Chicago, 100 miles to the east.

Windows Rattle In Peoria

In Peoria, 100 miles southeastward, the impact shook windows in the weather bureau's office in the municipal airport.

At Sterling state police headquarters, Fay Dancey, a clerk, reported he ran outside to check the station's 300-foot radio tower after hearing "a

Hoover Would Cut ERP Outlay, Avoid Four-Year Pledge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today urged Congress not to commit America—even "morally"—to a four-year European recovery plan and advised a paring down of the $6,800,000,000 outlay proposed for the first 15 months.

The former president, in a statement sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, endorsed foreign aid "to the full extent which does not weaken our own economy and thus defeat all world recovery."

He recommended that it be run by a bi-partisan commission and suggested that up to $3,000,000,000 in food, coal, fertilizers and cotton be plainly labeled as "gifts" because unsecured loans "will not and cannot be repaid."

Questions Economic Result

But Hoover said the cost of the first 15 months of overseas aid will amount to a "burden of $9,000,000,000" when other relief is added to President Truman's starting request for the Marshall Plan.

He questioned whether the nation, already beset by inflation and shortages, can stand such a further strain without plunging into a depression. "The only safe course is for us not to over-export," he said.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder disagreed. He told the House Foreign Affairs Committee the plan can be fulfilled without "serious reaction" on the economy.

And Snyder gave notice that extra funds to brace the value of European currencies in the form of loans to provide monetary reserves, may be asked "possibly" this year and "probably" next.

Acheson Warns Against Cut

A warning that any drastic cut in the White House program would "merely prolong the illness, the cost and the danger" came simultaneously from Dean Acheson, former Undersecretary of State, in a speech at Atlantic City.

Hoover made a six-point offering of "constructive modifications and more safeguards." His 3,000-word statement was addressed to Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) for entry in the record of the Senate body's hearing on the long-range, 16-nation recovery program.

Stalin Hears Red Official Flay U. S. "Imperialism"

MOSCOW, Jan. 21. (AP)—Mikhail A. Suslov, chief of the propaganda administration of the Communist Party, attacked what he called United States "imperialism" at a Lenin memorial meeting tonight attended by Prime Minister Stalin and other high government and party officials.

Today was the 24th anniversary of Nikolai Lenin, the Soviet Union's founder.

Suslov quoted from Lenin to show, he said, that the United States and Great Britain "despite greater possibilities that elsewhere for democratic development," were following the path of imperialist Germany and might come to the same fate even more quickly.

Report Yugoslavia Has Weapon More Destructive Than A-Bomb Discounted

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Italian newspaper La Voce in Trieste published today a purported speech by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia in which he was quoted as saying war with Britain and the United States was perhaps "a question of several weeks" and that Yugoslavia had a weapon more destructive than the atomic bomb.

Pierre S. C. Dumas, assistant editor of the pro-De Gaulle newspaper, Dissidence 40, which published the same purported speech on December 15, said today, however, that he was convinced the report was a fabrication.

Dumas said the story was first printed in Vaterland at Lucerne, Switzerland, on November 19, the day after Tito was supposed to have made the speech at Zagreb, and was reprinted by Dissidence 40 in good faith. Since then, he added, he had received reports from Balkan correspondents which convinced him despite his anti-Communist feelings, that the alleged speech was never made.

La Voce in Trieste said it had had the text of the purported speech for a month but delayed publication until convinced it was authentic and upon learning it had been published in Dissidence 40.

Dissidence 40's text quoted Tito as telling a secret gathering of the Yugoslyav Communist Party executive that it was necessary to "decide all indispensable questions which will permit the definite annihilation of the reaction" and that time was short.

The published text said he threatened to "surprise the reaction" and contained these other quotations:

"We have a very strong army, well organized, that we don't nourish with chocolate and cake" and which is ready to "chase the divisions of the gangsters who are concentrated in Italy and Austria."

"We are ready to sink their fleet in the Adriatic."

25 Persons Leap To Safety In Snowbank When Airliner Catches Fire After Landing

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Twenty-five persons jumped to safety in a snowbank today to escape flames sweeping through a big Eastern Airlines passenger plane when fire broke out only seconds after the big ship nosed into the snow in a landing skid.

Fourteen passengers were injured, eight of them hospitalized, in leaps from the tilted and burning plane but all were credited by the five crewmen with following orders calmly in the escape.

Capt. Merrill E. Thayer, Miami, pilot of the Newark-bound flight from Miami, which was rerouted to Boston because of bad weather, said the 20 passengers "weren't a bit flustered."

"They just stood there by the door waiting for someone to tell them what to do," Capt. Thayer said. "Thank God those doors didn't jam."

One of the passengers, James D. Johnson, Forest Hills, L. I., added: "Thank God the doors were on the left side. If they'd been on the other side we'd have been burned with the plane."

Flames destroyed the million-dollar ship, a 60-passenger Constellation, after breaking out in one engine and racing along the right side as passengers jumped from the other through doors near the nose and the tail.

Ambulance crews helped passengers who were floundering through hi-deep snow in a fresh snowstorm in the 4 a. m. darkness. An airport mechanic, running to aid, was listed as the 15th casualty of the accident when he was struck by a police car.

Flight Engineer Harold C. Coonley, 27, Miami, said the big plane swerved on a snow-dusted runway because there wasn't enough dry surface for the brakes to grip.

Capt. Thayer said he cut the engines and as he started to operate built-in fire extinguishers one engine burst into flame.

Russia Paying 25,000 Germans Top Wages To Mine Uranium In Saxony

(Editor's Note: Edwin Shanke, veteran Associated Press correspondent in Germany, was one of eight American correspondents taken by the Russians on a supervised seven-day tour of Soviet-occupied Thuringia and Saxony. The area is closed to newsmen except for tours whose itinerary must be approved in advance by Soviet occupation authorities.)

By EDWIN SHANKE

LEIPZIG, Soviet-occupied Saxony, Jan. 19 (Delayed) (AP) — The minister president of Saxony disclosed today that 25,000 Germans are toiling in the Erzegebirge (ore mountains) of Southern Saxony, where the Russians have been reported mining uranium under the high priority pressure of the atomic race.

They are being paid premium wages, comparing favorably with those of a "high state official," he added.

Efforts of American correspondents on a conducted tour of the Soviet zone to penetrate the triangular district of Aue, Marienberg and Annaberg were blocked by Russian authorities, although Maj. Gen. Timoffei Dudarov, acting military governor of Saxony, denied it was a "forbidden area."

It was another example of the many "curtains" behind the "iron curtain" which bar correspondents from access to news in the Russian zone, even when they obtain permission to enter the zone.

Max Seydewitz, minister president of Saxony, said in an interview that 25,000 Germans are working in what he described as cobalt, zinc, lead and kaolin mines. He said this figure compared with 5,000 to 6,000 workers before the war, indicating the extent to which the Russians have developed the area.

The mines, situated in a triangle with Aue at its apex and Annaberg and Marienberg 15 miles to the east, are completely controlled by the Soviet Union and have been incorporated into a Soviet company called "Vismuth A. G.," Seydewitz said.

"We had no trouble getting labor because of the favorable working conditions," he declared in response to a question whether the workers had been drafted.

With Marshall's sanction, the State Department published the entire record of 260 formerly secret records disclosing that Russia:

1—Backed Germany heavily in her war against the West, furnishing supplies by the hundred thousand tons, striving to the last for "friendship" with Germany and aiding the Nazi campaign to keep Turkey neutral.

2—Agreed with Adolf Hitler that the United States, as well as Britain, should be shut out of Europe, Asia and Africa.

3—Lost Hitler as an ally, and paved the way for Germany's invasion of Russia, by demanding among other things a military base "within range of the Bosporus and the Dardanelles" and assurance that the oil-rich area "south of Batum and Baku in the general direction of the Persian Gulf be recognized as the center of the aspirations of the Soviet Union."

Reds Blocked Release At Trials

Starting with an official report of the first Soviet bid for closer ties with the Nazis, months before World War Two, the book embodied evidence whose release Russia blocked at the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

Included in the 362-page volume were secret agreements, signed by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, to partition Poland and slice Eastern Europe into Russian and Nazi spheres of control. The final entry dealt with Hitler's invasion of Russia.

The State Department said the documents were all from the official archives of the Nazi Foreign Office, were captured by American and British troops and were published now "to complete the record."

While there was no reference to the present state of United States-Russian relations, the circumstances nevertheless gave the sudden release the effect of a major diplomatic stroke.

Copies of the special compilation, dealing entirely with Nazi-Soviet relations between 1939 and 1941, were made public on such short notice that Moscow had scant opportunity for a quick counter-stroke of propaganda.

The first volumes of a formal history of Nazi diplomacy, in preparation by American, British and French scholars, are not due for publication for months.

Signed By Von Ribbentrop

The first document records a proposal for "better and better" relations between Moscow and Berlin—advanced April 17, 1939, by the Russian ambassador to the Reich. This was at a time when Britain and France were seeking to enlist Russia in a collective security pact to head off Nazi aggression.

Illinois Munitions Blast Rocks Wide Area; 4 Die In Calif. Quarry Explosion

Detonation Wipes Out Blasting Crew

COLTON, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—An entire blasting crew of four men perished instantly today in a powder explosion in the California Portland Cement Company's quarry near here.

The blast, which shattered windows in the Colton Union High School several blocks away and many in the business and residential sections, was heard in surrounding communities up to 10 miles distant and broke a bank's huge plate glass window in downtown San Bernardino, five miles away.

The dead, all of Riverside, were Omar Smith, 37; Charles Martinez, 33; Pascual Martinez, 20, and Jerry Joseph Hairston, 23.

This was Hairston's first day on the job and the explosion occurred only a short time before the four were due off duty.

The quartet was alone at the time. Foreman Frank Wilson had left them only a short time before to make out their pay time cards. The company's main plant, located 200 yards down a hillside from the blast, which occurred on the ground's surface, suffered only a few broken windows.

"The explosion is completely unaccounted for," John B. Lonergan, attorney for the company, said after an inspection of the scene, where the men were filling drilled holes with explosives for blasting.

"It was a blast of powder in a standard and time-tested loading device constructed of non-sparking metals."

Numerous ambulances were dispatched to the scene but no injuries were reported.

Telephone trunk lines connecting this railroad and industrial city of about 10,000 population, located 55 miles east of Los Angeles, were jammed for hours with calls.

Worthless Jap $5 Bill Is Used To Catch Thief

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 21 (AP)—A worthless Japanese $5 bill was used today in a clever ruse to apprehend an alleged robber of a March of Dimes box in a downtown tavern, police reported.

Judge Frank P. Anzellotti sentenced Roy Rapine, 51, to 30 days in county jail after he was apprehended by means of a trap set by Mrs. Peter Sirbu.

Mrs. Sirbu said she put the worthless Jap money in the polio fund box and then attached a thread to the box and to a bell. When the box was snatched, the bell rang and Mrs. Sirbu obtained a description of the fugitive as he fled the cafe.

Blowup Apparently Causes No Casualties

SAVANNA, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP) — An ammunition magazine blew up tonight at the Savanna ordnance plant sending an earthquake-like roar through three states in a 100-mile radius, but apparently caused no casualties.

Army officials said the blast was confined to an isolated dump at the plant, which is located 10 miles north of here on the Mississippi River.

They added that the explosion resulted when a 105-millimeter shell exploded and fired other ammunition stored in the dump.

The impact blew out most of the windows in Savanna, but there were no other reports of damage in the area. Traveling down the river, it shattered at least one plate glass window in downtown Moline, 50 miles to the south. At Peoria, 100 miles southeastward, windows were rattled.

"Ball Of Fire" Seen

However, at Sabula, Iowa, just across the river from Savanna, the blast did little, if any, damage.

One eyewitness there said he saw "a huge ball of fire" followed by a "thunderous" blast.

The blast was felt throughout Southern Wisconsin, Northwest Illinois and Eastern Iowa causing widespread reports of earth tremors.

In Chicago, Rev. Alphonse Schmidt, S. J., Loyola University seismologist, said his seismograph recorded a "slight disturbance" at 8:55:30 P. M. (CST).

The blast was felt at approximately the same time in Rockford, Kewanne, Neponset, Mt. Caroll, Sterling, Peoria, Moline, Rock Island in Illinois, and Davenport, Clinton and Iowa City, in Iowa.

It also was felt in western and northwestern suburbs of Chicago, 100 miles to the east.

Windows Rattle In Peoria

In Peoria, 100 miles southeastward, the impact shook windows in the weather bureau's office in the municipal airport.

At Sterling state police headquarters, Fay Dancey, a clerk, reported he ran outside to check the station's 300-foot radio tower after hearing "a

Hoover Would Cut ERP Outlay, Avoid Four-Year Pledge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today urged Congress not to commit America—even "morally"—to a four-year European recovery plan and advised a paring down of the $6,800,000,000 outlay proposed for the first 15 months.

The former president, in a statement sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, endorsed foreign aid "to the full extent which does not weaken our own economy and thus defeat all world recovery."

He recommended that it be run by a bi-partisan commission and suggested that up to $3,000,000,000 in food, coal, fertilizers and cotton be plainly labeled as "gifts" because unsecured loans "will not and cannot be repaid."

Questions Economic Result

But Hoover said the cost of the first 15 months of overseas aid will amount to a "burden of $9,000,000,000" when other relief is added to President Truman's starting request for the Marshall Plan.

He questioned whether the nation, already beset by inflation and shortages, can stand such a further strain without plunging into a depression. "The only safe course is for us not to over-export," he said.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder disagreed. He told the House Foreign Affairs Committee the plan can be fulfilled without "serious reaction" on the economy.

And Snyder gave notice that extra funds to brace the value of European currencies in the form of loans to provide monetary reserves, may be asked "possibly" this year and "probably" next.

Acheson Warns Against Cut

A warning that any drastic cut in the White House program would "merely prolong the illness, the cost and the danger" came simultaneously from Dean Acheson, former Undersecretary of State, in a speech at Atlantic City.

Hoover made a six-point offering of "constructive modifications and more safeguards." His 3,000-word statement was addressed to Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) for entry in the record of the Senate body's hearing on the long-range, 16-nation recovery program.

Stalin Hears Red Official Flay U. S. "Imperialism"

MOSCOW, Jan. 21. (AP)—Mikhail A. Suslov, chief of the propaganda administration of the Communist Party, attacked what he called United States "imperialism" at a Lenin memorial meeting tonight attended by Prime Minister Stalin and other high government and party officials.

Today was the 24th anniversary of Nikolai Lenin, the Soviet Union's founder.

Suslov quoted from Lenin to show, he said, that the United States and Great Britain "despite greater possibilities that elsewhere for democratic development," were following the path of imperialist Germany and might come to the same fate even more quickly.

Self-Supporting Japan As Soon As Possible U.S. Aim

Funds For Purpose Will Be Asked Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States government today pointed its Japanese occupation policy toward making Japan self-supporting "at the earliest possible time" and disclosed to other Allied powers that funds for that purpose will shortly be asked of Congress.

The burden of maintaining Japan's civilian economy at a cost of around $350,000,000 a year, a policy statement declared, must be removed from the American taxpayers. And Japan must be enabled "to make its proper contribution to the economic rehabilitation" of the world, the United States informed the Far Eastern Commission.

The pronouncement appeared generally to bring American policy toward Japan into line with United States aims for Western Germany where also the announced objectives are to make the people self-supporting and able to contribute to the economic recovery of other nations.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, American member of the Far Eastern Commission, presented the policy statement at today's commission meeting to provide basic understanding on the part of the other powers of the Army's request to Congress for funds to finance restoration of "peaceful" industries in Japan.

Thus far United States policy has been to spend minimum funds in Japan to prevent "disease and unrest." The objective which McCoy described, however, also would entail money "for the procurement of such imports as industrial raw materials and spare parts."

McCoy said Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration has made "exceptional progress x x x in establishing political and economic institutions which will permit the development of a democratic and peaceful Japan capable of assuming the responsibilities of a member of the community of nations."

"However," he told the 11-nation FEC, "the establishment of a self-supporting economy in Japan, without which the achievements of the occupation cannot be consolidated, has not yet been accomplished."

Girl Piano Prodigy Blames Home Life For Running Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Jacqueline Horner, piano prodigy who broke away from her home ties in rebellion against what she described as an inhibited, unnatural life in which she was exhibited "like an animal" was found here today after an eight-day search and promptly declared she would run away again if returned to her mother.

A painstaking hunt, which encompassed various tawdry sidestreet bars and transient hotels, finally led the police to a hotel room where the girl, who admittedly has been seeing life as she never saw it before — and enjoying her experience—was found with Wallace Wells, a 19-year-old sailor off the Navy tanker Cimarron. Jacqueline and the sailor emphatically told police and newsmen they had done nothing wrong or improper.

District Attrney Edmund B. Brown didn't see things quite in that light, however. He charged Wells with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. And a similar charge was filed against Mrs. Gloria Jean Costello Miles, a casual acquaintance of Jacqueline's, who, police say, taught the girl "bar girl" tricks, such as how to make sailor pickups.

Brown said he would investigate five hotels in which Jacqueline had stayed here since her arrival. He said she stayed with Wells at two and with Mrs. Miles at three.

Meat Rationing Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Special Senate hearings on a "get ready" meat rationing bill today were scheduled to open January 29, but chances of congressional action appeared remote since no similar sessions are planned in the House "for a long, long time."

After hearing an official of a housewives organization declare that "the people are angry and bitter" over high meat prices, Chairman Tobey (R-N.H.), of the Senate Banking Committee, named a group to conduct the three-day hearings.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) was made chairman of the subcommittee. He is the author of legislation which would authorize the Agriculture Department to prepare for meat rationing, even to printing ration books, but subject to congressional veto action.

In the House where a companion measure has been introduced by Rep. Javits (R-N.Y.), there was little inclination to grant the administration such powers, even on a stand-by basis.

Congressional advocates of the voluntary method of combatting the rising cost of living meanwhile received support from former President Herbert Hoover.

In a statement sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Hoover declared "it is an illusion that scarcity, and thus increasing inflation, can be more than temporarily retarded by compulsory fixing of wages, prices and rationing. x x x Any such course sets up chain reactions which ultimately decrease production and defeat their very purpose."

Lewis Has No Political Aspirations, Jones Says

AKRON, O., Jan. 21. (AP)—A United Mine Workers official represented John L. Lewis today as having no desire to run for Vice President on a ticket with Henry Wallace and called the third party a "monumental blunder."

These views were contained in a letter written by John T. Jones, director of labor's Non-Partisan League, a political arm of the UMW.

It was sent in answer to a query by Burr McCloskey, head of the United Labor Party, a small political group here, asking whether Lewis would consider such a move.

"This is to advise you that Mr. Lewis has no political aspirations or ambitions," Jones wrote.

"The creation of this ticket for 1948, led by Mr. Wallace, is a monumental blunder and in my considered opinion can only result in the election of more reactionary members of Congress."

Admits Strangling Baby

ST. CHARLES, Mo., Jan. 21. (AP)—Miss Mabel Becker, 30-year-old waitress employed in the dining hall of Lindenwood College here, was charged with first degree murder today after she admitted in an oral statement, Sheriff Lester Plackmeyer said, that she strangled her new-born baby.

Daughter For Maureen

Report Yugoslavia Has Weapon More Destructive Than A-Bomb Discounted

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Italian newspaper La Voce in Trieste published today a purported speech by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia in which he was quoted as saying war with Britain and the United States was perhaps "a question of several weeks" and that Yugoslavia had a weapon more destructive than the atomic bomb.

Pierre S. C. Dumas, assistant editor of the pro-De Gaulle newspaper, Dissidence 40, which published the same purported speech on December 15, said today, however, that he was convinced the report was a fabrication.

Dumas said the story was first printed in Vaterland at Lucerne, Switzerland, on November 19, the day after Tito was supposed to have made the speech at Zagreb, and was reprinted by Dissidence 40 in good faith. Since then, he added, he had received reports from Balkan correspondents which convinced him despite his anti-Communist feelings, that the alleged speech was never made.

La Voce in Trieste said it had had the text of the purported speech for a month but delayed publication until convinced it was authentic and upon learning it had been published in Dissidence 40.

Dissidence 40's text quoted Tito as telling a secret gathering of the Yugoslyav Communist Party executive that it was necessary to "decide all indispensable questions which will permit the definite annihilation of the reaction" and that time was short.

The published text said he threatened to "surprise the reaction" and contained these other quotations:

"We have a very strong army, well organized, that we don't nourish with chocolate and cake" and which is ready to "chase the divisions of the gangsters who are concentrated in Italy and Austria."

"We are ready to sink their fleet in the Adriatic."

Cold Air Mass Fanning Out Over Eastern Area

[By The Associated Press]

A new cold air mass started fanning out over much of the eastern half of the country Wednesday as California fruit growers burned smudge pots for the second successive day to protect their crops.

Widespread snow flurries pelted much of the Midwest in advance of the change to colder weather.

25 Persons Leap To Safety In Snowbank When Airliner Catches Fire After Landing

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Twenty-five persons jumped to safety in a snowbank today to escape flames sweeping through a big Eastern Airlines passenger plane when fire broke out only seconds after the big ship nosed into the snow in a landing skid.

Fourteen passengers were injured, eight of them hospitalized, in leaps from the tilted and burning plane but all were credited by the five crewmen with following orders calmly in the escape.

Capt. Merrill E. Thayer, Miami, pilot of the Newark-bound flight from Miami, which was rerouted to Boston because of bad weather, said the 20 passengers "weren't a bit flustered."

"They just stood there by the door waiting for someone to tell them what to do," Capt. Thayer said. "Thank God those doors didn't jam."

One of the passengers, James D. Johnson, Forest Hills, L. I., added: "Thank God the doors were on the left side. If they'd been on the other side we'd have been burned with the plane."

Flames destroyed the million-dollar ship, a 60-passenger Constellation, after breaking out in one engine and racing along the right side as passengers jumped from the other through doors near the nose and the tail.

Ambulance crews helped passengers who were floundering through hi-deep snow in a fresh snowstorm in the 4 a. m. darkness. An airport mechanic, running to aid, was listed as the 15th casualty of the accident when he was struck by a police car.

Flight Engineer Harold C. Coonley, 27, Miami, said the big plane swerved on a snow-dusted runway because there wasn't enough dry surface for the brakes to grip.

Capt. Thayer said he cut the engines and as he started to operate built-in fire extinguishers one engine burst into flame.

Russia Paying 25,000 Germans Top Wages To Mine Uranium In Saxony

(Editor's Note: Edwin Shanke, veteran Associated Press correspondent in Germany, was one of eight American correspondents taken by the Russians on a supervised seven-day tour of Soviet-occupied Thuringia and Saxony. The area is closed to newsmen except for tours whose itinerary must be approved in advance by Soviet occupation authorities.)

By EDWIN SHANKE

LEIPZIG, Soviet-occupied Saxony, Jan. 19 (Delayed) (AP) — The minister president of Saxony disclosed today that 25,000 Germans are toiling in the Erzegebirge (ore mountains) of Southern Saxony, where the Russians have been reported mining uranium under the high priority pressure of the atomic race.

They are being paid premium wages, comparing favorably with those of a "high state official," he added.

Efforts of American correspondents on a conducted tour of the Soviet zone to penetrate the triangular district of Aue, Marienberg and Annaberg were blocked by Russian authorities, although Maj. Gen. Timoffei Dudarov, acting military governor of Saxony, denied it was a "forbidden area."

It was another example of the many "curtains" behind the "iron curtain" which bar correspondents from access to news in the Russian zone, even when they obtain permission to enter the zone.

Max Seydewitz, minister president of Saxony, said in an interview that 25,000 Germans are working in what he described as cobalt, zinc, lead and kaolin mines. He said this figure compared with 5,000 to 6,000 workers before the war, indicating the extent to which the Russians have developed the area.

The mines, situated in a triangle with Aue at its apex and Annaberg and Marienberg 15 miles to the east, are completely controlled by the Soviet Union and have been incorporated into a Soviet company called "Vismuth A. G.," Seydewitz said.

"We had no trouble getting labor because of the favorable working conditions," he declared in response to a question whether the workers had been drafted.

German Strikes Reach New Peak

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP) — Western Germany's strikes against food shortages reached a new peak today when 100,000 workers walked off their jobs in Nuernberg and another 100,000 quit in Cologne.

Trade union leaders scheduled a meeting in Munich for tomorrow to decide whether to call a general strike in that American zone city.

Both the Cologne and Nuernberg strikes in the British and American zones were for 24 hours.

No demonstration was held in Cologne, but in Nuernberg about 30,000 assembled in the former Adolf Hitler Platz where they waved placards and listened to bitter oratorical attacks on the Allied occupation powers and German government leaders.

The slogans said "We are hungry," "Death to black marketeers" and "We want a united Germany." Other signs attacked German bizonal administrators and said Hans Ehard, Christian Democrat leader of the Bavarian government, "equals zero."

Speaking against a background of bomb ruins in the square, Labor Leader Karl Horn called upon Bavarian farmers to contribute fats voluntarily to a proposed pool to relieve the crisis, rapped failure of bizonal and state officials to cooperate, and declared "the Allies have brought no peace up to now."

Bitter Long-Jones Fight For La. Governor Looms

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21. (AP)—A bitter, no-holds-barred contest for Governor of Louisiana was in prospect tonight between Earl K. Long and Sam Houston Jones, both of whom have held the office before.

The two men, who faced each other in a runoff in 1940 with Jones coming out on top, led a field of four in yesterday's Democratic primary on the basis of returns from most of the state's 1,878 precincts.

Tabulation of 1,109 boxes gave Long 134,842 votes; Jones 92,724; Appeals Judge Robert F. Kennon 67,095, and United States Representative James H. Morrison 61,759.

Victory in a second primary, which is provided by state law when no candidate receives a majority in the first balloting, amounts to election in one-party Louisiana.

Hospital's Officials Cleared In Baby's Death

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Minneapolis Board of Public Welfare tonight absolved General (city) Hospital officials of any dereliction of duty in the death of a baby in the Mayor's office several hours after doctors decided it was not ill enough to be admitted to the hospital.

Hennepin County Coroner Russell R. Heim and three doctors who examined the four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Minneapolis, Monday night, declared the child died of bronchitis of the upper respiratory system which had suddenly developed into "beginning bronchial pneumonia."

Secret Poll Of Musicians Planned To See If They Favor Petrillo Ban

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, announced plans tonight for a secret poll of union musicians to determine whether they favor the ban their president, James C. Petrillo, has put on record making.

"If Petrillo won't do it, we will," Hartley told newsmen after a day of committee testimony by the head of the American Federation of Musicians.

Hartley said the mail ballots will go to "name" band leaders and members of their orchestras — the men who make the records.

The announcement was Hartley's response to a challenge which Petrillo made from the stand, to join in a poll of all the 225,000 AFM members.

Hartley said quickly:

"I'd like to take you up on that if we limit it to those who make records."

This number is estimated at 5,000.

But Petrillo didn't like that.

"What about those who lost their jobs in restaurants and radio stations because the records were made?" he asked.

Hartley did not indicate whether he had talked again with Petrillo before he announced his own plans.

During his testimony today Petrillo acknowledged that he told FM broadcasters he would have to confer with the major networks before making a deal—but he denied any conspiracy to stunt the new FM industry.

Agreed To Shut

Europe were in the form of "strictly secret" annexes to the published Russo-German "non-aggression" treaty of August 23, 1939, which sealed Poland's fate, rebuffed France and Britain and touched off the world conflict. They were signed by Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who was hanged at Nuernberg as a war criminal, as well as by Molotov.

Other documents detailed Russia's help to the Nazis in the form of grain, oil, cotton and other materials until Adolf Hitler turned on his partner with the signal for the Wehrmacht invasion.

The volume was edited by a staff headed by Raymond James Sontag, of the University of California, who attested the authenticity of the documents.

rumbling noise that sounded like an earthquake."

Dancey said this was followed by a call from the Northern Illinois Utilities Company at nearby Dixon, which reported its seismograph recorded "an eathquake at 8:52 PCS."

Dancey reported that the force of the blast at Savanna, 50 miles away, opened a door of the police headquarters.

Fifteen police were sent from Sterling to aid officers at Savanna, where Dancey said "hundreds" of persons were milling in the streets.

Five Battlewagons Will Be Scrapped By Britain

LONDON, Jan. 21—(AP)—Four of Britain's best known battleships and the 31-year-old battle cruiser Renown will be scrapped as obsolete, cutting the Royal Navy's capital ship strength to its lowest point in modern naval history, a government spokesman announced today.

An official estimate said Royal Navy manpower will be down to 140,000 by next March. The manpower of the United States Navy is somewhat under 500,000.

The five battlewagons which originally cost almost $100,000,000 and whose scrap will be used to boost Britain's steel production are:

Phone Service Change At Coney Postponed

The change from manual to dial telephones at Lonaconing, delayed yesterday because of unexpected trouble in trunk equipment, will be made as soon as the trouble is completely cleared and subscribers have been given ample notice of the new date of the change-over, Howard W. Smith, manager of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company said last night.

Smith said he hopes the change will not be long delayed.

It had been scheduled to change from manual to dial telephones yesterday at 7:30 a. m., but because of the unexpected trouble, the change had to be postponed.

Consequently, Lonaconing customers were called and asked to continue using their manual telephones.

Barker Who Kicked Out Boy's Eye Is Fined $500

DETROIT, Jan. 21. (AP)—Roy B. Hix, 41-year-old sideshow barker, was fined $500 and placed on two years probation today for kicking out the eye of a small boy who peeked under his tent at a two-headed calf.

A jury convicted him of aggravated assault on 10-year-old Richard Hinson, who lost his eye at the state fair last summer. The boy said he was kicked as he stooped to peek beneath the tent.

Police Step Up Search For Girl

GAMBRILLS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP) — Police stepped up their search today for a 12-year-old girl missing from her Defense Highway home near here since last Sunday.

Betty Jean Long, blonde and blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Long, visited a neighbor's home that afternoon, left at 7 p. m. and has not been seen since, her mother said.

The girl is the oldest of nine children.

"She had a bad habit of catching rides in an automobile," Mrs. Long said.

The mother said she knew of no reason for Betty Jean's disappearance.

Records at Annapolis Emergency Hospital showed the girl had been brought there severely bruised from her home last October 20.

Long, 44, is a painter, but has not worked recently because of rheumatism, his wife said. The family lives in a four-room frame house just west of Bartgis Corner Road on the Defense Highway.

German Strikes Reach New Peak

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP) — Western Germany's strikes against food shortages reached a new peak today when 100,000 workers walked off their jobs in Nuernberg and another 100,000 quit in Cologne.

Trade union leaders scheduled a meeting in Munich for tomorrow to decide whether to call a general strike in that American zone city.

Both the Cologne and Nuernberg strikes in the British and American zones were for 24 hours.

No demonstration was held in Cologne, but in Nuernberg about 30,000 assembled in the former Adolf Hitler Platz where they waved placards and listened to bitter oratorical attacks on the Allied occupation powers and German government leaders.

The slogans said "We are hungry," "Death to black marketeers" and "We want a united Germany." Other signs attacked German bizonal administrators and said Hans Ehard, Christian Democrat leader of the Bavarian government, "equals zero."

Speaking against a background of bomb ruins in the square, Labor Leader Karl Horn called upon Bavarian farmers to contribute fats voluntarily to a proposed pool to relieve the crisis, rapped failure of bizonal and state officials to cooperate, and declared "the Allies have brought no peace up to now."

Stork Visits Kysers

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 21. (AP) — A seven - pound, 12 - ounce daughter was born to Mrs. Kay Kyser in St. John's Hospital tonight. The bandsman and his wife, the former Georgia Carroll, singer, are the parents of another daughter, 20 months old.

Bitter Long-Jones Fight For La. Governor Looms

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21. (AP)—A bitter, no-holds-barred contest for Governor of Louisiana was in prospect tonight between Earl K. Long and Sam Houston Jones, both of whom have held the office before.

The two men, who faced each other in a runoff in 1940 with Jones coming out on top, led a field of four in yesterday's Democratic primary on the basis of returns from most of the state's 1,878 precincts.

Tabulation of 1,109 boxes gave Long 134,842 votes; Jones 92,724; Appeals Judge Robert F. Kennon 67,095, and United States Representative James H. Morrison 61,759.

Victory in a second primary, which is provided by state law when no candidate receives a majority in the first balloting, amounts to election in one-party Louisiana.

Hospital's Officials Cleared In Baby's Death

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Minneapolis Board of Public Welfare tonight absolved General (city) Hospital officials of any dereliction of duty in the death of a baby in the Mayor's office several hours after doctors decided it was not ill enough to be admitted to the hospital.

Hennepin County Coroner Russell R. Helm and three doctors who examined the four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Minneapolis, Monday night, declared the child died of bronchitis of the upper respiratory system which had suddenly developed into "beginning bronchial pneumonia."

Ship Sinking Toll Heavy

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Interior Ministry said today that only 80 survivors had been located of more than 300 passengers reported aboard the steamer Cautin when it capsized Monday night in the Imperial River. About 70 bodies have been recovered.

Secret Poll Of Musicians Planned To See If They Favor Petrillo Ban

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), of the House Labor Committee, announced plans tonight for a secret poll of union musicians to determine whether they favor the ban their president, James C. Petrillo, has put on record making.

"If Petrillo won't do it, we will," Hartley told newsmen after a day of committee testimony by the head of the American Federation of Musicians.

Hartley said the mail ballots will go to "name" band leaders and members of their orchestras — the men who make the records.

The announcement was Hartley's response to a challenge which Petrillo made from the stand, to join in a poll of all the 225,000 AFM members.

Hartley said quickly:

"I'd like to take you up on that if we limit it to those who make records."

This number is estimated at 5,000.

But Petrillo didn't like that.

"What about those who lost their jobs in restaurants and radio stations because the records were made?" he asked.

Hartley did not indicate whether he had talked again with Petrillo before he announced his own plans.

During his testimony today Petrillo acknowledged that he told FM broadcasters he would have to confer with the major networks before making a deal—but he denied any conspiracy to stunt the new FM industry.

Agreed To Shut

Europe were in the form of "strictly secret" annexes to the published Russo-German "non-aggression" treaty of August 23, 1939, which sealed Poland's fate, rebuffed France and Britain and touched off the world conflict. They were signed by Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who was hanged at Nuernberg as a war criminal, as well as by Molotov.

Other documents detailed Russia's help to the Nazis in the form of grain, oil, cotton and other materials until Adolf Hitler turned on his partner with the signal for the Wehrmacht invasion.

The volume was edited by a staff headed by Raymond James Sontag, of the University of California, who attested the authenticity of the documents.

rumbling noise that sounded like an earthquake."

Dancey said this was followed by a call from the Northern Illinois Utilities Company at nearby Dixon, which reported its seismograph recorded "an eathquake at 8:52 PCS."

Dancey reported that the force of the blast at Savanna, 50 miles away, opened a door of the police headquarters.

Fifteen police were sent from Sterling to aid officers at Savanna, where Dancey said "hundreds" of persons were milling in the streets.

DENVER, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration said tonight a DC-3 plane was overdue on a flight from Denver to Grand Junction, Colo. The CAA refused to say if the plane was civilian or military or how many persons were aboard.

HONOLULU, Jan. 21. (AP) — The Army transport Cardinal O'Connell arrived today with the bodies of 3,358 American war dead from cemeteries at Guadalcanal and Brisbane and Sydney, Australia.

Five Battlewagons Will Be Scrapped By Britain

LONDON, Jan. 21—(AP)—Four of Britain's best known battleships and the 31-year-old battle cruiser Renown will be scrapped as obsolete, cutting the Royal Navy's capital ship strength to its lowest point in modern naval history, a government spokesman announced today.

An official estimate said Royal Navy manpower will be down to 140,000 by next March. The manpower of the United States Navy is somewhat under 500,000.

The five battlewagons which originally cost almost $100,000,000 and whose scrap will be used to boost Britain's steel production are:

Phone Service Change At Coney Postponed

The change from manual to dial telephones at Lonaconing, delayed yesterday because of unexpected trouble in trunk equipment, will be made as soon as the trouble is completely cleared and subscribers have been given ample notice of the new date of the change-over, Howard W. Smith, manager of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company said last night.

Smith said he hopes the change will not be long delayed.

It had been scheduled to change from manual to dial telephones yesterday at 7:30 a. m., but because of the unexpected trouble, the change had to be postponed.

Consequently, Lonaconing customers were called and asked to continue using their manual telephones.

Police Step Up Search For Girl

GAMBRILLS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP) — Police stepped up their search today for a 12-year-old girl missing from her Defense Highway home near here since last Sunday.

Betty Jean Long, blonde and blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Long, visited a neighbor's home that afternoon, left at 7 p. m. and has not been seen since, her mother said.

The girl is the oldest of nine children.

"She had a bad habit of catching rides in an automobile," Mrs. Long said.

The mother said she knew of no reason for Betty Jean's disappearance.

Records at Annapolis Emergency Hospital showed the girl had been brought there severely bruised from her home last October 20.

Long, 44, is a painter, but has not worked recently because of rheumatism, his wife said. The family lives in a four-room frame house just west of Bartgis Corner Road on the Defense Highway.

Barker Who Kicked Out Boy's Eye Is Fined $500

DETROIT, Jan. 21. (AP)—Roy B. Hix, 41-year-old sideshow barker, was fined $500 and placed on two years probation today for kicking out the eye of a small boy who peeked under his tent at a two-headed calf.

A jury convicted him of aggravated assault on 10-year-old Richard Hinson, who lost his eye at the state fair last summer. The boy said he was kicked as he stooped to peek beneath the tent.

By J. GLENN BEALL
(Member of Congress from Maryland Sixth District)

The Second Session of the historic 80th Congress is off to a flying start. It will enact its program more promptly than did the First Session because no time is required for organization of the House and Senate, their Committees, etc. All bills introduced in the First Session and not acted upon are still alive and can be brought up if favorably reported by committees. Their life will not expire until officially killed or until the life of the 80th Congress itself expires at the end of the year.

A year ago when Congress was asked to appropriate thirty seven and one half billion dollars for the operation of the Federal Government for one year, everyone thought the peak in government spending had been reached, however, in the Budget Message last week Congress was asked to appropriate thirty nine billion seven hundred million dollars to keep the Federal Government going for the next fiscal year. You may be interested to know that this amount is more than four times as much as was ever spent by the Federal Government in any pre-war peacetime year.

UNDER THE DOME

You are all aware of the acute fuel shortage in some sections of the Sixth District and on Thursday I attended the meeting held by the Director of the Oil Section of the Department of the Interior to work out plans for the allocation of oil and kerosene during the present emergency. After checking with county and municipal officials and civic leaders, I requested that Montgomery County to approximately seven miles from the Frederick County line be under the direction of the District of Columbia Coordinator as a matter of convenience for the residents of that county. The most critical shortage exists in Frederick County and I have conferred with the Maryland Coordinator, Judge Emory Niles, and relief has been promised.

I talked with Dr. Hobart Corning, Superintendent of the District of Columbia Schools, concerning tuition bills received by residents of Montgomery County whose children are now attending District High Schools. We were advised many months ago that those students enrolled before July 26, 1947, would be exempt from the payment of tuition this year. The parents were also notified. Since that time, in fact this past November, the Corporation Counsel ruled that enrolled as used in the law meant actually being a student at the school in June of last year. Since this ruling, which I feel is unfair, has put an extra burden on many parents unexpectedly, it is hoped something satisfactory can be worked out for all concerned.

It looks as if the completion of the Savage River Dam is on the road to success, especially since the Bureau of the Budget approved the completion of this worthwhile project which was started before the war but all work curtailed during the war. It is hoped that Committee action will come in the very near future.

GIs' $1 Love Notes Go Into Circulation

BRISBANE—(AP)—More than 1,000,000 American fighting men passed through Brisbane during World War II, and left behind with the local girls a trail of one-dollar bills bearing touching love messages.

Today, as sentiment fades, more and more of these love bills are being presented to banks which pay out six shillings two pence in Australian currency on each.

Some girls, however, are shying clear of the banks and selling their dollars quietly at up to double the official rate.

Welcome Change In Attitude Of Mr. Marshall

In his recent speech before the Chamber of Commerce, Pittsburgh, Secretary of State Marshall urged that no "major alterations" be made in the European Recovery Program. In his second appearance before Congress last week he asked for an "adequate" amount for European relief, and promised a "business administration."

All this represents a wise and welcome change from Secretary Marshall's line of attack in his appearance before Congress early last week. He then adopted a take-it-or-leave-it attitude. He demanded all $6,800,000,000 for European relief or nothing. "Either undertake to meet the requirements of the problem," he said bluntly, "or do not undertake it at all." The Secretary was dogmatic about the necessity for State Department control, saying "there cannot be two Secretaries of State."

Since Congress, as the elected representatives of the people, must approve the European Relief Program and appropriate any money to carry it out, the members—including many leading Democrats—did not at all like to be talked to that way. It is up to Congress to decide whether or not $6,800,000,000 will be too much. This it will do after a thorough inquiry, including testimony from the congressional study committees which made first-hand investigations in Europe last summer and fall. It is also up to Congress to determine how the program will be administered.

The immediate purpose of ERP is economic, but its ultimate aim is political—to safeguard the interests and security of the United States. The State Department must, therefore, have an important voice in the direction of the program. But it has been pretty well proved that the State Department personnel have little grasp of the business and industrial problems of economic recovery in Europe. Whether or not an independent agency is set up to handle the program, some of the nation's best industrial brains must be recruited to help carry it out.

A running mate for Wallace has not been located. Whatever became of that fellow Hagenbeck who used to be on the ticket with him?

Those Fatal Forties In American History

"Forty dollars and a vote"—the vote that presumably the President hoped to get when he recommended that everybody's income tax be cut by that amount! Americans with memories asked themselves where they had heard that slogan before, or something very like it. Then a number remembered.

The other time it was "Forty acres and a mule." That was the slogan when Southern Reconstruction was just starting. It meant that every freed Negro and every poor white farmer was to receive forty acres of land, and a mule to work it. Northern radicals who passed the word along knew better, but they saw votes in it.

Where were those forty acres to come from? They were to come from Southern plantations, divided up and distributed. Where is the $40 gift to taxpayers to come from? It is to come from corporation taxes, which under the provision of a tax reduction bill offered by Democratic Congressman Dingell, of Michigan, along a pattern outlined by President Truman, calls for an excess profits tax of 75 per cent so as to make up for that portion of the national income which would be sacrificed by the omnibus $40 gift.

In one case, outright confiscation. In the other case, a vicious slash at the income of stockholders—most of them "little people," and often more numerous than the corporation's own employes. Is there any more honor, sense and sincerity in the one proposal than there was in the other?

A casual postscript: Mr. Truman, who has perpetrated more than his share of official infelicities, might at least have postponed an inevitable comparison had he fixed his proposed tax-cut at $35, or maybe $51, instead of the fatal forty.

After February 15 the French people will be allowed seven ounces of meat a week, thus further aggravating the non-motorized transportation problem.

Defense Costs For U. S. Running Rampant

This nation is now committed to a world policy based on the premise that "world peace and the security of the United States are now the same thing." That entails vast sums for defense.

Just how great the cost will be has been estimated at between $15,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000 within the next few years, if measures already authorized or projected are approved by Congress. Those estimates cover the cost of maintaining basic military establishments, plus a host of supporting programs ranging from atomic energy to stockpiling to research facilities and bolstering of the merchant marine.

The task is huge, and the sums are enormous, but it would be evading the issue to state blandly that war would cost much more—and then go merrily on signing the checks. These are sums so great as to literally tax the economy of the nation.

Although there is small hope that the international situation in the immediate future will be conducive to defense economy, there are at least two avenues through which extravagance can be avoided. One is by a highly critical—though certainly not parsimonious—attitude on the part of Congress toward defense budgets. The other is by a strong effort toward coordination by the Secretary of Defense.

There is no doubt that Congress will subject all requests for funds to careful scrutiny. As for the Department of Defense, the unification of the armed forces was brought about only a few months ago, and not until next year will one over-all armed services budget be prepared under the supervision of the Secretary of Defense.

But in the meantime, the manner in which each agency concerned in defense puts its best fiscal foot forward leads to the suspicion that much can be done toward correlating and integrating the activities and expenditures of the various branches of the government involved in the defense program. A saving of a mere 10 per cent would amount to more than one-half of the federal government's entire budget 15 years ago.

Eye Protection

THE MEMBRANE lining the eyes (conjunctiva) is extremely sensitive and will raise a rumpus even if only a tiny speck of dirt lands on its surface. Mild inflammation, which would probably go unnoticed if it existed elsewhere, will produce pain, tearing, and considerable irritation.

Nature was kind in providing lids for, without them, the eyes would have no protection. Injuries to the seeing apparatus are minimized by the ability to blink. Sometimes, however, this reflex is not fast enough. The air is filed with soot and smoke and many of us are prone to "get something in the eye." Moreover, in many occupations the optics are subjected to innumerable mishaps. Goggles are used in certain industries to overcome this handicap and it would be difficult to estimate how many eyes have been saved through this precaution alone.

The conjunctiva is susceptible to the elements also and frequently suffers from over-exposure to wind, dust, and irritating fumes. Furthermore, intense light can be harmful. The eyes of the welder would not last long if special hoods were not employed. But in spite of this safeguard the electric arc light is still a risk. If several men are working together and one decides to turn off his equipment and remove his hood, he is endangered by a partner who may decide at that moment to continue welding. The kleig lights in movie studios can affect the conjunctiva in a similar manner especially if the workers remain under them for many hours.

The sun itself is no slouch along this line and temporary blindness may arise in any one who must tramp about in the sun or ride in a boat. In the circumstances, the individual develops a double dose, the direct rays and the reflection. The ultra violet literally burns the surface of these delicate membranes.

Snow blindness is another possibility. Twelve hours after exposure, the conjunctiva becames red and inflamed, the eyes and lids smart, and increased tearing occurs. Pain may be acute and often the victim prefers to keep the lids closed because additional light is aggravating. Now and then damage is severe enough to produce ulceration. Cold compresses and irrigations with suitable eye wash do more than anything to ease distress; sometimes an anesthetic solution or ointment is required. In a few cases the retina is involved also.

Our eyes are precious and we should do everything in our power to protect them. Perhaps the natives of Hollywood have something in wearing dark glasses while out in the sun particularly when bathing. The same danger exists when watching an eclipse or walking through the snow on a sunny day. No one should stand too close to welders and intense flashes such as those precipitated by short circuiting of a strong current, must be avoided. The worker in hazardous industries has learned his lesson and now appreciates the value of goggles.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who stepped down recently as chief of naval operations, spent the holidays as a baby sitter.

While General Ike is busy throwing his hat in the ring, Admiral Nimitz is busy throwing his hat in the crib.

I can see it all now. . . . Admiral Nimitz rocking the baby to sleep and yelling, "steady as she blows."

And when he comes into the nursery, the kid probably gives him the 21 rattle salute.

I hear he's having a tough time though. . . . the kid refuses to say "da da sir."

After all those years at sea, the Admiral is entitled to a change. . . but this was more than he bargained for.

Of course, he brings an ensign along to change the diapers.

And it's a little unusual using five stars instead of safety pins.

But he has a new rule now. Before he takes a job as baby sitter, the baby has to be put in dry dock. He's a little disappointed though . . . the kid won't let him play with his boat.

I understand the baby got out of control and gave the Admiral a hard time. He broke his bottle, threw things out of the crib and cried for an hour. The Admiral just sat there shaking his head and saying, "Guadalcanal was never like this."

I've been a baby sitter myself for a long time. . . . the head of Paramount drives a hard contract.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

That long range planning is pretty good stuff because you don't have to be around when the slow fuse gets to the bombs.

I think Hank Wallace qualifies as good as anybody on hitching his wagon to a star. Hank has some wonderful predated ideas based on those elusive commodities when and if.

Hank reminds me of a friend of mine who got into the real estate business with a proposition he called picture city. That was thirty years ago and it is still a picture.

It was long range planning. But mostly by the postoffice inspectors.

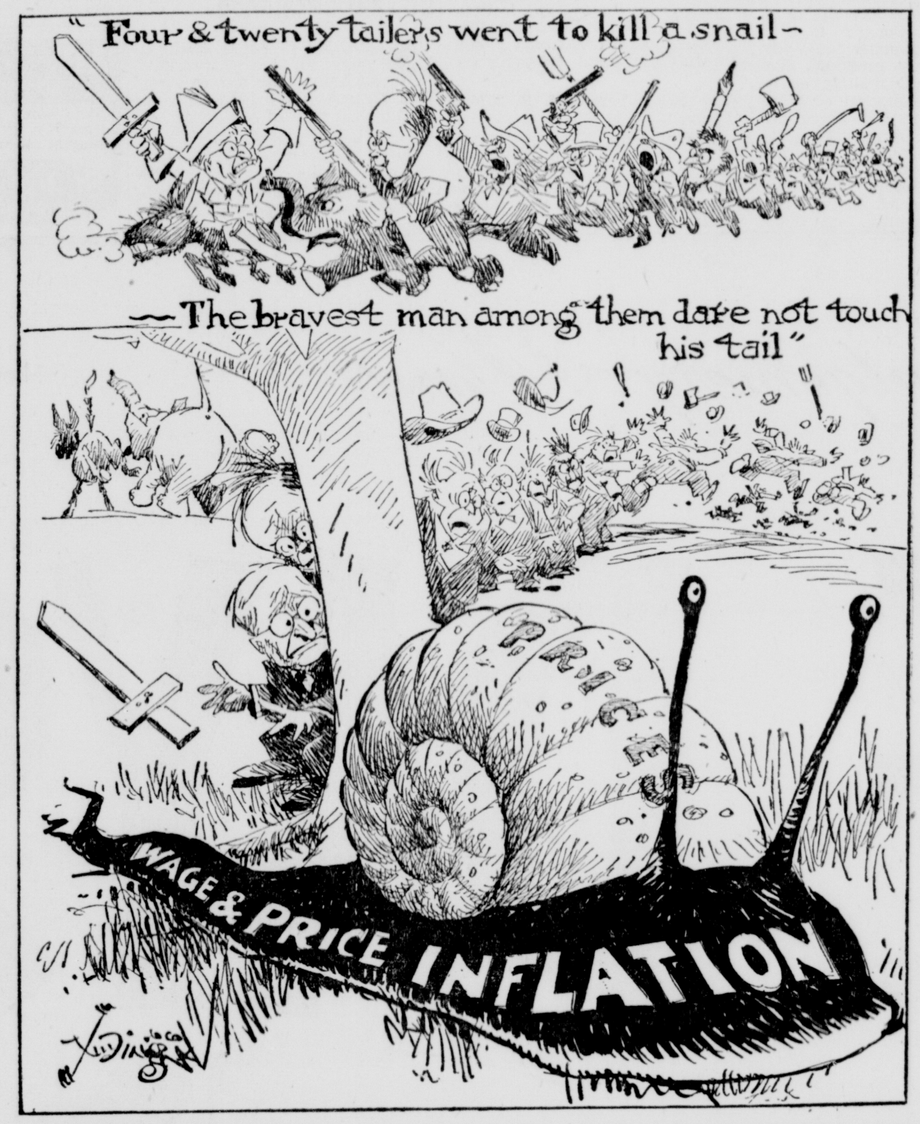
THE GREAT CRUSADE



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Thomas Of Oklahoma May Be In For Senate Trouble; Senate Republicans Will Compete With Hollywood; Czar Petrillo Offers To Yield On Recordings

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Oklahoma's slippery Senator Elmer Thomas, who finally admitted trading on the commodity market, may get a full-fledged investigation from his own colleagues.

Thomas told his side of the speculating story in a slushy letter, full of self-righteous alibis, which he sent to Senator Ferguson's investigating subcommittee.

The subcommittee was called together for a very hush-hush meeting in Ferguson's private office. Ferguson read the letter to other members impatiently snorted that the committee had better supplement the information with specific questions about Senator Thomas' speculations. A letter was then fired back bluntly asking Thomas for names and dates of all commodities purchased.

However, Washington observers are still keeping their fingers crossed as to whether the Senators really will probe another member of "the club." After all, Senator Ferguson pulled his punches when serious charges were brought against his GOP colleague, Brewster of Maine.

GOP Goes Into Movie Business

Memories of Hollywood are still lingering from last year's razzle-dazzle before the un-American Affairs Committee. As a result, GOP Senators are now planning to make movies of their own—complete with Hollywood stars and animated cartoons. They plan to produce 25 political films before November, glorifying the accomplishments of the 80th Congress.

The movie idea was given the rousing approval of Senate Republicans the other day at a secret luncheon-caucus, which touched off the 1948 Senatorial campaign. First movie will go into production tentatively May 1.

Actors George Murphy, Robert Montgomery and Adolphe Menjou were mentioned as loyal Republicans who could be called upon to help with the project. But the main actors will be men such as Bob Taft and Arthur Vandenberg, who played the heavy roles in Congress. They will be shown in action on the screen, occasionally in glamorous technicolor. Cartoon characters also will be used, scrambling over charts and graphs and gaily pointing out favorable statistics.

Spadework for the project was done by three Senate secretaries—Charles Egenroad (Secretary to Senator Capehart of Indiana), Art Burgess (Senator Cain of Washington), and Charles Kapnik (Senator Martin of Pennsylvania).

Egenroad told Senators at the private luncheon that the movies would cost approximately $50,000.

"Do you think that will be enough?" broke in New Jersey's Senator Albert Hawkes, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He suggested $100,000 as a more likely figure.

Senator Arthur Watkins of Utah wanted to be sure the movies would not be used to campaign in the primaries, and Senator Joe Ball of Minnesota asked how the Democrats were going to be dragged in to see the pictures.

"What good will it do just to show them to Republicans?" he asked.

"Senator, if you announce there is going to be a show, it will bring out more Republicans," Burgess spoke up. "Then when election day comes along, maybe some of those Republicans who would rather play golf will come out and vote instead."

Note—Smitten with the same movie bug, the Democratic party is quietly buying up 16-mm, movie projectors to show political films. Economy-minded Republicans are not buying any projectors, plan to ask each county chairman to borrow a projector instead.

Czar Petrillo Unbends

Music czar James Petrillo has hinted to the House Labor Committee that he might be willing to call off his ban on recordings if the Taft-Hartley Law is altered. He has asked for changes in the law in order to stretch the union's welfare fund to the full 200,000 membership.

As the law now stands, only the 32,500 musicians who do live broadcasting and recording are eligible for welfare benefits.

Petrillo made his proposal to Acting Chairman Gerald Landis of Indiana, indicated he would be willing to enter negotiations to change his ban on recordings if the law could be revised. Landis consulted two of his colleagues on the Committee, Congressmen Charles Kersten of Wisconsin and Richard Nixon of California, who said they would not object to considering a Taft-Hartley revision.

Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Ambassador to Poland Stanton Griffis, who once praised Hitler, jhas told General Marshall he's already bored with Poland, wants a new diplomatic post. When Marshall asked advisers where Griffis should be sent, one replied: "There are only two posts open, Paris and Palm Beach. I'm for sending him back to Palm Beach." . . . Secretary of State Marshall has given up hope of getting the Marshall Plan in operation by May 1. His new date is June 15. . . The White House is afraid Henry Wallace will use the compulsory-draft issue to give Truman an awful licking. . . . The National Lawyers Guild will award its 1947 Roosevelt Memorial Medal for patriotic service in behalf of Democracy to Congressman Adolph Sabath of Illinois, a tireless battler for the underdog.

Tin-Can Shortage Again

A significant backstage battle, affecting every housewife who buys canned goods, has the canning industry in an uproar.

The Commerce Department summoned canning representatives behind closed doors last week and announced that tin was going back on a wartime basis. This means tin-can production must be curtailed and the manufacture of odd-size cans discontinued.

Loudest protest came from the Campbell Soup who accused the Administration of selling the American public short in order to supply containers for relief food, bound for Europe.

The industry finally proposed voluntary controls, but the Government would not waver, complaining that not a single ton of strategic tin has been stockpiled since the end of the war. The Army and Navy are demanding that emergency reserves of tin must be built up in case of another Pearl Harbor.

Note—The Army and Navy also demand emergency reserves of oil. There are none today.

Baruch Sees Achievement Of Economic Stability By 1949

By MARK SULLIVAN

The statement of Mr. Bernard M. Baruch to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is built upon a keystone affirmation:

"The foundations of economic stability in the world . . . can be brought into existence inside of two years." (Mr. Baruch gives a date, December 31 of next year.)

Achievement of economic stability in the world includes, of course, the checking of inflation in the United States. About this also Mr. Baruch makes a keystone affirmation. He says it can be done:

"If inflation were tackled vigorously by putting off less essential activity both of government and individuals, postponing tax reduction, reducing farm (crop) prices, holding wages stable, taking small profits, and increasing production. . . ."

The steps necessary to take are thus grouped in Mr. Baruch's summary, and in his amplification of them in his statement as a whole, because they are grouped in nature. Checking inflation must be a coordinated program, each of the steps having a bearing on the others, and any one step ineffective or impossible unless the other steps are taken also.

Statement Convincing

This necessity for coordination is one of the several qualities that make Mr. Baruch's statement utterly convincing. Another is its all-embracing quality, Mr. Baruch speaks of it as an "across the nation anti-inflation program." It calls for cooperation by all groups, and on each imposes sacrifices or the foregoing of advantage.

When Mr. Baruch turns to the Marshall Plan for European aid, and the Siamese twin relation between it and inflation in America, he makes another keystone affirmation. He says that if the whole of the program he proposes is put into effect promptly, we "can boost production sufficiently to cover the whole Marshall Plan and still break the present inflationary cycle almost immediately, and cancel part of the national debt, while laying the groundwork for orderly tax reduction in the future."

Mr. Baruch not only accepts the Marshall Plan, as necessary for economic stability in the world, but make sadditions, to the end that the plan be surely effective. "We cannot do a thing and not do it at the same time."

With characteristic clear-sightedness and courage Mr. Baruch asks, and answers, a question: "How can the peoples of Europe go to work and re-establish themselves unless freed from the fear of another scourging—economically, politically and spiritually." In a touch of eloquence that pervades the statement, Mr. Baruch says: "We must above all make the future worth working for."

To create the spirit of security, Mr. Baruch proposes a plan for defense, to be achieved by the European nations cooperatively and to have assurance of backing from us. His plan is "that as many countries as are willing band themselves into a political, economic and defense union. . . . That the United States and such others as will join us mutually guarantee the nations entering this union against coercion. By guarantee I mean a firm promise to go to war in joint defense if any of them are attacked.

Checking of Inflation Possible

Here is a statement that the American people and Congress are called to pass upon. While it must speak for itself after it is understood, it comes with the momentum derived from qualities of Mr. Baruch with which the country is familiar, including his proved vision in the past. Any thoughtful person has known that the checking of inflation is possible, that the impediments to it are the intricacy of the process, the courage required, and the willingness of people and groups of them to compare in mutual sacrifice or restraint.

The part of Mr. Baruch's plan that will give rise to some surprise and call for faith, is his proposal that the nations of Europe receiving aid through the Marshall Plan be given assurance of security, by guarantee from us and such nations as join with us, of defense against attack. But in fact it has already been realized that political independence is essential to recovery. It would be little use to aid Italy for example, to recover and then stop, leaving her open to attack from Communism coming through Yugoslavia or otherwise. There is now in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs a bill providing for the substance of what Mr. Baruch proposes.

Congress Getting Itself Entangled In "War Powers"

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Is there a "state of war" against Germany and another "state of war" against Russia?

Congress is beginning to get itself entangled in the "revival" of "war powers" in order to combat inflation, and yet there is no preamble stating what war America is supposed to be fighting at the moment.

Last month, for example, the so-called anti-inflation bill undertook to "revive" certain provisions of the Second War Powers Act and referred to that law by name. But the Second War Powers Act was passed originally with a preamble reciting the existence of a state of war against Germany and Japan. In that war, Russia was an ally so the use of the same war powers to cover situations arising out of complications with our Allies presents some embarrassments. Technically speaking, the Russians are still our allies.

Congress, of course, has the constitutional power to declare war. The majority, however, did not say in December that it was reviving certain war powers for the President because of any new war. The word "revive" was used to imply that in some way the war against Germany and Japan was continuing to exist. Yet all the measures being taken for interim aid to Europe and for the Marshall Plan will involve the power to allocate the use of commodities because these articles are needed to combat communism or to stop the progress of Soviet Russia.

Congress Faces Alternatives

It would appear that Congress, if anxious to proceed under its war powers, either would have to declare a "state of war" existing as against Russia in order to revive war powers or else to invent a new set of war powers—those of "undeclared war."

The United States, during the period between September 1939 and December 1941, took several legislative steps as a part of the national emergency and the broad phrase "national defense" was availed of to cover all manner of preparations for resisting possible attack by either Germany or Japan. Today, however, none of the legislation to allocate commodities has been tied up with national defense, though there have been references to a "revival" of war powers.

It is the mention of "war powers" which could conceivably cause embarrassment to our government, for certainly nobody is ready to say officially in any laws or regulations that a "state of war" exists against Russia. Likewise, it can hardly be argued personally that America is still at war with a non-existent German government.

Unnecessary To Revive Powers

Congress in the past has not required that a peace treaty be signed in order to end a "state of war." In 1921, Congress by a unilateral resolution, declared the state of war with Germany to be at an end. Otherwise there could have been an indefinite postponement of the official ending of a war and powers given in wartime emergencies could have been invoked at will during peacetime.

It is really unnecessary for Congress to revive any war powers if it wishes to combat inflation. The constitutional power to regulate commerce is broad enough to cover almost anything that Congress may wish to do along economic lines. For the Supreme Court has said that Congress has virtually unlimited power now over production, wages, and prices. It isn't really essential for legislative purposes to have a declared or undeclared war. Besides, our diplomats will be growing uneasy if they are questioned as to the meaning of legislation that specifically speaks of a "revival" of war powers. These can hardly be explained as being directed against an enemy that has already been conquered, when everybody knows such legislation is really aimed at a situation created by an entirely different "enemy."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

EDWARD J. FLYNN, of the Bronx, produced in his book, "You're the Boss," an outstanding sociological study of American life. No college professor could have written it, because no one of them could have had as intimate a view of the actual operations of our political system. I quote the following paragraph from Flynn's book:

"One of the main reasons for Willkie's defeat was the lack of support given him by the regular Republican organizations. The organizations certainly did not want him to be nominated. He overwhelmed them in Philadelphia. Unquestionably they left the convention with no kindly spirit toward their candidate. This feeling got worse, aggravated by the fact that Willkie took every opportunity he could to insult directly or indirectly the politicians in the Republican party. . ."

Wendell Willkie could have been elected in 1940. Flynn comes pretty close to admitting that and I am sure that Jim Farley, when his full book appears, will come close to admitting it. Willkie was originally projected by a group of businessmen associated with the National Association of Manufacturers who were seeking someone to out-glamour Roosevelt. Long before the Convention, he was invited to address the N. A. M. big dinner at the Waldorf Astoria. They saw a chance of defeating Roosevelt. There was money to burn. I know this situation intimately and directly because I was then associated with the N. A. M.

The Republican politicians did not want Willkie. There were two reasons: 1. He was not a Republican. He had been a Democrat, actually a member of Tammany Hall; 2. They regarded him as the businessman's lawyer, not as a leader of their party. Flynn is correct but he understates the situation: It is not only that the regular Republican organizations failed to support Willkie; they actually voted against him.

I traveled from one end of the country to the other in that campaign, stumping for the Republican party. I wrote on November 8, 1940:

". . . I found that Republican leaders and workers were without contact often even with the officers of the party. There was discouragement, resentment and disappointment. A campaign is not a crusade and it is won not by noise in unison but by enthusiastic and coordinated competence. The latter was lacking throughout."

The major political parties of this country are not membership organizations, but they consist of a large body of local workers who are often associated in local clubs. These are controlled by District Leaders who, in turn, are controlled by County Leaders. The really effective political agents are the County Leaders. They make or break candidates. They are strictly organization men. They prefer organization men.

Of the many Republican candidates, three are strictly organization men, Robert A. Taft, Thomas E. Dewey and Joseph Martin, Jr. Stassen is an organization Republican but he is not really a candidate. Eisenhower is a rank outsider, projected by such outsiders as Thomas J. Watson of the International Business Machines Corporation and Joseph E. Davies, Mr. Roosevelt's Mission to Moscow. The manager of the Draft Eisenhower movement, Stuart Scheftel, is a youngish man who has been all over the map, supporting independent movements in the Republican party but rarely a regular. His over-anxiety to achieve political leadership quickly and without practiced experience has made of a maverick a mugwump.

Dewey's announcement of his candidacy, while late, clarifies the atmosphere in New York. As long as he did not announce, candidates were playing for some votes in the New York delegation. From now on that delegation, which has not yet been chosen, will be a unit. And that unit will be for Dewey. In fact, one of Dewey's managers is Edwin F. Jaeckle, who, dissatisfied after the 1944 campaign, has now returned to the fold. He is the Republican boss of Buffalo, the city in which General "Wild Bill" Donovan, of the Eisenhower boom, may claim some political support.

The Republican party will resist being raided by outsiders in 1948. Most of the delegates will be organization men who want a Republican candiate, by which they will mean one who has been a Republican in the foul years between 1932 and 1946 as well as in the hopeful year when Wallace produces a Third Party to help out.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Interested People

Nothing is more broadening and enriching to a person than to have an intelligent assortment of interests, and the more varied they are the better. No one can call such a person dull, for he radiates his interests, and inspires others to follow in his train.

A person with these interests invites the interest of others. We should be interested in all whom we meet. We should be good listeners. We never know when a valuable opportunity may present itself. I have a friend who listened to another talk, and from that talk got a clue which put him in business for himself.

Many of my most beloved books have been acquired by listening to interesting people as they talked about books, giving me the name of many an author, of whom I had never heard, and of man a one whom I have heard about, but in whom I had never become interested.

We should be interested in everything that pertains to a more rounded life. My first experience with a microscope opened up a new world to me, as it will for anyone. I like people who seem to be interested in everything. They are much more companionable than others.

This newspaper could not be published were it not for the fact that people are interested in what is going on in the world and in people's minds. Not even a feature is successful that does not draw the interest of readers. Everything would bog down were there no interested people in the world!

Every revelation in nature, every new bit of knowledge learned about flowers, animals, or the substance that makes up this earth is something added to one's education. And the more one learns the more one wants to learn. We do not choose our friends among dullards!

Interested people are the only ones to who many of us can hope to appeal for an audience. But we must be interesting to hold them! If we are not, then they walk out on us. As they do to the orator or the playmaker, or the author. However, we can never tell when a person, or a play, or a book, may gain our interest until we test each.

Welcome Change In Attitude Of Mr. Marshall

In his recent speech before the Chamber of Commerce, Pittsburgh, Secretary of State Marshall urged that no "major alterations" be made in the European Recovery Program. In his second appearance before Congress last week he asked for an "adequate" amount for European relief, and promised a "business administration."

All this represents a wise and welcome change from Secretary Marshall's line of attack in his appearance before Congress early last week. He then adopted a take-it-or-leave-it attitude. He demanded all $6,800,000,000 for European relief or nothing. "Either undertake to meet the requirements of the problem," he said bluntly, "or do not undertake it at all." The Secretary was dogmatic about the necessity for State Department control, saying "there cannot be two Secretaries of State."

Since Congress, as the elected representatives of the people, must approve the European Relief Program and appropriate any money to carry it out, the members—including many leading Democrats—did not at all like to be talked to that way. It is up to Congress to decide whether or not $6,800,000,000 will be too much. This it will do after a thorough inquiry, including testimony from the congressional study committees which made first-hand investigations in Europe last summer and fall. It is also up to Congress to determine how the program will be administered.

The immediate purpose of ERP is economic, but its ultimate aim is political—to safeguard the interests and security of the United States. The State Department must, therefore, have an important voice in the direction of the program. But it has been pretty well proved that the State Department personnel have little grasp of the business and industrial problems of economic recovery in Europe. Whether or not an independent agency is set up to handle the program, some of the nation's best industrial brains must be recruited to help carry it out.

A running mate for Wallace has not been located. Whatever became of that fellow Hagenbeck who used to be on the ticket with him?

Those Fatal Forties In American History

"Forty dollars and a vote"—the vote that presumably the President hoped to get when he recommended that everybody's income tax be cut by that amount! Americans with memories asked themselves where they had heard that slogan before, or something very like it. Then a number remembered.

The other time it was "Forty acres and a mule." That was the slogan when Southern Reconstruction was just starting. It meant that every freed Negro and every poor white farmer was to receive forty acres of land, and a mule to work it. Northern radicals who passed the word along knew better, but they saw votes in it.

Where were those forty acres to come from? They were to come from Southern plantations, divided up and distributed. Where is the $40 gift to taxpayers to come from? It is to come from corporation taxes, which under the provision of a tax reduction bill offered by Democratic Congressman Dingell, of Michigan, along a pattern outlined by President Truman, calls for an excess profits tax of 75 per cent so as to make up for that portion of the national income which would be sacrificed by the omnibus $40 gift.

In one case, outright confiscation. In the other case, a vicious slash at the income of stockholders—most of them "little people," and often more numerous than the corporation's own employes. Is there any more honor, sense and sincerity in the one proposal than there was in the other?

A casual postscript: Mr. Truman, who has perpetrated more than his share of official infelicities, might at least have postponed an inevitable comparison had he fixed his proposed tax-cut at $35, or maybe $51, instead of the fatal forty.

After February 15 the French people will be allowed seven ounces of meat a week, thus further aggravating the non-motorized transportation problem.

Defense Costs For U. S. Running Rampant

This nation is now committed to a world policy based on the premise that "world peace and the security of the United States are now the same thing." That entails vast sums for defense.

Just how great the cost will be has been estimated at between $15,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000 within the next few years, if measures already authorized or projected are approved by Congress. Those estimates cover the cost of maintaining basic military establishments, plus a host of supporting programs ranging from atomic energy to stockpiling to research facilities and bolstering of the merchant marine.

The task is huge, and the sums are enormous, but it would be evading the issue to state blandly that war would cost much more—and then go merrily on signing the checks. These are sums so great as to literally tax the economy of the nation.

Although there is small hope that the international situation in the immediate future will be conducive to defense economy, there are at least two avenues through which extravagance can be avoided. One is by a highly critical—though certainly not parsimonious—attitude on the part of Congress toward defense budgets. The other is by a strong effort toward coordination by the Secretary of Defense.

There is no doubt that Congress will subject all requests for funds to careful scrutiny. As for the Department of Defense, the unification of the armed forces was brought about only a few months ago, and not until next year will one over-all armed services budget be prepared under the supervision of the Secretary of Defense.

But in the meantime, the manner in which each agency concerned in defense puts its best fiscal foot forward leads to the suspicion that much can be done toward correlating and integrating the activities and expenditures of the various branches of the government involved in the defense program. A saving of a mere 10 per cent would amount to more than one-half of the federal government's entire budget 15 years ago.

Eye Protection

THE MEMBRANE lining the eyes (conjunctiva) is extremely sensitive and will raise a rumpus even if only a tiny speck of dirt lands on its surface. Mild inflammation, which would probably go unnoticed if it existed elsewhere, will produce pain, tearing, and considerable irritation.

Nature was kind in providing lids for, without them, the eyes would have no protection. Injuries to the seeing apparatus are minimized by the ability to blink. Sometimes, however, this reflex is not fast enough. The air is filed with soot and smoke and many of us are prone to "get something in the eye." Moreover, in many occupations the optics are subjected to innumerable mishaps. Goggles are used in certain industries to overcome this handicap and it would be difficult to estimate how many eyes have been saved through this precaution alone.

The conjunctiva is susceptible to the elements also and frequently suffers from over-exposure to wind, dust, and irritating fumes. Furthermore, intense light can be harmful. The eyes of the welder would not last long if special hoods were not employed. But in spite of this safeguard the electric arc light is still a risk. If several men are working together and one decides to turn off his equipment and remove his hood, he is endangered by a partner who may decide at that moment to continue welding. The kleig lights in movie studios can affect the conjunctiva in a similar manner especially if the workers remain under them for many hours.

The sun itself is no slouch along this line and temporary blindness may arise in any one who must tramp about in the sun or ride in a boat. In the circumstances, the individual develops a double dose, the direct rays and the reflection. The ultra violet literally burns the surface of these delicate membranes.

Snow blindness is another possibility. Twelve hours after exposure, the conjunctiva becames red and inflamed, the eyes and lids smart, and increased tearing occurs. Pain may be acute and often the victim prefers to keep the lids closed because additional light is aggravating. Now and then damage is severe enough to produce ulceration. Cold compresses and irrigations with suitable eye wash do more than anything to ease distress; sometimes an anesthetic solution or ointment is required. In a few cases the retina is involved also.

Our eyes are precious and we should do everything in our power to protect them. Perhaps the natives of Hollywood have something in wearing dark glasses while out in the sun particularly when bathing. The same danger exists when watching an eclipse or walking through the snow on a sunny day. No one should stand too close to welders and intense flashes such as those precipitated by short circuiting of a strong current, must be avoided. The worker in hazardous industries has learned his lesson and now appreciates the value of goggles.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who stepped down recently as chief of naval operations, spent the holidays as a baby sitter.

While General Ike is busy throwing his hat in the ring, Admiral Nimitz is busy throwing his hat in the crib.

I can see it all now. . . . Admiral Nimitz rocking the baby to sleep and yelling, "steady as she blows."

And when he comes into the nursery, the kid probably gives him the 21 rattle salute.

I hear he's having a tough time though. . . . the kid refuses to say "da da sir."

After all those years at sea, the Admiral is entitled to a change. . . but this was more than he bargained for.

Of course, he brings an ensign along to change the diapers.

And it's a little unusual using five stars instead of safety pins.

But he has a new rule now. Before he takes a job as baby sitter, the baby has to be put in dry dock. He's a little disappointed though . . . the kid won't let him play with his boat.

I understand the baby got out of control and gave the Admiral a hard time. He broke his bottle, threw things out of the crib and cried for an hour. The Admiral just sat there shaking his head and saying, "Guadalcanal was never like this."

I've been a baby sitter myself for a long time. . . . the head of Paramount drives a hard contract.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

That long range planning is pretty good stuff because you don't have to be around when the slow fuse gets to the bombs.

I think Hank Wallace qualifies as good as anybody on hitching his wagon to a star. Hank has some wonderful predated ideas based on those elusive commodities when and if.

Hank reminds me of a friend of mine who got into the real estate business with a proposition he called picture city. That was thirty years ago and it is still a picture.

It was long range planning. But mostly by the postoffice inspectors.

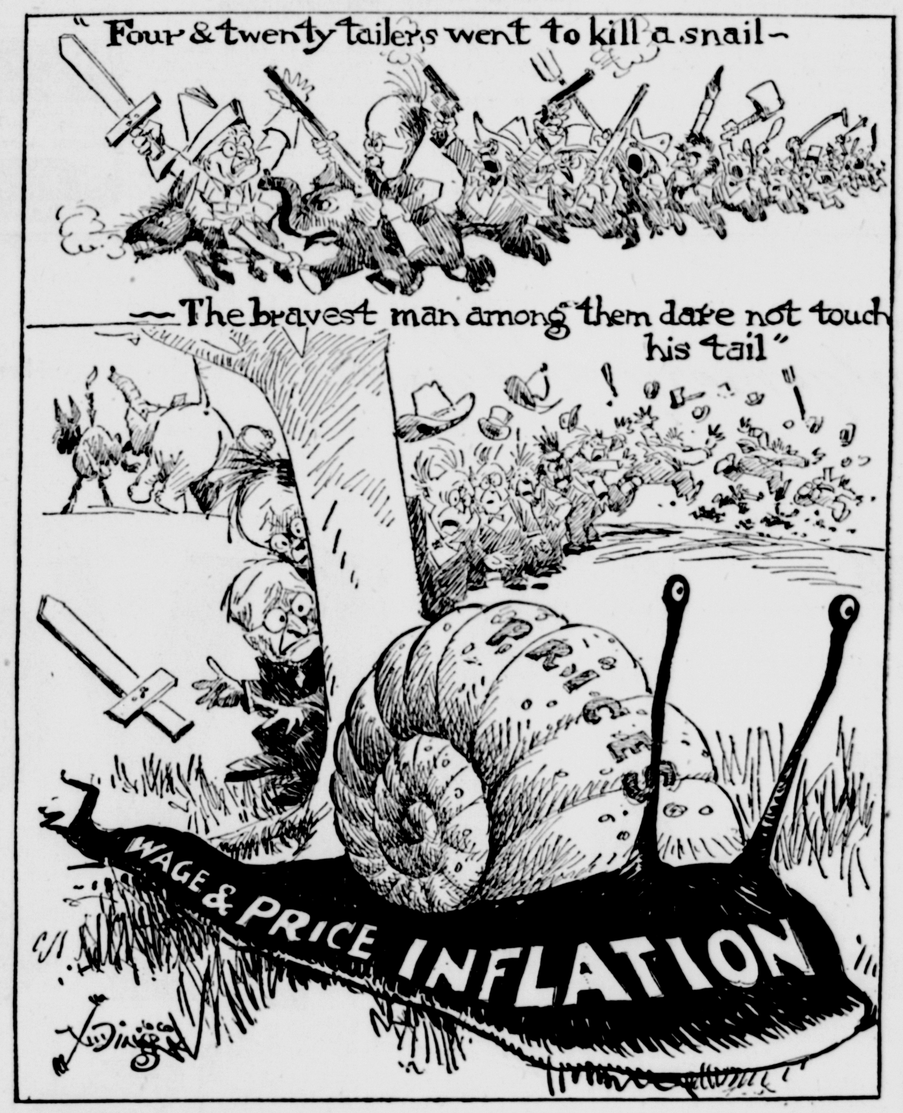
THE GREAT CRUSADE



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Thomas Of Oklahoma May Be In For Senate Trouble; Senate Republicans Will Compete With Hollywood; Czar Petrillo Offers To Yield On Recordings

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Oklahoma's slippery Senator Elmer Thomas, who finally admitted trading on the commodity market, may get a full-fledged investigation from his own colleagues.

Thomas told his side of the speculating story in a slushy letter, full of self-righteous alibis, which he sent to Senator Ferguson's investigating subcommittee.

The subcommittee was called together for a very hush-hush meeting in Ferguson's private office. Ferguson read the letter to other members impatiently snorted that the committee had better supplement the information with specific questions about Senator Thomas' speculations. A letter was then fired back bluntly asking Thomas for names and dates of all commodities purchased.

However, Washington observers are still keeping their fingers crossed as to whether the Senators really will probe another member of "the club." After all, Senator Ferguson pulled his punches when serious charges were brought against his GOP colleague, Brewster of Maine.

GOP Goes Into Movie Business

Memories of Hollywood are still lingering from last year's razzle-dazzle before the un-American Affairs Committee. As a result, GOP Senators are now planning to make movies of their own—complete with Hollywood stars and animated cartoons. They plan to produce 25 political films before November, glorifying the accomplishments of the 80th Congress.

The movie idea was given the rousing approval of Senate Republicans the other day at a secret luncheon-caucus, which touched off the 1948 Senatorial campaign. First movie will go into production tentatively May 1.

Actors George Murphy, Robert Montgomery and Adolphe Menjou were mentioned as loyal Republicans who could be called upon to help with the project. But the main actors will be men such as Bob Taft and Arthur Vandenberg, who played the heavy roles in Congress. They will be shown in action on the screen, occasionally in glamorous technicolor. Cartoon characters also will be used, scrambling over charts and graphs and gaily pointing out favorable statistics.

Spadework for the project was done by three Senate secretaries—Charles Egenroad (Secretary to Senator Capehart of Indiana), Art Burgess (Senator Cain of Washington), and Charles Kapnik (Senator Martin of Pennsylvania).

Egenroad told Senators at the private luncheon that the movies would cost approximately $50,000.

"Do you think that will be enough?" broke in New Jersey's Senator Albert Hawkes, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He suggested $100,000 as a more likely figure.

Senator Arthur Watkins of Utah wanted to be sure the movies would not be used to campaign in the primaries, and Senator Joe Ball of Minnesota asked how the Democrats were going to be dragged in to see the pictures.

"What good will it do just to show them to Republicans?" he asked.

"Senator, if you announce there is going to be a show, it will bring out more Republicans," Burgess spoke up. "Then when election day comes along, maybe some of those Republicans who would rather play golf will come out and vote instead."

Note—Smitten with the same movie bug, the Democratic party is quietly buying up 16-mm, movie projectors to show political films. Economy-minded Republicans are not buying any projectors, plan to ask each county chairman to borrow a projector instead.

Czar Petrillo Unbends

Music czar James Petrillo has hinted to the House Labor Committee that he might be willing to call off his ban on recordings if the Taft-Hartley Law is altered. He has asked for changes in the law in order to stretch the union's welfare fund to the full 200,000 membership.

As the law now stands, only the 32,500 musicians who do live broadcasting and recording are eligible for welfare benefits.

Petrillo made his proposal to Acting Chairman Gerald Landis of Indiana, indicated he would be willing to enter negotiations to change his ban on recordings if the law could be revised. Landis consulted two of his colleagues on the Committee, Congressmen Charles Kersten of Wisconsin and Richard Nixon of California, who said they would not object to considering a Taft-Hartley revision.

Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Ambassador to Poland Stanton Griffis, who once praised Hitler, has told General Marshall he's already bored with Poland, wants a new diplomatic post. When Marshall asked advisers where Griffis should be sent, one replied: "There are only two posts open, Paris and Palm Beach. I'm for sending him back to Palm Beach." . . . Secretary of State Marshall has given up hope of getting the Marshall Plan in operation by May 1. His new date is June 15. . . The White House is afraid Henry Wallace will use the compulsory-draft issue to give Truman an awful licking. . . . The National Lawyers Guild will award its 1947 Roosevelt Memorial Medal for patriotic service in behalf of Democracy to Congressman Adolph Sabath of Illinois, a tireless battler for the underdog.

Tin-Can Shortage Again

A significant backstage battle, affecting every housewife who buys canned goods, has the canning industry in an uproar.

The Commerce Department summoned canning representatives behind closed doors last week and announced that tin was going back on a wartime basis. This means tin-can production must be curtailed and the manufacture of odd-size cans discontinued.

Loudest protest came from the Campbell Soup who accused the Administration of selling the American public short in order to supply containers for relief food, bound for Europe.

The industry finally proposed voluntary controls, but the Government would not waver, complaining that not a single ton of strategic tin has been stockpiled since the end of the war. The Army and Navy are demanding that emergency reserves of tin must be built up in case of another Pearl Harbor.

Note—The Army and Navy also demand emergency reserves of oil. There are none today.

Baruch Sees Achievement Of Economic Stability By 1949

By MARK SULLIVAN

The statement of Mr. Bernard M. Baruch to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is built upon a keystone affirmation:

"The foundations of economic stability in the world . . . can be brought into existence inside of two years." (Mr. Baruch gives a date, December 31 of next year.)

Achievement of economic stability in the world includes, of course, the checking of inflation in the United States. About this also Mr. Baruch makes a keystone affirmation. He says it can be done:

"If inflation were tackled vigorously by putting off less essential activity both of government and individuals, postponing tax reduction, reducing farm (crop) prices, holding wages stable, taking small profits, and increasing production. . . ."

The steps necessary to take are thus grouped in Mr. Baruch's summary, and in his amplification of them in his statement as a whole, because they are grouped in nature. Checking inflation must be a coordinated program, each of the steps having a bearing on the others, and any one step ineffective or impossible unless the other steps are taken also.

Statement Convincing

This necessity for coordination is one of the several qualities that make Mr. Baruch's statement utterly convincing. Another is its all-embracing quality, Mr. Baruch speaks of it as an "across the nation anti-inflation program." It calls for cooperation by all groups, and on each imposes sacrifices or the foregoing of advantage.

When Mr. Baruch turns to the Marshall Plan for European aid, and the Siamese twin relation between it and inflation in America, he makes another keystone affirmation. He says that if the whole of the program he proposes is put into effect promptly, we "can boost production sufficiently to cover the whole Marshall Plan and still break the present inflationary cycle almost immediately, and cancel part of the national debt, while laying the groundwork for orderly tax reduction in the future."

Mr. Baruch not only accepts the Marshall Plan, as necessary for economic stability in the world, but make sadditions, to the end that the plan be surely effective. "We cannot do a thing and not do it at the same time."

With characteristic clear-sightedness and courage Mr. Baruch asks, and answers, a question: "How can the peoples of Europe go to work and re-establish themselves unless freed from the fear of another scourging—economically, politically and spiritually." In a touch of eloquence that pervades the statement, Mr. Baruch says: "We must above all make the future worth working for."

To create the spirit of security, Mr. Baruch proposes a plan for defense, to be achieved by the European nations cooperatively and to have assurance of backing from us. His plan is "that as many countries as are willing band themselves into a political, economic and defense union. . . . That the United States and such others as will join us mutually guarantee the nations entering this union against coercion. By guarantee I mean a firm promise to go to war in joint defense if any of them are attacked.

Checking of Inflation Possible

Here is a statement that the American people and Congress are called to pass upon. While it must speak for itself after it is understood, it comes with the momentum derived from qualities of Mr. Baruch with which the country is familiar, including his proved vision in the past. Any thoughtful person has known that the checking of inflation is possible, that the impediments to it are the intricacy of the process, the courage required, and the willingness of people and groups of them to compare in mutual sacrifice or restraint.

The part of Mr. Baruch's plan that will give rise to some surprise and call for faith, is his proposal that the nations of Europe receiving aid through the Marshall Plan be given assurance of security, by guarantee from us and such nations as join with us, of defense against attack. But in fact it has already been realized that political independence is essential to recovery. It would be little use to aid Italy for example, to recover and then stop, leaving her open to attack from Communism coming through Yugoslavia or otherwise. There is now in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs a bill providing for the substance of what Mr. Baruch proposes.

Congress Getting Itself Entangled In "War Powers"

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Is there a "state of war" against Germany and another "state of war" against Russia?

Congress is beginning to get itself entangled in the "revival" of "war powers" in order to combat inflation, and yet there is no preamble stating what war America is supposed to be fighting at the moment.

Last month, for example, the so-called anti-inflation bill undertook to "revive" certain provisions of the Second War Powers Act and referred to that law by name. But the Second War Powers Act was passed originally with a preamble reciting the existence of a state of war against Germany and Japan. In that war, Russia was an ally so the use of the same war powers to cover situations arising out of complications with our Allies presents some embarrassments. Technically speaking, the Russians are still our allies.

Congress, of course, has the constitutional power to declare war. The majority, however, did not say in December that it was reviving certain war powers for the President because of any new war. The word "revive" was used to imply that in some way the war against Germany and Japan was continuing to exist. Yet all the measures being taken for interim aid to Europe and for the Marshall Plan will involve the power to allocate the use of commodities because these articles are needed to combat communism or to stop the progress of Soviet Russia.

Congress Faces Alternatives

It would appear that Congress, if anxious to proceed under its war powers, either would have to declare a "state of war" existing as against Russia in order to revive war powers or else to invent a new set of war powers—those of "undeclared war."

The United States, during the period between September 1939 and December 1941, took several legislative steps as a part of the national emergency and the broad phrase "national defense" was availed of to cover all manner of preparations for resisting possible attack by either Germany or Japan. Today, however, none of the legislation to allocate commodities has been tied up with national defense, though there have been references to a "revival" of war powers.

It is the mention of "war powers" which could conceivably cause embarrassment to our government, for certainly nobody is ready to say officially in any laws or regulations that a "state of war" exists against Russia. Likewise, it can hardly be argued personally that America is still at war with a non-existent German government.

Unnecessary To Revive Powers

Congress in the past has not required that a peace treaty be signed in order to end a "state of war." In 1921, Congress by a unilateral resolution, declared the state of war with Germany to be at an end. Otherwise there could have been an indefinite postponement of the official ending of a war and powers given in wartime emergencies could have been invoked at will during peacetime.

It is really unnecessary for Congress to revive any war powers if it wishes to combat inflation. The constitutional power to regulate commerce is broad enough to cover almost anything that Congress may wish to do along economic lines. For the Supreme Court has said that Congress has virtually unlimited power now over production, wages, and prices. It isn't really essential for legislative purposes to have a declared or undeclared war. Besides, our diplomats will be growing uneasy if they are questioned as to the meaning of legislation that specifically speaks of a "revival" of war powers. These can hardly be explained as being directed against an enemy that has already been conquered, when everybody knows such legislation is really aimed at a situation created by an entirely different "enemy."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

EDWARD J. FLYNN, of the Bronx, produced in his book, "You're the Boss," an outstanding sociological study of American life. No college professor could have written it, because no one of them could have had as intimate a view of the actual operations of our political system. I quote the following paragraph from Flynn's book:

"One of the main reasons for Willkie's defeat was the lack of support given him by the regular Republican organizations. The organizations certainly did not want him to be nominated. He overwhelmed them in Philadelphia. Unquestionably they left the convention with no kindly spirit toward their candidate. This feeling got worse, aggravated by the fact that Willkie took every opportunity he could to insult directly or indirectly the politicians in the Republican party. . ."

Wendell Willkie could have been elected in 1940. Flynn comes pretty close to admitting that and I am sure that Jim Farley, when his full book appears, will come close to admitting it. Willkie was originally projected by a group of businessmen associated with the National Association of Manufacturers who were seeking someone to out-glamour Roosevelt. Long before the Convention, he was invited to address the N. A. M. big dinner at the Waldorf Astoria. They saw a chance of defeating Roosevelt. There was money to burn. I know this situation intimately and directly because I was then associated with the N. A. M.

The Republican politicians did not want Willkie. There were two reasons: 1. He was not a Republican. He had been a Democrat, actually a member of Tammany Hall; 2. They regarded him as the businessman's lawyer, not as a leader of their party. Flynn is correct but he understates the situation: It is not only that the regular Republican organizations failed to support Willkie; they actually voted against him.

I traveled from one end of the country to the other in that campaign, stumping for the Republican party. I wrote on November 8, 1940:

". . . I found that Republican leaders and workers were without contact often even with the officers of the party. There was discouragement, resentment and disappointment. A campaign is not a crusade and it is won not by noise in unison but by enthusiastic and coordinated competence. The latter was lacking throughout."

The major political parties of this country are not membership organizations, but they consist of a large body of local workers who are often associated in local clubs. These are controlled by District Leaders who, in turn, are controlled by County Leaders. The really effective political agents are the County Leaders. They make or break candidates. They are strictly organization men. They prefer organization men.

Of the many Republican candidates, three are strictly organization men, Robert A. Taft, Thomas E. Dewey and Joseph Martin, Jr. Stassen is an organization Republican but he is not really a candidate. Eisenhower is a rank outsider, projected by such outsiders as Thomas J. Watson of the International Business Machines Corporation and Joseph E. Davies, Mr. Roosevelt's Mission to Moscow. The manager of the Draft Eisenhower movement, Stuart Scheftel, is a youngish man who has been all over the map, supporting independent movements in the Republican party but rarely a regular. His over-anxiety to achieve political leadership quickly and without practiced experience has made of a maverick a mugwump.

Dewey's announcement of his candidacy, while late, clarifies the atmosphere in New York. As long as he did not announce, candidates were playing for some votes in the New York delegation. From now on that delegation, which has not yet been chosen, will be a unit. And that unit will be for Dewey. In fact, one of Dewey's managers is Edwin F. Jaeckle, who, dissatisfied after the 1944 campaign, has now returned to the fold. He is the Republican boss of Buffalo, the city in which General "Wild Bill" Donovan, of the Eisenhower boom, may claim some political support.

The Republican party will resist being raided by outsiders in 1948. Most of the delegates will be organization men who want a Republican candiate, by which they will mean one who has been a Republican in the foul years between 1932 and 1946 as well as in the hopeful year when Wallace produces a Third Party to help out.

Today's Talk

Interested People

Nothing is more broadening and enriching to a person than to have an intelligent assortment of interests, and the more varied they are the better. No one can call such a person dull, for he radiates his interests, and inspires others to follow in his train.

A person with these interests invites the interest of others. We should be interested in all whom we meet. We should be good listeners. We never know when a valuable opportunity may present itself. I have a friend who listened to another talk, and from that talk got a clue which put him in business for himself.

Many of my most beloved books have been acquired by listening to interesting people as they talked about books, giving me the name of many an author, of whom I had never heard, and of man a one whom I have heard about, but in whom I had never become interested.

We should be interested in everything that pertains to a more rounded life. My first experience with a microscope opened up a new world to me, as it will for anyone. I like people who seem to be interested in everything. They are much more companionable than others.

This newspaper could not be published were it not for the fact that people are interested in what is going on in the world and in people's minds. Not even a feature is successful that does not draw the interest of readers. Everything would bog down were there no interested people in the world!

Every revelation in nature, every new bit of knowledge learned about flowers, animals, or the substance that makes up this earth is something added to one's education. And the more one learns the more one wants to learn. We do not choose our friends among dullards!

Interested people are the only ones to who many of us can hope to appeal for an audience. But we must be interesting to hold them! If we are not, then they walk out on us. As they do to the orator or the playmaker, or the author. However, we can never tell when a person, or a play, or a book, may gain our interest until we test each.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Did you know that we once used camels in this country as a means of transportation?

Well, neither did I until I heard it the other afternoon from my friend, the watchmaker.

Billy Rose

Those of you who follow these pieces know that whenever I run short of material I break the crystal on a two-dollar wrist watch and go down to Greenwich Village to have it fixed. The little gent who does the fixing is a ragbag of information, and while he tinkers with my timepiece, we talk about thissa and thatta. When I walk out of his shop with a new crystal, nine times out of ten I also have a notion for a column.

As I was waiting for my watch the other afternoon, a variety of bongs and bings announced it was three o'clock. The old watchmaker smiled at his little friends on the shelves as if to thank them for their promptness. A few seconds later, the cuckoo in an old Bavarian clock popped out of its tiny door, wheezed three times and disappeared.

"You must pardon Hugo," the watchmaker said. "The damp weather has affected his voice."

"The weather has affected a lot of things," I said, fishing around for a subject to get the old boy going. "It took me almost an hour to get down here."

"A lot of my customers are complaining," said the watchmaker. "Maybe we shouldn't have given up the idea of using camels in this country."

I settled back happily. "Take your time with that watch," I said. "It has great sentimental value."

The old man looked at my two-buck bargain special and smiled. "Back in 1850," he began, "a Senator named Davis from Mississippi got excited about the idea of using camels to solve our transportation problems. In those days, we had a few railroads in the East, but nothing much out West. The Senator made some speeches in Congress about the "ships of the desert," and opined that they could be used to haul stuff and people over long distances.

"In 1853, President Franklin Pierce appointed Davis Secretary of War. One of the first things the new Secretary did was to talk Congress into appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of camels.

"Army officers were sent to the near East, and a few months later, 33 dromedaries were put on a square-rigger and shipped to New York. One of the camels was so tall they had to cut a hole in the deck so it could stretch its neck once in a while.

"When the humpbacked beasts arrived, a Lieutenant Edward F. Beale was appointed commander of the first Camel Corps in the history of the United States Army. His instructions were to load each camel with 500 pounds of freight and try them out on a test run from New York to California.

"The military hit its first snag when it came to loading the camels. Our Army officers wouldn't listen to the Turkish and Armenian kids who had come across with the animals, and insisted on loading them according to Standard Operating Procedure.

"Two days out of New York, some of the camels began to limp, and others came down with sore backs. What was even worse, the soldiers who were riding them threatened to desert. They claimed the continual rocking of these "ships of the desert" made them seasick.

"This strange trek across the country was front-page stuff for months. People by the hundred thousands lined the roads to gawk and crack wise at this Oriental version of the Pony Express. By the time the caravan got to Texas, Lieutenant Beall felt like shooting the village funny boys who were forever stopping him and saying, 'Ain't you lost your bearings, son? The Gobi Desert is 7,000 miles over thataway.'

"Secretary of War Davis paid no attention to the kidding and criticism. He ordered forty more of the desert delivery wagons.

"And then something happened which made him forget all about the camels. As a matter of fact, the whole country turned its attention to something else. A few months later the critters were put up for auction. Some were bought by zoos, some by people who thought they'd make interesting pets. Several escaped, and for years roamed the deserts of Arizona and Nevada."

The old man snapped the new crystal in place, put my watch up to his ear and listened. "Here it is," he said, "and good as new."

"Much obliged," I said to the John Kieran of 11th Street. "Incidentally, what was it that made Davis forget about the camels?"

3 Unions Block Labor Peace — Refuse Wage Boost Already Accepted by 19 Other Railroad Unions!

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America, representing 125,000 railroad employes, have refused to accept the offer of the Railroads of a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour.

This is the same increase awarded 1,000,000 non-operating employes by an arbitration board early in September, 1947.

This is the same increase accepted by 175,000 conductors, trainmen and switchmen by agreement on November 14, 1947.

Agreements have been made with 1,175,000 employes, represented by nineteen unions. But these three unions, representing only 125,000 men, are trying to get more. They are demanding also many new working rules not embraced in the settlement with the conductors and trainmen.

Incidentally, the Switchmen's Union of North America represents only about 7 per cent of all railroad switchmen, the other 93 per cent being represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and covered by the settlement with that union.

Strike Threat

The leaders of these three unions spread a strike ballot while negotiations were still in progress. This is not a secret vote but is taken by union leaders and votes are signed by the employes in the presence of union representatives.

When direct negotiations failed, the leaders of these three unions refused to join the railroads in asking the National Mediation Board to attempt to settle the dispute, but the Board took jurisdiction at the request of the carriers and has been earnestly attempting since November 24, 1947, to bring about a settlement. The Board on January 15, 1948, announced its inability to reach a mediation settlement. The leaders of the unions rejected the request of the Mediation Board to arbitrate. The railroads accepted.

What Now?

The Unions having refused to arbitrate, the Railway Labor Act provides for the appointment of a fact-finding board by the President.

The railroads feel it is due shippers, passengers, employes, stockholders, and the general public to know that throughout these negotiations and in mediation, they have not only exerted every effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement, but they have also met every requirement of the Railway Labor Act respecting the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration of labor disputes.

It seems unthinkable that these three unions, representing less than 10 per cent of railroad employes, and those among the highest paid, can successfully maintain the threat of a paralyzing strike against the interest of the entire country — and against 90 per cent of their fellow employes.

The threat of a strike cannot justify granting more favorable conditions to 125,000 employes than have already been put in effect for 1,175,000, nor will it alter the opposition of the railroads to unwarranted wage increases or to changes in working rules which are not justified.

A glance at the box shows what employes represented by the Engineers and Firemen make. They are among the highest paid in the ranks of labor in the United States, if not the highest.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (prewar) and 1947. Also shown is what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15½ cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Billy Rose

Did you know that we once used camels in this country as a means of transportation?

Well, neither did I until I heard it the other afternoon from my friend, the watchmaker.

Those of you who follow these pieces know that whenever I run short of material I break the crystal on a two-dollar wrist watch and go down to Greenwich Village to have it fixed. The little gent who does the fixing is a ragbag of information, and while he tinkers with my timepiece, we talk about thissa and thatta. When I walk out of his shop with a new crystal, nine times out of ten I also have a notion for a column.

As I was waiting for my watch the other afternoon, a variety of bongs and bings announced it was three o'clock. The old watchmaker smiled at his little friends on the shelves as if to thank them for their promptness. A few seconds later, the cuckoo in an old Bavarian clock popped out of its tiny door, wheezed three times and disappeared.

"You must pardon Hugo," the watchmaker said. "The damp weather has affected his voice."

"The weather has affected a lot of things," I said, fishing around for a subject to get the old boy going. "It took me almost an hour to get down here."

"A lot of my customers are complaining," said the watchmaker. "Maybe we shouldn't have given up the idea of using camels in this country."

I settled back happily. "Take your time with that watch," I said. "It has great sentimental value."

The old man looked at my two-buck bargain special and smiled. "Back in 1850," he began, "a Senator named Davis from Mississippi got excited about the idea of using camels to solve our transportation problems. In those days, we had a few railroads in the East, but nothing much out West. The Senator made some speeches in Congress about the "ships of the desert," and opined that they could be used to haul stuff and people over long distances.

"In 1853, President Franklin Pierce appointed Davis Secretary of War. One of the first things the new Secretary did was to talk Congress into appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of camels.

"Army officers were sent to the near East, and a few months later, 33 dromedaries were put on a square-rigger and shipped to New York. One of the camels was so tall they had to cut a hole in the deck so it could stretch its neck once in a while.

"When the humpbacked beasts arrived, a Lieutenant Edward F. Beale was appointed commander of the first Camel Corps in the history of the United States Army. His instructions were to load each camel with 500 pounds of freight and try them out on a test run from New York to California.

"The military hit its first snag when it came to loading the camels. Our Army officers wouldn't listen to the Turkish and Armenian kids who had come across with the animals, and insisted on loading them according to Standard Operating Procedure.

"Two days out of New York, some of the camels began to limp, and others came down with sore backs. What was even worse, the soldiers who were riding them threatened to desert. They claimed the continual rocking of these "ships of the desert" made them seasick.

"This strange trek across the country was front-page stuff for months. People by the hundred thousands lined the roads to gawk and crack wise at this Oriental version of the Pony Express. By the time the caravan got to Texas, Lieutenant Beall felt like shooting the village funny boys who were forever stopping him and saying, 'Ain't you lost your bearings, son? The Gobi Desert is 7,000 miles over thataway.'

"Secretary of War Davis paid no attention to the kidding and criticism. He ordered forty more of the desert delivery wagons.

"And then something happened which made him forget all about the camels. As a matter of fact, the whole country turned its attention to something else. A few months later the critters were put up for auction. Some were bought by zoos, some by people who thought they'd make interesting pets. Several escaped, and for years roamed the deserts of Arizona and Nevada."

The old man snapped the new crystal in place, put my watch up to his ear and listened. "Here it is," he said, "and good as new."

"Much obliged," I said to the John Kieran of 11th Street. "Incidentally, what was it that made Davis forget about the camels?"

"A little thing called the Civil War," smiled the watchmaker. "This Senator Davis answered to the first name of Jefferson. You probably know him as Jeff Davis, President of the Confederacy during the War Between the States."

six days a week. His drinking did not interfere with his work, he said.

Koelker To Leave City

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, in presenting the case against Joseph Koelker, said the man had been arrested 19 times by city police in the six-month period and, in addition, had spent three months in county jail. All of the charges were for various offenses of drunk and disorderly conduct and vagrancy.

City Police testified Koelker apparently had no home, but slept wherever he was at the time he got sleepy.

Koelker was not represented by counsel. He told the court he was a veteran of World War I and had worked as a machinist 17 years. He intimated drink had "interfered" with his following his trade.

Koelker inserted humor into the proceedings when, after telling the court he had been in jail 42 days and being asked if he was "pretty good now," said, "Well, judge, I've been sober during that time."

The court sentenced Koelker to six months in the House of Correction but suspended sentence on condition he return to Baltimore and stay there. Koelker said he would and could reside there with a married daughter.

When Koelker asked for two days grace to raise money for the trip, Chief Judge William A. Huster said he thought it could be arranged for the sheriff to take him to Baltimore or that a ticket would be obtained.

Additional criminal appeal cases are to come before the Court today, with the petit jury instructed to return at 9:15 a. m. A number of Civil cases are assigned for next week, attaches indicated.

six days a week. His drinking did not interfere with his work, he said.

Associate Judge George Henderson suggested that the family take over his pay check and allot him spending money.

"We don't know how, but there's got to be some way of stopping those five bottles," Judge Henderson said.

Suspend Jail Sentence

Kenneth Anderson, this city, found guilty of assault upon Mrs. Myrtle Clingerman, was fined $50 and costs and received a suspended 60-day sentence in the county jail. Anderson was paroled for two years on condition he continue on good behavior and abstain from intoxicants. Mrs. Clingerman claimed Anderson struck her two or three times. Anderson told the court he slapped Mrs. Clingerman because she had hit him on the head with a bottle the night before.

Koelker To Leave City

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, in presenting the case against Joseph Koelker, said the man had been arrested 19 times by city police in the six-month period and, in addition, had spent three months in county jail. All of the charges were for various offenses of drunk and disorderly conduct and vagrancy.

City Police testified Koelker apparently had no home, but slept wherever he was at the time he got sleepy.

Koelker was not represented by counsel. He told the court he was a veteran of World War I and had worked as a machinist 17 years. He intimated drink had "interfered" with his following his trade.

Koelker inserted humor into the proceedings when, after telling the court he had been in jail 42 days and being asked if he was "pretty good now," said, "Well, judge, I've been sober during that time."

The court sentenced Koelker to six months in the House of Correction but suspended sentence on condition he return to Baltimore and stay there. Koelker said he would and could reside there with a married daughter.

When Koelker asked for two days grace to raise money for the trip, Chief Judge William A. Huster said he thought it could be arranged for the sheriff to take him to Baltimore or that a ticket would be obtained.

Additional criminal appeal cases are to come before the Court today, with the petit jury instructed to return at 9:15 a. m. A number of Civil cases are assigned for next week, attaches indicated.

Stomch Distress Is Gone After Ten Years of Suffering

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Follow His Lead And Don't Chase Him Is Advice To "Broken-hearted"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19, and have known a fellow 21 for two years. We went out together quite a lot, and then he enlisted in the army.

Recently, he came home for a 30-day furlough, and for two nights I went out with him. On the second night he told me that he would be falling in love with me if he kept seeing me, and he said that he couldn't fall in love with me because he loves another girl. This other girl never goes out with him and just ignores him.

Do you think he is just telling me this for reasons of his own? It doesn't seem to me that it could be true. Do you think I should go on seeing him and try to win his love, or do you think I should try to get over this? I have really fallen in love with him. He will be going overseas soon.

"BROKEN-HEARTED"

Dear "Broken-hearted":

It seems to me that whether or not what this young man has told you is true, it adds up to the same thing: that he isn't really very much interested in you. And as for your question about continuing to see him, this will be answered for you, won't it, when he goes overseas?

Better wait and see if he writes to you after he goes, and be guided by that. If he does, take your cue from the tone of his letter; if he doesn't write, cross him off your list and stop thinking about him.

Good Way To Meet Girl

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a young lady in my neighborhood whose parents know mine well, but our parents do not visit each other at their homes.

Would it be considered proper for these parents to visit each other—one extending the invitation first and inviting the young lady along?

"A.R."

Dear "A.R.":

Let's see if I have this straight. What I gather from your letter is that you would like to have your parents invite the parents of this young lady to come to your home and bring their daughter with them, so that you would have an opportunity to meet her.

Certainly this would be quite proper, and a perfectly natural thing for them to do, since the two sets of parents are already acquainted. It would also be very smart to make the young lady's acquaintance under such approved auspices. Good luck to you!

From Sheepskin to Sheep

There aren't too many college graduates in our town. Good honest thinking, yes...but most folks went from high school into farming.

No harm in that! But I admire veterans like Dick Newcomb... who's 23, but going to college under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Intends to be a sheep farmer—but a better-informed, more scientific farmer, with more know-how!

And veterans like Dick aren't letting anything interfere. What little relaxation they allow themselves is in the form of needed exercise, or books, or conversation and an occasional glass of beer with friends.

Seems as if, just by having their education postponed, they've put a higher value on it... and on things like temperance (that glass of beer, for instance), understanding, and good citizenship. And from where I sit, when Dick gets his sheepskin—he won't have lost much time. He'll be an even better farmer than his Dad. (Exactly what Dad wanted!)

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Follow His Lead And Don't Chase Him Is Advice To "Broken-hearted"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19, and have known a fellow 21 for two years. We went out together quite a lot, and then he enlisted in the army.

Recently, he came home for a 30-day furlough, and for two nights I went out with him. On the second night he told me that he would be falling in love with me if he kept seeing me, and he said that he couldn't fall in love with me because he loves another girl. This other girl never goes out with him and just ignores him.

Do you think he is just telling me this for reasons of his own? It doesn't seem to me that it could be true. Do you think I should go on seeing him and try to win his love, or do you think I should try to get over this? I have really fallen in love with him. He will be going overseas soon.

It seems to me that whether or not what this young man has told you is true, it adds up to the same thing: that he isn't really very much interested in you. And as for your question about continuing to see him, this will be answered for you, won't it, when he goes overseas?

Baseball Loops May Bring Back Suspended Stars

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — It's really touching, this sublime faith sports leaders have in each other's integrity. If one of them gets change for a dollar from another one and counts it twice, he just wants to make sure he didn't get too much, that's all.

Recently the National Collegiate Athletic Association officials met and passed rules and regulations governing the recruiting and paying of athletes.

All honorable men, these NCAA officials. So what do they do? They arrange to police college football and to take punitive measures against those of their membership who try to cheat a little on their own rules.

Baseball officials long have been noted for their trusting ways, and we now learn that the minor leagues are trying to do something about the practice of signing up young ball players with invisible ink, you might say. That is, signing them to contracts with bonus items not listed.

No longer will a young farm boy with good hands and a nimble pair of feet be signed up for, say, $500 and a secret valve job on the family flivver. The valve job has to be right there in the contract.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, admits that, no matter what rules are made, sometimes the boys will get together in the haymow and try to figure out some way to get around them. He's trying to figure out a way to stop that. Just another case of trusting a man just as long as you can watch him.

Trautman also came out against player contracts bearing bonus clauses, and he has all the arguments on his side in that one. The only possible exception we might think reasonable would be a bonus clause based on attendance.

As he points out, a player signed to a contract is signed with the understanding he will do his best, and why should a man be paid extra when he does just that?

Baseball being the peculiar business it is, a player signs a contract based on what he did the year before. That is, it's a delayed payment for services rendered. The owners hope he will continue to show th form he showed in earning a bigger contract, but it's only a hope.

If a player does his best on a small salary, and his best is better than was expected of him, he'll get his reward in his next year's contract. At least that's the theory.

Jackie Robinson is reported to have signed with the Dodgers for $5,500 last year, which is $500 greater than the minimum.

Branch Rickey did not know how valuable a player Jackie would be. Jackie did his best, which was better than fair. But he was expected to do his best. He'll get his reward in a substantial increase for 1948. He might be a flop in 1948, but he'll be getting paid for what he did in 1947.

Getting back to the mutual trust of both amateur and professional sports leaders, it is an odd commentary that such men, supposedly the soul of honor, must spy on each other and threaten disciplinary action to discourage cheating by some of their number.

The rules are there, both in college football and professional baseball. If they are broken, it must be by the men who made them.

And, human nature being what it is, there always will be efforts to break them, and the family cops always will be needed.

SOVIET DELEGATION TO ATTEND OLYMPICS

ST. MORTIZ, Switzerland, Jan. 21. (AP)—A Soviet delegation will arrive here to watch the winter Olympic games, Jan. 30-Feb. 8, an official source disclosed today.

It was denied that the Russians would discuss with the Olympic Committee, scheduled to meet here at the same time, a plan for Soviet participation in the Summer Olympics at London. No such approach has been made, this source said.

The Danish swimmer's attempt, scheduled in early August during the Olympic games in London, will be made from England to France—a direction opposite to that negotiated by successful channel swimmers in the past.

SPORTSMEN WILL INVESTIGATE LEASE OF W. VA. HUNTING LAND

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Sportsmen's Association announced that Cleon W. Raese, Davis, W. K. Pritt and Ralph Rowland, Parsons, were named as a committee to investigate the leasing of more than 10,000 acres of land in Canaan Valley to Canaan Incorporated which posted that acreage during the past deer season, charging a fee to hunt on the land.

Dr. Guy Michaels, president of the association, stated the association in general is frowning upon the procedure and the organization has appointed the committee to determine if anything can be done to stop the incorporation. The sportsmen do not like to see over 10,000 acres of good hunting ground open for years suddenly closed to free access.

Deer Kill Good

The deer kill on Canaan Mountain during the past season was good, Michael reported but the deer were much smaller from inbreeding. The conservation commission will be asked to transplant some 25 to 30 antlered deer from the head of Laurel and Glady Fork to the Canaan Area.

The feature of the meeting was the 1948 season and bag limits. The Tucker County Association will recommend to Jack K. Simpson, Director of Conservation Commission, at a meeting to be held in Elkins tomorrow other items such as the stocking of trout at least 30 days prior to the opening of the season.

Dates recommended by the Tucker County Association will be trout season to open on last Saturday in April and continue until July 10, with ten brown or rainbow and 15 brook trout per day the limit catch.

Bass Season In June

Bass season they request to be opened the last Saturday in June and to continue to November 30 with ten fish per day and no size limit to any fish. Frog season is desired from July 1 to 15th with 15 per day or 40 for the season.

Other dates are: Squirrel season from October 15 to November 30 with six per day or 30 in all; Ruffed grouse, same dates with 3 per day or 18 for the season; Turkey season for the same dates with one per day or 2 for the season; Quail, November 1 to December 15, with six per day or 30 for the season; Rabbit from November 1 to January 15, with four per day or 24 for the season; and Deer season November 29th to December 4, with one per day and one per season with only antlered deer, no doe season recommended.

Youngstown-Duke Tilt Sunday Looms As "Battle Of Season"

Cubs To Seek Revenge For 66-55 Loss Here

The All-American Pro League game Sunday at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium between the Youngstown Cubs and the Cumberland Dukes has all the earmarks of "the battle of the season."

Youngstown is making a runaway of first place in the loop, having lost only two games in 13 starts in A. A. competition, and one of the losses was dealt out by the Dukes in the only game played here by the teams. The score of that game was 66-55 and Paul Birch's Ohioans insist they will atone for that loss by laying it on the Dukes on Sunday. Youngstown's other setback was by the margin of four points in Zanesville.

Confident Of Repeating

Cumberland's aggregation of Bob Fence, Lou Bell, George Geatz, Paul Oberhaus and "Pooch" Orndorff, ect., are certain they can play the high-salaried Cubs off their feet for the second successive time in Cumberland.

Youngstown has what might be called a "dream" team on their individual past record. Heading the array of basketball greats on the squad is Paul Birch, referee baiter extraordinary, but still a great player. Others are Leo Mogus, top scorer in the A. A., who starred with the Toronto Huskies last season; Harry Miller, former Seton Hall luminary; Rudy Debnar, formerly of Duquesne University; Charley Butler, former varsity captain at Notre Dame; Fred Paine, Ned Endress and Bob Hanshew, all ex-Youngstown College players.

Sunday night's game will start promptly at 9 o'clock.

Good Prelim On Tap

The preliminary game will bring together the Cumberland Amvets, leading local semi-pro quint, and the Lonaconing American Legion, which won both halves in the Interstate League last season, and have lost only two contests in two seasons of play. The prelim is set for 7:45 o'clock.

VFW Tossers Top Frostburg, 43-37

Snyder Tallies 13 Points For Winners

The Cumberland VFW tossers defeated the Frostburg Merchants, 43-37, in a close hard-fought Interstate League contest on the SS. Peter and Paul floor last night.

Frostburg hopped off to a 23-18 lead at the half but Cumberland rallied in the final two heats to cop the decision.

Snyder led the Vets offensive with six fielders and 12 points while Stewart was high man for the losers with 13 tallies on six fielders and one foul toss.

New York Is Battlefield In Pro Grid War

Leagues Present Conflicting Dates

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(INS)—All testimony short of open avowals indicated today that New York—with its three-field capacity of 165,000—has been selected as the battle-ground next fall for an all-or-nothing showdown in professional football.

Decisive action in this fight, of course, will revolve around the Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds, playing again to conflicting Sunday attendances on opposite banks of the Harlem.

But Branch Rickey in Brooklyn, instead of selling the All-America Conference franchise he recently picked up, via thumb and forefinger, has accepted the challenge and is now very active and militant. Also suddenly lavish.

Offer Conerly Bonus

Anyhow, he offered Charlie Conerly, of Mississippi, a bonus of "more than $20,000," according to his own version of the incident earlier today.

Meanwhile, the new interim policy, i.e., a purported money-no-object program, will be kept in effect. At least, so said "El Generoso" Rickey in declaring the high-stakes Conerly bidding was only the beginning.

There could be only one ending, he implied, for Brooklyn football in 1948, and added:

"I'll pay anything short of 'blood' money for a first-rate passer. I would have paid Conerly more money for an official season of play than any professional has yet received from football, but he was already committed to the Giants.

"That only means we'll have to deal elsewhere, and deal we definitely shall."

Giants Sign Stars

But the Giants have done their dealing already, having paid, or agreed to, $65,000 in bonus money alone for three 1947 college All-Americans. One of the three, Columbia's Bill Swiacki, already has signed. A second, Tony Minisi, of Pennsylvania, hasn't.

The third, Conerly, apparently accepted terms before the National Football League draft rights on him were traded to the Giants last night by the Washington Redskins for Howie Livingston and an un-named second player.

LASALLE POSTPONES BASKETBALL CONTEST WITH MORGANTOWN

LaSalle High School has been forced to postpone its game with University High School of Morgantown, W. Va., because it was unable to obtain use of SS. Peter and Paul court tonight.

The game was originally set for Friday night but due to the Allegany-Fort Hill being billed here an effort was made to move the Trojans-Explorers tilt ahead to tonight. It so happens that SS. Peter and Paul floor will be used by other teams tonight and LaSalle was forced to call off the contest with Morgantown.

Brother Gregory, director of athletics at LaSalle, contacted University High officials late Tuesday night to advise them that a home floor was not available for tonight. LaSalle hopes the Morgantown school will agree to play here at a later date.

University High is coached by Homer Fizer, former Keyser High mentor. The Trojans are undefeated, having won their first six contests.

Commissioner Wishes Peace With Mexicans

Conference Slated Between Officials

By CLAUDE WOLFF

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and organized baseball are ready to make peace with the Mexican League and welcome back many stars who jumped their teams for higher pay across the border in 1946, it was learned today.

The commissioner himself would make no statement, but from a source close to him it was said the purpose of a scheduled conference between Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, and Alejandro Aguilar Reyes, Mexican League commission, "is obvious."

Mulbry In Mexico

Mulbry is in Mexico City for a combined vacation-business visit. He said there earlier today that "sometime in the future it might not be impossible to have a fine spirit of cooperation between organized baseball in the United States and the Mexican Baseball League."

From an unquestionable source it was learned here that Chandler personally believes that if peace could be restored, it would be a good thing for baseball.

And the commissioner, after a shaky start as head man of baseball in the United States, has gone about having his own way.

Chandler also believes that the stars who jumped the major and minor leagues and subsequently were suspended for five years, probably will have paid their debt to baseball society by the time the current truce becomes a real peace, and should be given back their jobs, the source disclosed.

Owens Quit League

Among the great pla ers who were lured into the Mexican League were Pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin and Second Baseman Lou Klein of the St. Louis Cardinals; Catcher Mickey Owen of Brooklyn; and Nap Reyes, infielder, George Hausmann, second baseman, Danny Gardella, outfielder, and Pitcher Ace Adams, all of the New York Giants.

Some of them, including Owen, quit the Mexican League in disgust after a short whirl.

The Mexican League quit trying to lure American stars after it was reorganized last fall and Reyes became the head man.

To enter organized baseball, the Mexican League will have to make formal application to George Trautman, president of the National Association of Baseball Leagues (minor leagues).

Baseball Loops May Bring Back Suspended Stars

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — It's really touching, this sublime faith sports leaders have in each other's integrity. If one of them gets change for a dollar from another one and counts it twice, he just wants to make sure he didn't get too much, that's all.

Recently the National Collegiate Athletic Association officials met and passed rules and regulations governing the recruiting and paying of athletes.

All honorable men, these NCAA officials. So what do they do? They arrange to police college football and to take punitive measures against those of their membership who try to cheat a little on their own rules.

Baseball officials long have been noted for their trusting ways, and we now learn that the minor leagues are trying to do something about the practice of signing up young ball players with invisible ink, you might say. That is, signing them to contracts with bonus items not listed.

No longer will a young farm boy with good hands and a nimble pair of feet be signed up for, say, $500 and a secret valve job on the family flivver. The valve job has to be right there in the contract.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, admits that, no matter what rules are made, sometimes the boys will get together in the haymow and try to figure out some way to get around them. He's trying to figure out a way to stop that. Just another case of trusting a man just as long as you can watch him.

Trautman also came out against player contracts bearing bonus clauses, and he has all the arguments on his side in that one. The only possible exception we might think reasonable would be a bonus clause based on attendance.

As he points out, a player signed to a contract is signed with the understanding he will do his best, and why should a man be paid extra when he does just that?

Baseball being the peculiar business it is, a player signs a contract based on what he did the year before. That is, it's a delayed payment for services rendered. The owners hope he will continue to show th form he showed in earning a bigger contract, but it's only a hope.

If a player does his best on a small salary, and his best is better than was expected of him, he'll get his reward in his next year's contract. At least that's the theory.

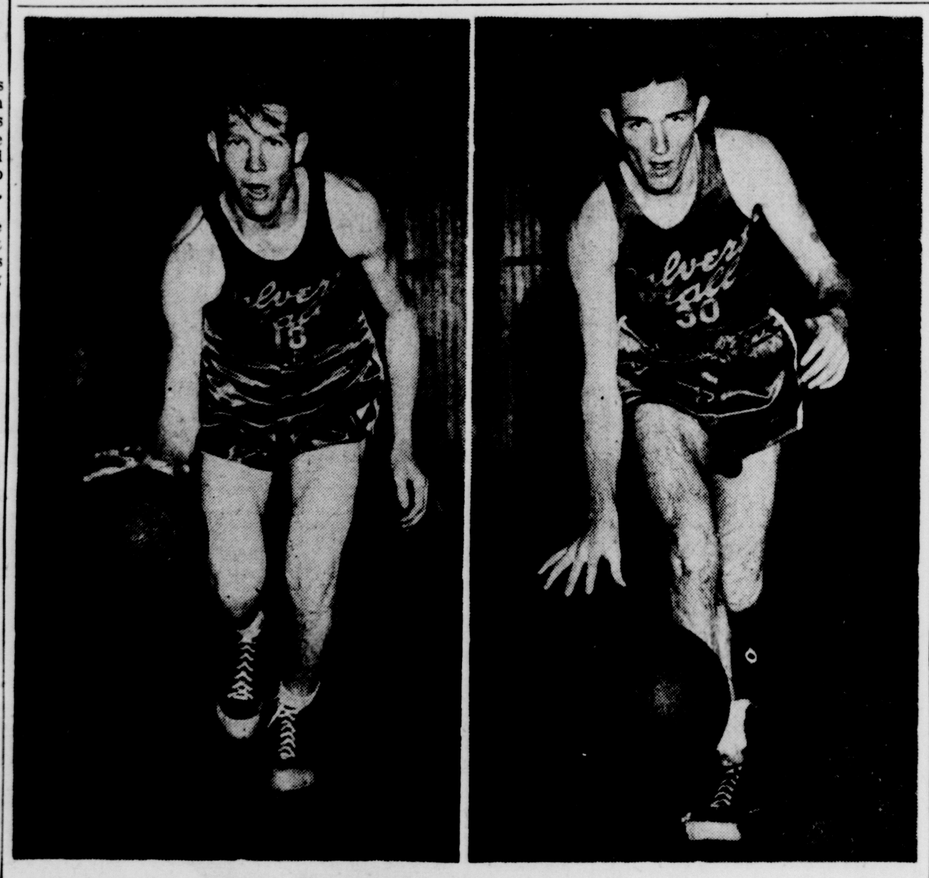
Jackie Robinson is reported to have signed with the Dodgers for $5,500 last year, which is $500 greater than the minimum.

Branch Rickey did not know how valuable a player Jackie would be. Jackie did his best, which was better than fair. But he was expected to do his best. He'll get his reward in a substantial increase for 1948. He might be a flop in 1948, but he'll be getting paid for what he did in 1947.

Getting back to the mutual trust of both amateur and professional sports leaders, it is an odd commentary that such men, supposedly the soul of honor, must spy on each other and threaten disciplinary action to discourage cheating by some of their number.

The rules are there, both in college football and professional baseball. If they are broken, it must be by the men who made them.

And, human nature being what it is, there always will be efforts to break them, and the family cops always will be needed.



TO FACE EXPLORERS—Joe Carroll, left, and Billy Lawman, right, will be seen at guard and forward positions when Calvert Hall's basketball team of Baltimore invades Cumberland Sunday to play LaSalle High School at 3 p. m. on SS. Peter and Paul court. Joe Mellendick, former centerfielder of the Baltimore Orioles of the International League, is coach of the Cardinals who won three of their first five games. Joe was asstistant cage mentor at Johns Hopkins University last season.

SPORTSMEN WILL INVESTIGATE LEASE OF W. VA. HUNTING LAND

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Sportsmen's Association announced that Cleon W. Raese, Davis, W. K. Pritt and Ralph Rowland, Parsons, were named as a committee to investigate the leasing of more than 10,000 acres of land in Canaan Valley to Canaan Incorporated which posted that acreage during the past deer season, charging a fee to hunt on the land.

Dr. Guy Michaels, president of the association, stated the association in general is frowning upon the procedure and the organization has appointed the committee to determine if anything can be done to stop the incorporation. The sportsmen do not like to see over 10,000 acres of good hunting ground open for years suddenly closed to free access.

Deer Kill Good

The deer kill on Canaan Mountain during the past season was good, Michael reported but the deer were much smaller from inbreeding. The conservation commission will be asked to transplant some 25 to 30 antlered deer from the head of Laurel and Glady Fork to the Canaan Area.

The feature of the meeting was the 1948 season and bag limits. The Tucker County Association will recommend to Jack K. Simpson, Director of Conservation Commission, at a meeting to be held in Elkins tomorrow other items such as the stocking of trout at least 30 days prior to the opening of the season.

Dates recommended by the Tucker County Association will be trout season to open on last Saturday in April and continue until July 10, with ten brown or rainbow and 15 brook trout per day the limit catch.

Bass Season In June

Bass season they request to be opened the last Saturday in June and to continue to November 30 with ten fish per day and no size limit to any fish. Frog season is desired from July 1 to 15th with 15 per day or 40 for the season.

Other dates are: Squirrel season from October 15 to November 30 with six per day or 30 in all; Ruffed grouse, same dates with 3 per day or 18 for the season; Turkey season for the same dates with one per day or 2 for the season; Quail, November 1 to December 15, with six per day or 30 for the season; Rabbit from November 1 to January 15, with four per day or 24 for the season; and Deer season November 29th to December 4, with one per day and one per season with only antlered deer, no doe season recommended.

Youngstown-Duke Tilt Sunday Looms As "Battle Of Season"

Cubs To Seek Revenge For 66-55 Loss Here

The All-American Pro League game Sunday at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium between the Youngstown Cubs and the Cumberland Dukes has all the earmarks of "the battle of the season."

Youngstown is making a runaway of first place in the loop, having lost only two games in 13 starts in A. A. competition, and one of the losses was dealt out by the Dukes in the only game played here by the teams. The score of that game was 66-55 and Paul Birch's Ohioans insist they will atone for that loss by laying it on the Dukes on Sunday. Youngstown's other setback was by the margin of four points in Zanesville.

Confident Of Repeating

Cumberland's aggregation of Bob Pence, Lou Bell, George Geatz, Paul Oberhaus and "Pooch" Orndorff, ect., are certain they can play the high-salaried Cubs off their feet for the second successive time in Cumberland.

Youngstown has what might be called a "dream" team on their individual past record. Heading the array of basketball greats on the squad is Paul Birch, referee baiter extraordinary, but still a great player. Others are Leo Mogus, top scorer in the A. A., who starred with the Toronto Huskies last season; Harry Miller, former Seton Hall luminary; Rudy Debnar, formerly of Duquesne University; Charley Butler, former varsity captain at Notre Dame; Fred Paine, Ned Endress and Bob Hanshew, all ex-Youngstown College players.

Sunday night's game will start promptly at 9 o'clock.

Good Prelim On Tap

The preliminary game will bring together the Cumberland Amvets, leading local semi-pro quint, and the Lonaconing American Legion, which won both halves in the Interstate League last season, and have lost only two contests in two seasons of play. The prelim is set for 7:45 o'clock.

Frostburg Group Organizes New Church League

Junior Cage Loop Same As Cumberland

Church officials and interested sportsmen of the Frostburg area met last night at 8 p. m. at the Salem Evangelical Reformed Church to elect officers and make plans for the formation of a Frostburg Junior Church Basketball League, similar to the Sunday School League here in Cumberland.

Harold Fearer, president of the Cumberland Sunday School League was present and outlined the by-laws and policies of the Cumberland loop and explained details for the formation of the new circuit.

Officers Elected

Officers elected were Walter Mackay, president; vice-president, John Geis; and secretary, Joe Struntz.

President Mackay stated that league play would begin in about two weeks, or just as soon as the machinery for the operation of the loop had been set up.

Harold Fearer, Cliff Fearer, Eddie Finzel, Ray Middleton, Jake Carrington and other prominent sports officials in the area will aid in the drawing up of the rules and by-laws for the new league.

Mackay said that all games are tentatively planned to be played on the Beall High School gym floor at Frostburg and that teams would be under direction of coaches to be appointed by church officials.

Nine Churches Represented

Nine churches were represented at the meeting. They were First Methodist, Episcopal, First Presbyterian, St. Paul's Lutheran, Zion Evangelical Reformed, Welch Memorial, Zilman Methodist, Salem Evangelical Reformed and St. Michael's.

Another meeting is planned next Monday, January 26 at the Salem Evangelical Reformed church at a time to be announced later, Mackay added.

New York Is Battlefield In Pro Grid War

Leagues Present Conflicting Dates

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(INS)—All testimony short of open avowals indicated today that New York—with its three-field capacity of 165,000—has been selected as the battle-ground next fall for an all-or-nothing showdown in professional football.

Decisive action in this fight, of course, will revolve around the Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds, playing again to conflicting Sunday attendances on opposite banks of the Harlem.

But Branch Rickey in Brooklyn, instead of selling the All-America Conference franchise he recently picked up, via thumb and forefinger, has accepted the challenge and is now very active and militant. Also suddenly lavish.

Offer Conerly Bonus

Anyhow, he offered Charlie Conerly, of Mississippi, a bonus of "more than $20,000," according to his own version of the incident earlier today.

Meanwhile, the new interim policy, i.e., a purported money-no-object program, will be kept in effect. At least, so said "El Generoso" Rickey in declaring the high-stakes Conerly bidding was only the beginning.

There could be only one ending, he implied, for Brooklyn football in 1948, and added:

"I'll pay anything short of 'blood' money for a first-rate passer. I would have paid Conerly more money for an official season of play than any professional has yet received from football, but he was already committed to the Giants.

"That only means we'll have to deal elsewhere, and deal we definitely shall."

Giants Sign Stars

But the Giants have done their dealing already, having paid, or agreed to, $65,000 in bonus money alone for three 1947 college All-Americans. One of the three, Columbia's Bill Swiacki, already has signed. A second, Tony Minisi, of Pennsylvania, hasn't.

The third, Conerly, apparently accepted terms before the National Football League draft rights on him were traded to the Giants last night by the Washington Redskins for Howie Livingston and an un-named second player.

LASALLE POSTPONES BASKETBALL CONTEST WITH MORGANTOWN

LaSalle High School has been forced to postpone its game with University High School of Morgantown, W. Va., because it was unable to obtain use of SS. Peter and Paul court tonight.

The game was originally set for Friday night but due to the Allegany-Fort Hill being billed here an effort was made to move the Trojans-Explorers tilt ahead to tonight. It so happens that SS. Peter and Paul floor will be used by other teams tonight and LaSalle was forced to call off the contest with Morgantown.

Brother Gregory, director of athletics at LaSalle, contacted University High officials late Tuesday night to advise them that a home floor was not available for tonight. LaSalle hopes the Morgantown school will agree to play here at a later date.

University High is coached by Homer Fizer, former Keyser High mentor. The Trojans are undefeated, having won their first six contests.

Giants Get Ertman

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 21—(AP)—Hank Ertman, former Superior College halfback, has signed a contract with the New York Giants of the National Football League, Ole Haugsrud, Scout for the Giants, said today.

Commissioner Wishes Peace With Mexicans

By CLAUDE WOLFF

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and organized baseball are ready to make peace with the Mexican League and welcome back many stars who jumped their teams for higher pay across the border in 1946, it was learned today.

The commissioner himself would make no statement, but from a source close to him it was said the purpose of a scheduled conference between Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, and Alejandro Aguilar Reyes, Mexican League commission, "is obvious."

Mulbry In Mexico

Mulbry is in Mexico City for a combined vacation-business visit. He said there earlier today that "sometime in the future it might not be impossible to have a fine spirit of cooperation between organized baseball in the United States and the Mexican Baseball League."

From an unquestionable source it was learned here that Chandler personally believes that if peace could be restored, it would be a good thing for baseball.

And the commissioner, after a shaky start as head man of baseball in the United States, has gone about having his own way.

Chandler also believes that the stars who jumped the major and minor leagues and subsequently were suspended for five years, probably will have paid their debt to baseball society by the time the current truce becomes a real peace, and should be given back their jobs, the source disclosed.

Owens Quit League

Among the great pla ers who were lured into the Mexican League were Pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin and Second Baseman Lou Klein of the St. Louis Cardinals; Catcher Mickey Owen of Brooklyn; and Nap Reyes, infielder, George Hausmann, second baseman, Danny Gardella, outfielder, and Pitcher Ace Adams, all of the New York Giants.

Some of them, including Owen, quit the Mexican League in disgust after a short whirl.

The Mexican League quit trying to lure American stars after it was reorganized last fall and Reyes became the head man.

To enter organized baseball, the Mexican League will have to make formal application to George Trautman, president of the National Association of Baseball Leagues (minor leagues).

Backseat Driver Gains Legal Status

BALTIMORE (AP)—The back-seat driver is a traditional villainess in cartoon and anecdote, with hardly anyone speaking up for wifey (or mother-in-law, as the case may be) except the lady herself.

But a recent decision by a Maryland judge seems to give the little woman a new right to the last word.

Judge Stephen R. Collins of the state Court of Appeals has this to say in defense of the back-seat driver:

"It is as much his (or, presumably, her) duty as that of the driver to take observation of dangers and to avoid them if practicable. In other words, he is required to exercise ordinary care to avoid injury."

Backseat Driver Gains Legal Status

BALTIMORE (AP)—The back-seat driver is a traditional villainess in cartoon and anecdote, with hardly anyone speaking up for wifey (or mother-in-law, as the case may be) except the lady herself.

But a recent decision by a Maryland judge seems to give the little woman a new right to the last word.

Judge Stephen R. Collins of the state Court of Appeals has this to say in defense of the back-seat driver:

"It is as much his (or, presumably, her) duty as that of the driver to take observation of dangers and to avoid them if practicable. In other words, he is required to exercise ordinary care to avoid injury."

Officers Urge Aid In Obtaining New Frostburg Armory

Guard Unit Will Be Motorized

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Col. Randolph Millholland, Maryland National Guard, a guest speaker Tuesday evening at the Elks Home, urged the Frostburg Lodge of Elks to support the movement underway to increase the membership of Company D, 115th Infantry, which received federal recognition November 14, 1947, and which now has a membership of 44 men and two commissioned officers.

Millholland, Maj. Howard Dickey, commander of the First Battalion, and Capt. Gerald E. Reeves, Lonaconing, commander of Company D, were guests of honor at a special meeting of the Elks, dedicated to the Maryland National Guard.

The speakers suggested that the Elks could lend a helping hand in making Company D a permanent part of the National Guard by cooperating with the Mayor and City Commissioners in securing a suitable site for an armory and by speaking favorably of the organization of young men of the Frostburg area, which includes all of the Georges Creek region and the section of Garrett County east of Grantsville.

They said the present aim is to secure 135 men and eight commissioned officers. Col. Millholland stated that Company D is to be a heavy weapon company, equipped with motorized weapons as soon as a suitable storage place is available. He indicated that a site for an armory should be at least 80 by 215 feet and must be supplied by the city. With a site available, the matter of securing funds from the state or federal government would depend largely on the numerical strength of the unit.

Col. Millholland said he was informed by Maj. Gen. Milton Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, that if Frostburg can maintain Company D at a strength of 115 men, he would recommend that an armory be erected in Frostburg by either the state or federal government.

Following the talks of the three officers, a buffet supper was served. Before attending the Elks meeting, Col. Millholland, Maj. Dickey and Capt. Reeves attended the regular weekly drill practice of Company D in St. Michael's Hall.

The members decided to make a pair of bedroom slippers and mittens at the February meeting. The projects for the coming year are clothing, food and nutrition, home management, and home furnishing. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Helen Logue, Bowery Street.

Article Is Noted

Mrs. Charles Brooks Smith, in an article appearing in the Wheeling Intelligencer with a Washington dateline, states:

"A former West Virginian, now a resident of Washington, is demonstrating his skill with a sail plane at the Miami air maneuvers. He is Kim Scribner, formerly of Piedmont, W. Va., who moved to Washington several years ago. He pilots Pan American World Airways planes from Miami to South American cities and his appearance at the air maneuvers is somewhat in the nature of a busman's holiday.

"Among Scribner's stunts are snap rolls, slow rolls, inverted flight and loops. He appeared each day with a new and difficult maneuver —the most difficult of all an inverted flight while the sail plane was still attached to the tow plane."

Scribner has been flying since he was 15 and has logged more than 8,000 hours in the air. During the war he flew both for the Air Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service. He was an engineering student at the University of Maryland.

He is a son of B. W. Scribner, Washington, D. C., and the late Mrs. Nellie (Mansfield) Scribner. His father, a chemist, is chief of the Paper Department of the Bureau of Standards.

Officers Urge Aid In Obtaining New Frostburg Armory

Guard Unit Will Be Motorized

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Col. Randolph Millholland, Maryland National Guard, a guest speaker Tuesday evening at the Elks Home, urged the Frostburg Lodge of Elks to support the movement underway to increase the membership of Company D, 115th Infantry, which received federal recognition November 14, 1947, and which now has a membership of 44 men and two commissioned officers.

Millholland, Maj. Howard Dickey, commander of the First Battalion, and Capt. Gerald E. Reeves, Lonaconing, commander of Company D, were guests of honor at a special meeting of the Elks, dedicated to the Maryland National Guard.

The speakers suggested that the Elks could lend a helping hand in making Company D a permanent part of the National Guard by cooperating with the Mayor and City Commissioners in securing a suitable site for an armory and by speaking favorably of the organization of young men of the Frostburg area, which includes all of the Georges Creek region and the section of Garrett County east of Grantsville.

They said the present aim is to secure 135 men and eight commissioned officers. Col. Millholland stated that Company D is to be a heavy weapon company, equipped with motorized weapons as soon as a suitable storage place is available. He indicated that a site for an armory should be at least 80 by 215 feet and must be supplied by the city. With a site available, the matter of securing funds from the state or federal government would depend largely on the numerical strength of the unit.

Col. Millholland said he was informed by Maj. Gen. Milton Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, that if Frostburg can maintain Company D at a strength of 115 men, he would recommend that an armory be erected in Frostburg by either the state or federal government.

Following the talks of the three officers, a buffet supper was served. Before attending the Elks meeting, Col. Millholland, Maj. Dickey and Capt. Reeves attended the regular weekly drill practice of Company D in St. Michael's Hall.

Article Is Noted

Mrs. Charles Brooks Smith, in an article appearing in the Wheeling Intelligencer with a Washington dateline, states:

"A former West Virginian, now a resident of Washington, is demonstrating his skill with a sail plane at the Miami air maneuvers. He is Kim Scribner, formerly of Piedmont, W. Va., who moved to Washington several years ago. He pilots Pan American World Airways planes from Miami to South American cities and his appearance at the air maneuvers is somewhat in the nature of a busman's holiday.

"Among Scribner's stunts are snap rolls, slow rolls, inverted flight and loops. He appeared each day with a new and difficult maneuver —the most difficult of all an inverted flight while the sail plane was still attached to the tow plane."

Scribner has been flying since he was 15 and has logged more than 8,000 hours in the air. During the war he flew both for the Air Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service. He was an engineering student at the University of Maryland.

He is a son of B. W. Scribner, Washington, D. C., and the late Mrs. Nellie (Mansfield) Scribner. His father, a chemist, is chief of the Paper Department of the Bureau of Standards.

"A BERRY AT NIGHT MAKES THE MORNING BRIGHT"

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21. (INS)—Joan Fontaine stepped right out of "Mayerling" and right into "You Gotta Stay Happy," a romantic comedy based on the Robert Carson magazine story.

Louella Parsons

When I saw her at the Joan Bennett party, William Dozier told me she will start in May on a rampart production, and he gave me the name of the picture, "You Gotta Stay Happy" — and I hope Joan does.

She will have her James Stewart. This will be the first time Joan and Jimmy have played together, although they are very old friends. Karl Tunberg, who is adapting the screen play, will produce, and a director will be chosen this week.

• — • — •

Sam Wood, who directed Greer Garson in "Goodbye Mr. Chips," is back on the MGM lot on a long term contract. He's one of the first of the big independent directors to tie himself up with a major studio. Sam will again direct Greer, and his first assignment will be one of the three pictures set up for her—"The Saintly Miss Peters," "Forsythe Saga" or the sequel to "Mrs. Miniver."

Greer will do all three of these after she finishes "Julia Misbehaves."

Frances Gifford, who had such a serious automobile accident New Year's eve that her friends feared she might never act again, plays the queen of France in "The Three Musketeers."

It's true, she does have to have plastic surgery, but not the kind that everyone expected, because her face is healing very rapidly. After a few months you won't even see where the stitches are.

Frances' face will be as pretty as ever.

Chatter in Hollywood: One of our well known actors called Betty Hutton to say he was voting for her in "Perils Of Pauline" for the Academy award. He added, "you may be a dark horse. There's a great flurry started."

Betty was so excited that she called the studio. "But," she said, "if I should, by any hook or crook, be elected, I couldn't be there. That's the date my baby is due—March 20."

I still say there should be two awards, one for drama and one for comedy. At the moment, Rosalind Russell is going to be pretty hard to beat in "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Eve Arden, who is such an outdoor enthusiast that she goes swimming even when it's chilly, told me her dachshund had paralyzed back legs. She took him into the pool with her every day, and he is getting better.

Eve told me that she wants to go to New York to do a play, but I know the jobs are so plentiful for her that she doesn't get a chance. What I started to say is that Eve plays the secretary in "On Touch Of Venus," and that is plenty good for Producer Lester Cowan.

Indignantly, Shirley Temple denies she is getting out Shirley Temple dolls to coincide with the birth of her baby. She says there will be nothing commercial on this event.

There is now talk that if MGM makes the Jolson sequel, it will be with Al, and show the later half of his life. That would please the fans if they can't have Larry Parks.

Cary Grant has to get out of his house by the first and says if he can't find a place to live he will visit Palm Springs or New York.

Seldom have there been as many stars at any opening as there were at the "Cass Timberlane" premiere. Merle Oberon, wearing her famous emeralds; Annabella, in pale pink satin; Lana Turner, the center of all eyes, in black.

There was a short of the John Tracy clinic, showing the fine work the teachers do with the handicapped children. Mrs. Spencer Tracy, who has dedicated her life to the cause of deaf children, won everyone's heart when she spoke.

The Humphrey Bogarts plan to go to Europe after they finish "Key Largo," to join Mrs. Natalie Bacall, baby's mother, who leaves the end of the month.

Leningrad Festival Of Russian Music

LENINGRAD (AP)—A new festival of music, commemorating the 30th anniversary of the Soviet State, is attracting huge crowds. Ten symphony concerts gave places of honor to Dmitri Shostakovich's first, fifth, seventh and eighth symphonies; Sergei Prokofiev's fifth and sixth symphonies and Alexander Nevasky cantata.

Of much interest is Aram Khachturyan's "Poem About Stalin," a piano and violin concerto and a suite from his ballet "Gayane." Much attention is also being paid to Nikolai Myaskovsky's 22nd symphony and Rheingold Gliere's concerto for harp and orchestra.

Britain Is Warned Of Highway Breakdown

LONDON (AP)—Britain will face a breakdown in highway transportation if proposed reductions in maintenance forces are carried out, the British Road Federation said in a letter to government ministers.

Monetary grants for road maintenance, as well as the labor force, have been reduced because of the economic crisis.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21. (INS)—Joan Fontaine stepped right out of "Mayerling" and right into "You Gotta Stay Happy," a romantic comedy based on the Robert Carson magazine story.

Louella Parsons

When I saw her at the Joan Bennett party, William Dozier told me she will start in May on a rampart production, and he gave me the name of the picture, "You Gotta Stay Happy" — and I hope Joan does.

She will have her James Stewart. This will be the first time Joan and Jimmy have played together, although they are very old friends. Karl Tunberg, who is adapting the screen play, will produce, and a director will be chosen this week.

• — • — •

Sam Wood, who directed Greer Garson in "Goodbye Mr. Chips," is back on the MGM lot on a long term contract. He's one of the first of the big independent directors to tie himself up with a major studio. Sam will again direct Greer, and his first assignment will be one of the three pictures set up for her—"The Saintly Miss Peters," "Forsythe Saga" or the sequel to "Mrs. Miniver."

Greer will do all three of these after she finishes "Julia Misbehaves."

Frances Gifford, who had such a serious automobile accident New Year's eve that her friends feared she might never act again, plays the queen of France in "The Three Musketeers."

It's true, she does have to have plastic surgery, but not the kind that everyone expected, because her face is healing very rapidly. After a few months you won't even see where the stitches are.

Frances' face will be as pretty as ever.

• — • — •

Chatter in Hollywood: One of our well known actors called Betty Hutton to say he was voting for her in "Perils Of Pauline" for the Academy award. He added, "you may be a dark horse. There's a great flurry started."

Betty was so excited that she called the studio. "But," she said, "if I should, by any hook or crook, be elected, I couldn't be there. That's the date my baby is due—March 20."

I still say there should be two awards, one for drama and one for comedy. At the moment, Rosalind Russell is going to be pretty hard to beat in "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Eve Arden, who is such an outdoor enthusiast that she goes swimming even when it's chilly, told me her dachshund had paralyzed back legs. She took him into the pool with her every day, and he is getting better.

Eve told me that she wants to go to New York to do a play, but I know the jobs are so plentiful for her that she doesn't get a chance. What I started to say is that Eve plays the secretary in "On Touch Of Venus," and that is plenty good for Producer Lester Cowan.

• — • — •

Richard Greene, the English actor who served during the war in his native country, has left 20th Century-Fox. Richard asked for his release and obtained it.

Indignantly, Shirley Temple denies she is getting out Shirley Temple dolls to coincide with the birth of her baby. She says there will be nothing commercial on this event.

There is now talk that if MGM makes the Jolson sequel, it will be with Al, and show the later half of his life. That would please the fans if they can't have Larry Parks.

Cary Grant has to get out of his house by the first and says if he can't find a place to live he will visit Palm Springs or New York.

Seldom have there been as many stars at any opening as there were at the "Cass Timberlane" premiere. Merle Oberon, wearing her famous emeralds; Annabella, in pale pink satin; Lana Turner, the center of all eyes, in black.

There was a short of the John Tracy clinic, showing the fine work the teachers do with the handicapped children. Mrs. Spencer Tracy, who has dedicated her life to the cause of deaf children, won everyone's heart when she spoke.

The Humphrey Bogarts plan to go to Europe after they finish "Key Largo," to join Mrs. Natalie Bacall, baby's mother, who leaves the end of the month.

Leningrad Festival Of Russian Music

LENINGRAD (AP)—A new festival of music, commemorating the 30th anniversary of the Soviet State, is attracting huge crowds. Ten symphony concerts gave places of honor to Dmitri Shostakovich's first, fifth, seventh and eighth symphonies; Sergei Prokofiev's fifth and sixth symphonies and Alexander Nevasky cantata.

Of much interest is Aram Khachturyan's "Poem About Stalin," a piano and violin concerto and a suite from his ballet "Gayane." Much attention is also being paid to Nikolai Myaskovsky's 22nd symphony and Rheingold Gliere's concerto for harp and orchestra.

Britain Is Warned Of Highway Breakdown

LONDON (AP)—Britain will face a breakdown in highway transportation if proposed reductions in maintenance forces are carried out, the British Road Federation said in a letter to government ministers.

Monetary grants for road maintenance, as well as the labor force, have been reduced because of the economic crisis.

The federation said the cuts will prove "disastrous to the social and economic structure of the country."

Morton Downey To Do Some Hosting On MBS Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—It's Morton Downey, the now-late-night singer on the MBS list with a 11:15 show, who will do some of the guest co-operating in the Family Theater of MBS at 10 Monday night. He will act as the host of June Haver and Dennis O'Keefe provide some of the necessary acting for depicting a script about "Broadway Lullaby," or the story, as one might expect, of a chorus girl.

In view of the fact that Henry Morgan is to occupy the time from next week on under the guidance of a new buying sponsor, ABC figured it would be the right thing to let Henry do a little of armchair detecting for Ellery Queen at 7:30. Ellery will go on the air later in a general turnover of the Thursday night NBC guest at 10:30, but he is to have the real Fuller brush man. That's his name, too, Howard Fuller, and specifically he is the president of the brush company that bears his name. . . . Also guesting on NBC at 9 is to be Lucille Ball. The program she is to visit is the Music Hall as dispensing the talent of Al Jolson.

The CBS School of the Air Gateways of Music at 5 has rehearsed Nena Rosario, 12-year-old pianist for the weekly concert division of this series.

Vincent Lopez is continuing his luncheon series on NBC at 1, which means he again is on the network via which he was first heard in the mid-20's as a network entertainer.

By JOHN CROSBY

Our Ingenious Ad Men

John Crosby

The advertising fraternity, a high-strung group whose brains work three ways like cold tablets, has been exhibiting unusual mental activity recently. Even at normal speed an ad man's mind operates around the genius level and when he is deeply stirred, his mind shoots out sparks like the Aurora borealis—long shimmering streamers of thought in four colors. It's an impressive and terrifying sight to see an ad man thinking hard. Some authorities are of thebelief that unusual mental activity in ad men is caused by sun spots; others, including Professor J. Halder Phelps of Oconomowoc University, think it's the other way around. The ad men, he says, cause sun spots by thinking too hard. In fact, the Professor thinks we could pretty well harness the sun by controlling the intellectual efforts of the advertising industry. But, of course, no one has ever succeeded in harnessing an ad man's mind.

At any rate, whether caused by sun spots or martinis, the intellectual ferment among ad men lately has been considerable and I have here a little file of the brighter sparks generated by this high-powered activity. Here's one from Austin, Texas. When Lux Theater presented "Nobody Lives Forever," a representative of a funeral parlor in Austin hurried over to the local station to purchase spot announcements following and preceding the show.

An ad agency is preparing a radio show for a company that makes hearing aids. This presented what might be described as the ultimate problem in radio advertising. In the last twenty-seven years, the ad men have just about licked the problem of how to make a man, who can hear, listen to something he doesn't want to hear. But to make a man listen to something he can't hear, well, sir, that is a dilemma your real ad man likes to grapple with. Here's how they solved it. The commercials will be aimed at friends of the deaf who will be urged to send in the names of the afflicted. Information about the hearing aid will be mailed to these people. If you think you can escape radio commercials simply because you can't hear, you're crazy.

Here is a novel idea plucked from "Radio Daily." In South Bend, Indiana, there's a program called "Wash On The Air" which features —and I quote—"a dramatization of the Bendix automatic washing machine." So far as I know this is the first time the life of a bit of machinery has been dramatized. We have heard plenty about the lives of Lassie and Silver and even a talking Siamese cat, but, up to now, we know nothing of the home life of a Bendix.

It'll be a difficult thing to dramatize. Drama, whether it's Hamlet or Jack Benny, revolves around the flaws in a man's character or personality. But a Bendix is not supposed to have any flaws in either of those departments. The gleaming perfection of a Bendix might grip an audience for the first week or so but after that the housewives are going to become restive.

"Doesn't anything ever happen to this machine," they are going to mutter and turn over to "Stella Dallas" to whom virtually everything happens.

If this Bendix wants to say in radio any length of time, it'll have to develop a few imperfections. Small, lovable imperfections like Jack Benny's tight-fistedness or Dennis Day's gullibility. A bolt that persistently loosens itself (but is easily tightened, of course). Possibly a faint but perceptible cough in the motor.

A really interesting Bendix character would be one that had a mental block against purple shirts and ground them to ribbons. But I don't suppose the Bendix people would like that.

Morton Downey To Do Some Hosting On MBS Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—It's Morton Downey, the now-late-night singer on the MBS list with a 11:15 show, who will do some of the guest co-operating in the Family Theater of MBS at 10 Monday night. He will act as the host of June Haver and Dennis O'Keefe provide some of the necessary acting for depicting a script about "Broadway Lullaby," or the story, as one might expect, of a chorus girl.

In view of the fact that Henry Morgan is to occupy the time from next week on under the guidance of a new buying sponsor, ABC figured it would be the right thing to let Henry do a little of armchair detecting for Ellery Queen at 7:30. Ellery will go on the air later in a general turnover of the Thursday night NBC guest at 10:30, but he is to have the real Fuller brush man. That's his name, too, Howard Fuller, and specifically he is the president of the brush company that bears his name. . . . Also guesting on NBC at 9 is to be Lucille Ball. The program she is to visit is the Music Hall as dispensing the talent of Al Jolson.

The CBS School of the Air Gateways of Music at 5 has rehearsed Nena Rosario, 12-year-old pianist for the weekly concert division of this series.

Vincent Lopez is continuing his luncheon series on NBC at 1, which means he again is on the network via which he was first heard in the mid-20's as a network entertainer.

SALLY'S SALLIES

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Our Ingenious Ad Men

The advertising fraternity, a high-strung group whose brains work three ways like cold tablets, has been exhibiting unusual mental activity recently. Even at normal speed an ad man's mind operates around the genius level and when he is deeply stirred, his mind shoots out sparks like the Aurora borealis—long shimmering streamers of thought in four colors. It's an impressive and terrifying sight to see an ad man thinking hard. Some authorities are of the belief that unusual mental activity in ad men is caused by sun spots; others, including Professor J. Halder Phelps of Oconomowoc University, think it's the other way around. The ad men, he says, cause sun spots by thinking too hard. In fact, the Professor thinks we could pretty well harness the sun by controlling the intellectual efforts of the advertising industry. But, of course, no one has ever succeeded in harnessing an ad man's mind.

John Crosby

At any rate, whether caused by sun spots or martinis, the intellectual ferment among ad men lately has been considerable and I have here a little file of the brighter sparks generated by this high-powered activity. Here's one from Austin, Texas. When Lux Theater presented "Nobody Lives Forever," a representative of a funeral parlor in Austin hurried over to the local station to purchase spot announcements following and preceding the show.

An ad agency is preparing a radio show for a company that makes hearing aids. This presented what might be described as the ultimate problem in radio advertising. In the last twenty-seven years, the ad men have just about licked the problem of how to make a man, who can hear, listen to something he doesn't want to hear. But to make a man listen to something he can't hear, well, sir, that is a dilemma your real ad man likes to grapple with. Here's how they solved it. The commercials will be aimed at friends of the deaf who will be urged to send in the names of the afflicted. Information about the hearing aid will be mailed to these people. If you think you can escape radio commercials simply because you can't hear, you're crazy.

Here is a novel idea plucked from "Radio Daily." In South Bend, Indiana, there's a program called "Wash On The Air" which features —and I quote—"a dramatization of the Bendix automatic washing machine." So far as I know this is the first time the life of a bit of machinery has been dramatized. We have heard plenty about the lives of Lassie and Silver and even a talking Siamese cat, but, up to now, we know nothing of the home life of a Bendix.

It'll be a difficult thing to dramatize. Drama, whether it's Hamlet or Jack Benny, revolves around the flaws in a man's character or personality. But a Bendix is not supposed to have any flaws in either of those departments. The gleaming perfection of a Bendix might grip an audience for the first week or so but after that the housewives are going to become restive.

"Doesn't anything ever happen to this machine," they are going to mutter and turn over to "Stella Dallas" to whom virtually everything happens.

If this Bendix wants to say in radio any length of time, it'll have to develop a few imperfections. Small, lovable imperfections like Jack Benny's tight-fistedness or Dennis Day's gullibility. A bolt that persistently loosens itself (but is easily tightened, of course). Possibly a faint but perceptible cough in the motor.

A really interesting Bendix character would be one that had a mental block against purple shirts and ground them to ribbons. But I don't suppose the Bendix people would like that.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Howard D. Shepherd, Seaman 2nd class, who was killed in action, January 22, 1944 at Anzio Beachhead.

God gave us a wonderful son,
He made his smile of sunshine,
He mounted his heart of gold.
Our home is so lonely without him,
We miss him each hour of the day,
May God help us to understand
Why he was called away.

Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to thank our neighbors and friends who gave their time and aid during the recent illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Amanda Layton Fazenbaker. We also wish to thank Rev. J. E. Stacks, those who sent floral offerings, donated the use of their cars or acted as pallbearers.
DELBERT FAZENBAKER, BROTHERS & SISTERS.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and Father, Paul W. FIVE ROO

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Howard D. Shepherd, Seaman 2nd class, who was killed in action, January 22, 1944 at Anzio Beachhead.

God gave us a wonderful son,
A son who never grew old.
He made his smile of sunshine,
He mounted his heart of gold,
Our home is so lonely without him,
We miss him each hour of the day,
May God help us to understand
Why he was called away.

Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to thank our neighbors and friends who gave their time and aid during the recent illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Amanda Layton Fazenbaker. We also wish to thank Rev. J. E. Stacks, those who sent floral offerings, donated the use of their cars or acted as pallbearers.

DELBERT FAZENBAKER, BROTHERS & SISTERS.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and Father, Paul W. England. We are grateful for the many floral tributes and the use of cars for the funeral.

WIFE and SONS.

Market Hits Skids In Fast Finish; Leaders Lose Fractions To 2 Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The stock market hit the skids in a fast finish today that left many leaders fractions to two points lower.

A last-hour flood of selling that dropped the ticker tape a minute behind floor transactions for a brief period erased earlier gains registered by many rails, air transports and favored oils and farm implements.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was depressed .6 of a point to 62.9, its lowest level since last December 6. Of 1,054 issues appearing in the broadest market this year, 661 declined and 172 advanced.

It was the liveliest session since December 31 with a total of 1,190,000 shares changing hands, 550,000 of them in the final 60 minutes. This compared with transfers of only 710,000 Tuesday.

United States Steel at 73⅛ was off 1¾; Phillips Petroleum was down 2⅝ at 56, Douglas Aircraft 2¼ at 53½, International Paper 1⅞ at 47¾, Youngstown Sheet 1⅞ at 71, Pacific Western Oil 2¼ at 48¼, Gulf Oil one at 62½, Follansbee Steel 1⅛ at 27⅝, and Firestone Tire one at 46. New 1947-48 lows were touched by Twentieth Century-Fox which closed at 19½, Paramount Pictures 19½, Loew's 16⅜, North American 15⅝ and Eastman Kodak 40¾.

Investment nibbling at the higher priced issued was a stabilizing influence. United States governments, however, were a little lower in outside markets.

Great Northern bonds lost ground along with Florida East Coast 5s, New York Central refunding 5s, New Haven income 4½s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and Southern Pacific 4½s.

Missouri Pacific obligations held most of the gains. Chicago Great Western income 4½s ended up three points at 61½. Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s were up 1¼ at 62 and International Great Northern issues were firm.

LaVale Youth Passes Life Scout Tests

John Duiguid, LaVale, an Allegany High School student, was approved for the second highest scouting award, Life Scout, by a board of review of Cumberland District, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, Tuesday night.

The board, headed by Kenneth E. Jackson, council executive, included Edgar L. Bucy, Harold E. Messman and George Mahaney. Duiguid, who moved recently from Baltimore, is a member of Troop 10, sponsored by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

Five other Scouts also passed tests. Jack May and Daniel Pitts, Troop 1, St. Luke's Church, passed second class badge tests; Robert Alvero and Donald Kirby, Troop 15, Fort Hill High School, second class, and Joe Snyder, Troop 12, Kingsley Methodist Church, first class.

Rapplier Club Will Expand Activities

The Rapplier Club, composed of members of the LaSalle graduating class of 1933, is going to broaden its activities instead of meeting only once a year on New Years' night.

This year, the 15th anniversary year, regular meetings will be held quarterly and committee meetings whenever deemed necessary by officers, according to a statement made by Howard T. Carolan, president.

At the meeting a resolution was passed urging full support of the new "Men of LaSalle" club organized last night.

George Garlitz, vice president, was named chairman of a committee to arrange future meetings of the club. Along with Carolan and Garlitz, Marcus Naughton, secretary-treasurer, completes the list of officers. All were elected at the club's annual dinner meeting January 1.

Raymond B. O'Rourke has been appointed director of public relations.

Flintstone Man Held On Forgery Charge

Charged with forgery of six checks, Charles Evans Hinkle, 33, Flintstone, waived a preliminary hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and was ordered held under $200 for grand jury action.

Hinkle, formerly of York Springs, Pa., was accused of using the name of L. L. Keefer in cashing a $15 check at the service station operated by James W. Davis, Flintstone, December 21.

Trooper William F. Baker arrested the man Saturday night at Buck's Restaurant, Baltimore Pike, after authorities received numerous complaints about the activities of a forger. The trail of worthless checks stretched from Cumberland, Flintstone and Hancock to Carroll County.

Smoke Plans Will Be Submitted To Council

George M. Hitchcock, Cumberland's new smoke abatement engineer, said yesterday he will submit a plan of action to the Mayor and Council on February 2, adding he hopes to have the first phases of the smoke enforcement program in operation by the middle of next month.

"I am gathering all the data possible about smoke problems in general, as well as in Cumberland, and have already made arrangements to have some photographs taken here," Hitchcock said.

"I hope people don't get the idea that miracles are going to be accomplished overnight or that there is anything to fear," he said. "It will take a considerable time to work out a suitable program and I am sure there will be full co-operation."

Churches' Assistance Is Asked By Police

The co-operation of churches with law enforcement bodies in curbing juvenile delinquency was requested by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya at a meeting of the Cumberland Ministerial Association Tuesday.

Rev. Carl H. Clapp, president of the association, announced that plans have been completed and approved by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany County schools, to check attendance of pupils at churches and Sunday schools.

A plan to allot districts in the city to different churches to prevent overlapping of congregations was turned down by the association.

Rev. Mr. Clapp reported that plans are being made for a leadership training school for teachers of all churches of the city April 12 to 16 at Centre Street Methodist Church.

Archbishop's Installation Attended By Area Priests

Msgr. Anthony Scarpati, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Westernport, attended the service with Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Cumberland; Rev. L. P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Cumberland, and Rev. Francis S. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg.

Guests will include Col. Carlton Coulter, senior instructor for the Organized Reserve Corps of Maryland, and Col. George Henderson, judge of the Circuit Court.

The bodies of two Cumberland men and three tri-state area soldiers killed in the European theater during World War II are among the third shipment of 1,753 veterans' bodies aboard the United States Army Transport Eric B. Gibson which docked at New York yesterday afternoon.

Pfc. Mack M. Mire, Charles Mire, 316 Park Street, this city.

Pfc. Claude E. Weimer, Marion E. Weimer, 323 Emily Street, this city.

Pvt. Earl L. Clites, Clarence Clites, RFD 1, Hyndman, Pa.

Pfc. Edward A. Daniels, Mrs. Linnie L. Daniels, Kerens, Randolph Countq, W. Va.

The five bodies will be sent to the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot for final disposition. The bodies were brought to this country from two military cemeteries at St. Laurent-sur-Mer and LaCambe, France, near historic Omaha Beach. Most of the group were casualties in the establishment of the Normandy Beachhead.

Dairies Receive Grade A Ratings

Eight milk pasteurization plants and two raw milk distributors in Cumberland have received Grade A ratings from the City Health Department for the period between July 1 and December 31, 1947, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

The eight plants are Barton's Dairy, Bruce House Dairy, Dairy-Dale Dairy, Farmers Dairy, Fossetts' Dairy, Liberty Dairy, Mason's Dairy and Queen City Dairy.

Retail raw milk dealers receiving Grade A ratings were Dolly's Dairy and Twigg's Dairy.

Cox Is Fined $5

John M. Cox, 518 Maryland Avenue, was fined $5 yesterday in Police Court on a disorderly conduct charge preferred as the result of a three-man fracas in front of the Blue Ridge Bus Terminal Frederick Street, Tuesday night.

A similar charge against James W. Cozart, Wiley Ford, was dismissed, and a not guilty verdict returned for William Mullenas, Maryland Avenue, also arrested as a result of the fracas.

Market Hits Skids In Fast Finish; Leaders Lose Fractions To 2 Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The stock market hit the skids in a fast finish today that left many leaders fractions to two points lower.

A last-hour flood of selling that dropped the ticker tape a minute behind floor transactions for a brief period erased earlier gains registered by many rails, air transports and favored oils and farm implements.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was depressed .6 of a point to 62.9, its lowest level since last December 6. Of 1,054 issues appearing in the broadest market this year, 661 declined and 172 advanced.

It was the liveliest session since December 31 with a total of 1,190,000 shares changing hands, 550,000 of them in the final 60 minutes. This compared with transfers of only 710,000 Tuesday.

United States Steel at 73⅛ was off 1¾; Phillips Petroleum was down 2⅝ at 56, Douglas Aircraft 2¾ at 53½, International Paper 1⅞ at 47¾, Youngstown Sheet 1⅞ at 71, Pacific Western Oil 2¼ at 48¼, Gulf Oil one at 62½, Follansbee Steel 1⅛ at 27⅝, and Firestone Tire one at 46. New 1947-48 lows were touched by Twentieth Century-Fox which closed at 19½, Paramount Pictures 19½, Loew's 16⅝, North American 15⅝ and Eastman Kodak 40¾.

Bond market prices moved up over a broad range at one time today but a late sinking spell in stocks encouraged liquidation and closing prices were barely steady.

Rails were to the fore from the start of trading, apparently reflecting buying based on a batch of exceptionally good earnings reports for 1947.

Investment nibbling at the higher priced issued was a stabilizing influence. United States governments, however, were a little lower in outside markets.

Great Northern bonds lost ground along with Florida East Coast 5s, New York Central refunding 5s, New Haven income 4½s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and Southern Pacific 4½s.

Missouri Pacific obligations held most of the gains. Chicago Great Western income 4½s ended up three points at 61½. Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s were up 1¼ at 62 and International Great Northern issues were firm.

Newark Detectives Acquitted On Assault Charges

"Not Guilty" Of Abusing Prisoners They Quizzed

Magistrate Bruce Declares Suspected Robbers Came To City With Holdup Planned

Detectives Robert Donnelly and Robert Griffith of the Newark, N. J., Police Department, were acquitted here yesterday on charges of assault and battery preferred by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

In announcing the "not guilty" verdict, Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., who presided at the trial, said the three prisoners whom the Newark detectives were accused of "beating, abusing and assaulting," had "no respect for the law or the people they pry upon.'

The verdict was received with a brief burst of applause in Police Court, where the trial was transferred from Peoples Court, because of an overflow crowd.

The two detectives, last to take the stand, denied they "had laid a hand on any of the three prisoners, "except once when they pushed James Minnellia into a chair after he had failed to obey an order to sit down while they were questioning him.

Harris Makes Statement

In his opening statements State's Attorney Harris told the court that he would attempt to prove that the two Newark detectives, who came here Friday to question the prisoners, had "slapped Minnellia, pulled his hair and shoved him into a chair" and that the detectives had "punched" Joseph Cunha while questioning him about crimes committed in New Jersey.

Harris explained that the three prisoners had told him that Detective Griffith used a leather instrument over his knuckles when he punched them. The detective later showed the court the instrument, which he said is called a "slapjack," but denied using it while in this city.

The state called the three prisoners to the stand, one at a time, as it opened the testimony and each testified that the two detectives had struck them in the stomach and then on the back of the head when they would double up from the stomach punch.

Gabrial Cunha was the first of the three prisoners to take the stand and was followed by his brother, Joseph Cunha, and then Minnellia. Each of the prisoners testified that they were mistreated during the questioning and told the court they later complained to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, when he questioned them.

Chief Flynn, Commissioner of Police William V. Keegan, and Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney, were called by Harris to testify and each admitted being in the room with the two detectives when they started to question Minnellia.

Chief Flynn said he informed the detectives that "no rough stuff" would be permitted in questioning the prisoners and said he, the commissioner and the assistant chief, then left the police station and "walked down town."

All denied having seen the detectives abuse any of the prisoners during the questioning, and the three city officials described the incident with Minnellia when he was pushed into the chair by saying "the action was mild."

Lewis Saw Shadows

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis, the last state witness to take the stand, told the court he had seen shadows through a glazed glass partition that indicated the prisoners were being struck. Lewis said he watched the window while Cunha was being questioned and saw shadows of the man bending forward "suddenly" and then a hand being placed on the back of his neck in a swift movement. He admitted to the court that he could not be positive that blows were being struck.

John G. Powers, City Police Officer, first defense witness called to the stand, told the court he had observed shadows on the glass partition, but denied that he could distinguish the movement of the men behind the partition or that he had heard an outcry.

Louis D. Downey, acting desk sergeant, the night the prisoners were questioned, and Officers James W. Brown and Carl Stouffer, completed the defense case when they told the court they had returned the prisoners to Allegany County jail but did not observe any marks or wounds on them.

Detective Griffith, in his testimony, declared questioning of the prisoners had been "very friendly" through the night and referred to the incident of pushing Minnellia into a chair, by saying he "patted Minnellia's head and ruffled his hair in a friendly fashion," when he told him to "sit down."

Return To Newark

The two detectives, detained here since last Saturday morning when State's Attorney Harris informed them that the prisoners had complained of being abused, told the court they were ordered here by Lt. William Flynn, of the Newark Police

Brewing Company Construction Work To Cost $34,500

Storage Building, Addition Planned

Two building permits for construction estimated to cost $34,500 were granted to the Cumberland Brewing Company yesterday in the city engineer's office. William A. Douglas secured the permits.

One of the permits was issued for a one-story storage building to be constructed on the eastern side of Franklin Street opposite the brewery. The building will measure 82 by 84 feet, with a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and built-up roofing. Cost is estimated at $18,500.

The one-story addition will measure 53 feet 5 inches by 36 feet, with one section measuring 73 feet 5 inches by 34 feet. The walls will be of brick, with built-up roofing. Cost is estimated at $16,000.

Contractor for both projects is the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Matthew Hemmis secured a permit to enclose rear porches at 27-29 West First Street to make two rooms. The one-story addition will measure 5 by 16 feet, with frame walls covered with inselbrick. Cost is estimated at $300.

Two occupancy permits were also issued.

Albert Bruce Reuschel, 129 Maple Street, obtained a permit to use the first floor of a two-story brick building at 3 Harrison Street for a hobbycraft store. The building, a former residence, is owned by Dr. Frank M. Wilson, 654 Washington Street.

William B. Kaldor, 102 Altamont Terrace, secured a permit to use the first floor of a three-story brick building at 28 North Centre Street for a photographic studio. The building is owned by Mrs. Homer Wilson, 105 Washington Street, and has been occupied by the Central Produce Mart. Kaldor is moving his studio to the new address from 27 North Liberty Street.

Directors of the Maryland Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a two-day session here Saturday and Sunday, February 14 and 15, with the German Brewery host to the local membership and visitors. On Saturday night, the visitors will be invited to the Jaycee-Junior Women's Civic Club Valentine Dance at Cumberland Country Club.

Robb said the new members accepted include Dr. Leonard Jaffe, Arthur S. Wenborne, Paul B. Gipe, Robert Windle and George Leonard Carney, Jr.

The directors unanimously approved a resolution urging Congress to take such necessary action and pass required legislation to put the Marshall Plan into action. Robb said the Jaycees favor wholeheartedly, the basic principles of European Aid to Recovery program. Copies of the resolution are to be forwarded to the President of the United States, Secretary of State and to members of Congress.

Circuit Court Hears Criminal Appeals Cases

Reverse Decisions Of Two Magistrates

Several criminal appeal cases were disposed of before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court yesterday, with decisions of Trial Magistrates here upheld, but two reversals in cases of magistrates in Westernport and Cresaptown.

Milton L. Pettit, represented by D. Lindley Sloan and F. Brooke Whiting was acquitted on a charge of hunting without a license. He was arrested by Theodore Thoerig, game warden, on Dan's Mountain, near Rawlings, and fined $20 and 51.45 costs by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, Cresaptown.

In reversing the magistrate's decision and refunding the fine and costs, the Court ruled that the law specifically states no license is nessessary for hunting on one's own property or that of his parents, etc. Pettit, it was shown was hunting on his father-in-laws farm.

Paroled For Two Years

Harry Robert Mason was found not guilty on a charge of failing to stop after an accident, and guilty on a charge of reckless driving. Mason was fined $10 and $1.45 costs on each charge when arraigned before Magistrate John Laughlin, Westernport.

At the hearing yesterday, witnesses testified Mason had been charged with hitting a State Roads Commission sign near Barton. In his testimony, he said he had been crowded off the road by another car. The Court found him guilty, however, of reckless driving, but in-as-much as there was some evidence that he did stop and return to the scene, the magistrate was reversed on the second charge.

A 60-year-old man who, his family testified, doesn't know what he is doing after he drinks ale and beer, received a suspended sentence of 30 days for violation of parole and was put on parole for two years

Harvey W. Knotts, this city, who, in two brushes with the law, had been held for disorderly conduct and violation of parole appealed the 30-day sentence from Trial Magistrates' Court.

His wife testified that he "did alright" as long as he was not drinking. A son told the court his father "acted up" only when drinking, and said he didn't think that a jail sentence would solve the matter in asking the court for a solution.

Knotts, who did not have counsel, told the court he drank nothing but ale and beer, "never over four or five bottles," and worked

Postal Authorities Receive Report Of "Spanish Swindle" Attempt Here

Letter Addressed To Local Dentist

The first reported "Spanish swindle" letter to be turned over to local postal authorities in some time was received recently by a Cumberland dentist, according to J. E. Falconer, postal inspector here.

Falconer said the dentist, Dr. Charles S. Beamer, 121 Bedford Street, notified the FBI, who then turned the letter over to him.

Similar letters have been received in various sections of Maryland, according to R. G. Parrott, Baltimore postal inspector, who issued a warning to possible victims to be on their guard.

The letters, mailed from Mexico City, offer $125,000 simply for helping an alleged bankruptcy prisoner get his trunk out of a United States customs house.

The writer purports to be in a Mexican jail because of bankruptcy, and therefore unable to get to his trunk in a United States customs house or to its secret compartment containing $375,000 in United States currency.

If the recipient replies, he generally receives a lengthy letter in return, containing fake newspaper clippings and legal papers designed to substantiate the story and induce him to send a large sum of money to Mexico City to free the "prisoner."

In return, the swindler promises him one-third of the $375,000 "fortune" which he claims is locked in his trunk.

J. J. Jordan, national chief postal inspector, said apparently the swindlers are selecting names and addresses from "Who's Who in America" and from lists of professional groups, particularly doctors and dentists.

Falconer said he plans to notify the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and the county medical and dental societies to be on the lookout for such letters.

Victor Hebb Is 14th Candidate For City Council

Victor M. Hebb, 430 South Street, who is president of the South End Republican Club, became the 14th candidate for City Council in the forthcoming primary election in March when he secured petition papers yesterday from Acting City Clerk Arthur B. Gibson.

Hebb, a native and lifelong resident of this city, is employed as a machinist at the Baltimore and Ohio roundhouse. He is a member of the Knights of Malta, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Loyal Order of Moose and Local 212, International Association of Machinists.

Another candidate for city commissioner who secured papers yesterday was James C. McGee, 1023 Shade's Lane, an employe of the Celanese Corporation of America and a war veteran.

Claude S. Keller, 206 Park Street, became the first official council candidate when he returned petition papers to Gibson yesterday morning and took the necessary oath.

The only candidate for mayor who has taken out papers is Mayor Thomas S. Post, 512 Louisiana Avenue. Roy W. Eves, 103 Washington Street, and F. Allan Weatherholt, 512 Rose Hill Avenue, have announced they will be candidates in the mayoralty race.

In the primary two years ago there were 13 candidates for council and four for mayor.

Eight will be nominated for council and two for mayor in the primary March 2. The general election is scheduled for March 16.

Court Of Appeals Gives Ruling In Dairy Dispute

Paves Way For More Local Litigation

Control of the Queen City Dairy of Cumberland may be the subject of an Allegany County Circuit Court suit, as the result of a Court of Appeals decision yesterday in Annapolis. The court ruled in favor of John H. Stiffler, Clarence U. Llewellyn and Harvey E. England who filed suit to attempt to force C. R. Armstrong to fulfill an agreement he had made with them to sell 10 shares of the daily stock at $300 a share.

Armstrong had petitioned the Court of Appeals to disallow the suit on the ground that they were attempting to gain control of the dairy.

It was conceded that the three tried to buy the stock as part of an agreement to win a major portion of the 376 shares of the company's stock.

The high court held that nothing unfair was apparent in the case before it and if there were any injustice involved, that could be brought out in the lower court.

Considerable litigation has resulted in the fight for control of the dairy. Bills of complaint were filed separately against nine individual stockholders of the company. Demurrers were filed and Court opinions were handed down.

One case previously went to the Maryland Court of Appeals, which ruled that the company, as such, had no cause for action and dispute was between stockholders.

The next step was bringing of the suit to construe the damage clause and Judge Joseph D. Mish ruled in favor of management declaring the clause invalid.

After Llewellyn and England sued the nine stockholders, and these suits were removed to Hagerstown. John H. Stiffler, former manager of the dairy, brought suit in U. S. District Court in Pennsylvania against six stockholders who reside in that state, asking the Court to require them to sell him their shares of dairy stock under options given by them, and alleging that England and Llewellyn had acted as his agents in obtaining the options.

Stiffler later brought two more equity actions in Circuit Court here, one of which was dismissed. He asked that various information, including the company by-laws and minutes of the directors' meetings be furnished him as a stockholder.

Attorneys last night said the current ruling of the Court of Appeals is merely another round in the litigation, and further action in Circuit Court here is anticipated.

Horace P. Whitworth, Sr. and Thomas Lohr Richards have been attorneys for Stiffler, Llewellyn and England, while William A. Gunter, D. Lindley Sloan and F. Brooke Whiting have represented the several stockholders.

Rubber Workers To Seek General Wage Increase

Rising Living Costs Cited By Kelly Local

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, will notify the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in the near future that the local desires to negotiate for a general wage increase, union officials reported yesterday.

A. E. Johnson, union president, said the membership, at a meeting Sunday, authorized the negotiating committee to take the steps necessary to open wage negotiations. No figure was set by the members, he added.

The contract with the company, he said, provides that the general wage scale "shall be subject to negotiations upon a 60-day written notice from either party."

The wage boost, the union said, is to be asked to compensate for increased living costs and a reduction in take-home pay due to a return to five-day operations which are already in effect in truck tire operations.

Johnson said the request, which would pave the way for the resumption of wage talks after a two-month period, will be presented formally to the company in the next few days.

The Kelly local also authorized the entertainment committee to plan a dance. He said a nominal charge will be made for each couple to defray most of the costs of the entertainment. Free refreshments will be served at the dance.

Dairy Workers Vote To Defer Strike Action

Negotiations Will Continue One Week

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, announced early this morning that negotiations between Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, and five Cumberland area dairies will be continued for one week and that a strike threatened for this morning has been deferred during the contract talks.

The announcement was made at 1:45 a. m. after the union, at a meeting in Moose Hall, voted to continue work for the week and to delay the strike in the hope of reaching a satisfactory agreement by that time.

Mr. Holden said both parties agreed to meet next Wednesday here in an effort to settle the contract dispute.

The union had announced that workers would not report to work today unless a satisfactory contract settlement were reached at the present meeting.

Negotiations on the contract, which expired December 31, were extended after the dairies and the union agreed that any terms reached in the agreement would be retroactive to that date.

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, conferred yesterday afternoon with dairy managers and the union committee. The meeting was resumed last night about 8 p. m.

It was learned that both parties were "still trying" for a settlement at 11:15 p. m. and that a compromise settlement was then being considered under which the union would agree to make the contract effective February 1 in exchange for concessions from the company.

Members of the union met last night in the Moose home here so that the union committee might be able to keep them informed of progress being made in the conference.

One Of Local Brewing Companies Is Planning To Produce Bock Beer

Bock beer is being made now by the Cumberland Brewing Company and will probably be ready for distribution early in March, according to G. William Bibby, president and general manager.

Bibby said production will probably be about the same in quantity as last year, which marked the first time the company had made bock beer since before the war.

On the other hand, the Queen City Brewing Company does not plan to make any bock beer this season because the company believes there is insufficient demand for the beverage in this area, according to James W. Bishop, secretary-treasurer.

Bishop said the company has not produced bock beer since before the war.

Meanwhile, New York brewers have announced they will not put out any bock this spring, and Baltimore brewers are reluctant to commit themselves on the question.

Bock is a heavier, darker and sweeter brew than ordinary beer. More properly known as "bockbier," derived from the name "Einbecker bier," it took its name from the little German town of Einbeck in Hannover, famous for its beer since about the 12th century. Einbeck brewers had a spring custom of tapping their winter's brew of lager.

Newark Detectives Acquitted On Assault Charges

"Not Guilty" Of Abusing Prisoners They Quizzed

Magistrate Bruce Declares Suspected Robbers Came To City With Holdup Planned

Detectives Robert Donnelly and Robert Griffith of the Newark, N. J., Police Department, were acquitted here yesterday on charges of assault and battery preferred by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

In announcing the "not guilty" verdict, Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., who presided at the trial, said the three prisoners whom the Newark detectives were accused of "beating, abusing and assaulting," had "no respect for the law or the people they pry upon."

The verdict was received with a brief burst of applause in Police Court, where the trial was transferred from Peoples Court, because of an overflow crowd.

The two detectives, last to take the stand, denied they "had laid a hand on any of the three prisoners, "except once when they pushed James Minnellia into a chair after he had failed to obey an order to sit down while they were questioning him.

Harris Makes Statement

In his opening statements State's Attorney Harris told the court that he would attempt to prove that the two Newark detectives, who came here Friday to question the prisoners, had "slapped Minnellia, pulled his hair and shoved him into a chair" and that the detectives had "punched" Joseph Cunha while questioning him about crimes committed in New Jersey.

Harris explained that the three prisoners had told him that Detective Griffith used a leather instrument over his knuckles when he punched them. The detective later showed the court the instrument, which he said is called a "slapjack," but denied using it while in this city.

The state called the three prisoners to the stand, one at a time, as it opened the testimony and each testified that the two detectives had struck them in the stomach and then on the back of the head when they would double up from the stomach punch.

Gabrial Cunha was the first of the three prisoners to take the stand and was followed by his brother, Joseph Cunha, and then Minnellia. Each of the prisoners testified that they were mistreated during the questioning and told the court they later complained to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, when he questioned them.

Chief Flynn, Commissioner of Police William V. Keegan, and Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney, were called by Harris to testify and each admitted being in the room with the two detectives when they started to question Minnellia.

Chief Flynn said he informed the detectives that "no rough stuff" would be permitted in questioning the prisoners and said he, the commissioner and the assistant chief, then left the police station and "walked down town."

All denied having seen the detectives abuse any of the prisoners during the questioning, and the three city officials described the incident with Minnellia when he was pushed into the chair by saying "the action was mild."

Lewis Saw Shadows

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis, the last state witness to take the stand, told the court he had seen shadows through a glazed glass partition that indicated the prisoners were being struck. Lewis said he watched the window while Cunha was being questioned and saw shadows of the man bending forward "suddenly" and then a hand being placed on the back of his neck in a swift movement. He admitted to the court that he could not be positive that blows were being struck.

John G. Powers, City Police Officer, first defense witness called to the stand, told the court he had observed shadows on the glass partition, but denied that he could distinguish the movement of the men behind the partition or that he had heard an outcry.

Louis D. Downey, acting desk sergeant, the night the prisoners were questioned, and Officers James W. Brown and Carl Stouffer, completed the defense case when they told the court they had returned the prisoners to Allegany County jail but did not observe any marks or wounds on them.

Detective Griffith, in his testimony, declared questioning of the prisoners had been "very friendly" through the night and referred to the incident of pushing Minnellia into a chair, by saying he "patted Minnellia's head and ruffled his hair in a friendly fashion," when he told him to "sit down."

Return To Newark

The two detectives, detained here since last Saturday morning when State's Attorney Harris informed them that the prisoners had complained of being abused, told the court they were ordered here by Lt. William Flynn, of the Newark Police

Storage Building, Addition Planned

Two building permits for construction estimated to cost $34,500 were granted to the Cumberland Brewing Company yesterday in the city engineer's office. William A. Douglas secured the permits.

One of the permits was issued for a one-story storage building to be constructed on the eastern side of Franklin Street opposite the brewery. The building will measure 82 by 84 feet, with a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and built-up roofing. Cost is estimated at $18,500.

The other permit calls for the construction of a second story to part of the present bottling works, raising part of the brick walls, and building a fireproof connecting passage.

The one-story addition will measure 53 feet 5 inches by 36 feet, with one section measuring 73 feet 5 inches by 34 feet. The walls will be of brick, with built-up roofing. Cost is estimated at $16,000.

Circuit Court Hears Criminal Appeals Cases

Reverse Decisions Of Two Magistrates

Several criminal appeal cases were disposed of before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court yesterday, with decisions of Trial Magistrates here upheld, but two reversals in cases of magistrates in Westernport and Cresaptown.

Milton L. Pettit, represented by D. Lindley Sloan and F. Brooke Whiting was acquitted on a charge of hunting without a license. He was arrested by Theodore Thoerig, game warden, on Dan's Mountain, near Rawlings, and fined $20 and 51.45 costs by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, Cresaptown.

In reversing the magistrate's decision and refunding the fine and costs, the Court ruled that the law specifically states no license is necessary for hunting on one's own property or that of his parents, etc. Pettit, it was shown was hunting on his father-in-laws farm.

Paroled For Two Years

Harry Robert Mason was found not guilty on a charge of failing to stop after an accident, and guilty on a charge of reckless driving. Mason was fined $10 and $1.45 costs on each charge when arraigned before Magistrate John Laughlin, Westernport.

At the hearing yesterday, witnesses testified Mason had been charged with hitting a State Roads Commission sign near Barton. In his testimony, he said he had been crowded off the road by another car. The Court found him guilty, however, of reckless driving, but in-as-much as there was some evidence that he did stop and return to the scene, the magistrate was reversed on the second charge.

A 60-year-old man who, his family testified, doesn't know what he is doing after he drinks ale and beer, received a suspended sentence of 30 days for violation of parole and was put on parole for two years

Harvey W. Knotts, this city, who, in two brushes with the law, had been held for disorderly conduct and violation of parole appealed the 30-day sentence from Trial Magistrates' Court.

His wife testified that he "did alright" as long as he was not drinking. A son told the court his father "acted up" only when drinking, and said he didn't think that a jail sentence would solve the matter in asking the court for a solution.

Knotts, who did not have counsel, told the court he drank nothing but ale and beer, "never over four or five bottles," and worked

Letter Addressed To Local Dentist

The first reported "Spanish swindle" letter to be turned over to local postal authorities in some time was received recently by a Cumberland dentist, according to J. E. Falconer, postal inspector here.

Falconer said the dentist, Dr. Charles S. Beamer, 121 Bedford Street, notified the FBI, who then turned the letter over to him.

Similar letters have been received in various sections of Maryland, according to R. G. Parrott, Baltimore postal inspector, who issued a warning to possible victims to be on their guard.

The letters, mailed from Mexico City, offer $125,000 simply for helping an alleged bankruptcy prisoner get his trunk out of a United States customs house.

The writer purports to be in a Mexican jail because of bankruptcy, and therefore unable to get to his trunk in a United States customs house or to its secret compartment containing $375,000 in United States currency.

If the recipient replies, he generally receives a lengthy letter in return, containing fake newspaper clippings and legal papers designed to substantiate the story and induce him to send a large sum of money to Mexico City to free the "prisoner."

In return, the swindler promises him one-third of the $375,000 "fortune" which he claims is locked in his trunk.

J. J. Jordan, national chief postal inspector, said apparently the swindlers are selecting names and addresses from "Who's Who in America" and from lists of professional groups, particularly doctors and dentists.

Falconer said he plans to notify the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and the county medical and dental societies to be on the lookout for such letters.

Court Of Appeals Gives Ruling In Dairy Dispute

Paves Way For More Local Litigation

Control of the Queen City Dairy of Cumberland may be the subject of an Allegany County Circuit Court suit, as the result of a Court of Appeals decision yesterday in Annapolis. The court ruled in favor of John H. Stiffler, Clarence U. Llewellyn and Harvey E. England who filed suit to attempt to force C. R. Armstrong to fulfill an agreement he had made with them to sell 10 shares of the daily stock at $300 a share.

Armstrong had petitioned the Court of Appeals to disallow the suit on the ground that they were attempting to gain control of the dairy.

It was conceded that the three tried to buy the stock as part of an agreement to win a major portion of the 376 shares of the company's stock.

The high court held that nothing unfair was apparent in the case before it and if there were any injustice involved, that could be brought out in the lower court.

Considerable litigation has resulted in the fight for control of the dairy. Bills of complaint were filed separately against nine individual stockholders of the company. Demurrers were filed and Court opinions were handed down.

The next step was bringing of the suit to construe the damage clause and Judge Joseph D. Mish ruled in favor of management declaring the clause invalid.

After Llewellyn and England sued the nine stockholders, and these suits were removed to Hagerstown, John H. Stiffler, former manager of the dairy, brought suit in U. S. District Court in Pennsylvania against six stockholders who reside in that state, asking the Court to require them to sell him their shares of dairy stock under options given by them, and alleging that England and Llewellyn had acted as his agents in obtaining the options.

Stiffler later brought two more equity actions in Circuit Court here, one of which was dismissed. He asked that various information, including the company by-laws and minutes of the directors' meetings be furnished him as a stockholder.

Attorneys last night said the current ruling of the Court of Appeals is merely another round in the litigation, and further action in Circuit Court here is anticipated.

Horace P. Whitworth, Sr. and Thomas Lohr Richards have been attorneys for Stiffler, Llewellyn and England, while William A. Gunter, D. Lindley Sloan and F. Brooke Whiting have represented the several stockholders.

Dairy Workers Vote To Defer Strike Action

Negotiations Will Continue One Week

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, announced early this morning that negotiations between Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, and five Cumberland area dairies will be continued for one week and that a strike threatened for this morning has been deferred during the contract talks.

The announcement was made at 1:45 a. m. after the union, at a meeting in Moose Hall, voted to continue work for the week and to delay the strike in the hope of reaching a satisfactory agreement by that time.

Mr. Holden said both parties agreed to meet next Wednesday here in an effort to settle the contract dispute.

The union had announced that workers would not report to work today unless a satisfactory contract settlement were reached at the present meeting.

Negotiations on the contract, which expired December 31, were extended after the dairies and the union agreed that any terms reached in the agreement would be retroactive to that date.

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, conferred yesterday afternoon with dairy managers and the union committee. The meeting was resumed last night about 8 p. m.

It was learned that both parties were "still trying" for a settlement at 11:15 p. m. and that a compromise settlement was then being considered under which the union would agree to make the contract effective February 1 in exchange for concessions from the company.

Members of the union met last night in the Moose home here so that the union committee might be able to keep them informed of progress being made in the conference.

One Of Local Brewing Companies Is Planning To Produce Bock Beer

Bock beer is being made now by the Cumberland Brewing Company and will probably be ready for distribution early in March, according to G. William Bibby, president and general manager.

Bibby said production will probably be about the same in quantity as last year, which marked the first time the company had made bock beer since before the war.

On the other hand, the Queen City Brewing Company does not plan to make any bock beer this season because the company believes there is insufficient demand for the beverage in this area, according to James W. Bishop, secretary-treasurer.

Bishop said the company has not produced bock beer since before the war.

Meanwhile, New York brewers have announced they will not put out any bock this spring, and Baltimore brewers are reluctant to commit themselves on the question.

Bock is a heavier, darker and sweeter brew than ordinary beer. More properly known as "bockbier," derived from the name "Einbecker bier," it took its name from the little German town of Einbeck in Hannover, famous for its beer since about the 12th century. Einbeck brewers had a spring custom of tapping their winter's brew of lager.
